FRENCH WIN IN NEW DRIVE

HUGHES WINS FOES' CHEERS IN SOLID SOUTH

Answers Hecklers and Himself Gets a Hand at Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 4.—Charles E. Hughes tonight faced a tumultuous audience in the auditorium here. With cheers for Woodrow Wilson ringing again and again in his ears, heckled by questioners, and halted often by Democratic sympathizers, the nominee criticized the administration for its policies, argued for a protective tariff, and, in a reference to the recent railway crisis, asserted that he stood firmly for the arbitration of all industrial disputes.

"I believe there is no grievance with respect to labor," Mr. Hughes said, "that cannot be settled by a fair, candid explanation of the facts.

STANDS FOR ARBITRATION.

"We have, in the past, had to deal recently with the opposition of employers to the principle of arbitration. Sometimes they have refused to arbitrate disputes. Public opinion has been against them. I stand here firmly for the principle of arbitrating industrial disputes, and I would not surrender it to anybody in the country.

"I believe that anything that is right in this country can be settled right. What are our free institutions? We have come down the long course of history with the people fighting slowly slowly now with defeat now with victory—for a recognition of the reign of reason instead of the reign of tyranny and force.

OUTLINES HIS PRINCIPLES.

"Now, then, I stand for two things:

"First, for the principle of fair, impartial, thorough, candid arbitration; and, second, for legislation on facts according to necessities of the case. And I am opposed to being dictated to either in the executive department or in congress, by any power or earth before the fact's are known."

The audience, which had interrupted Mr. Hughes repeatedly in the earlier portion of his speech to cheer for Wilson, heard the nominee's delaration in silence and at its conclusion applauded him.

Tonight's address, the second of the day, was delivered before a crowded house. The crowd came early and remained to hear all the nominee had to say. But before he started it showed plainly that many Wilson supporters were present.

Speakers introducing Mr. Hughes were interrupted time after time by cheers for Wilson. When Mr. Hughes was presented the audience waited in silence.

LIKES MEETING'S "WARMTH.'

"I shall not forget the warmth of the welcome of this vociferous meeting," Mr. Hughes said, and the audience applauded.

Mr. Hughes outlined his views on a protective tariff.

"Now, our opponents do not believe in the doctrine of a protective tariff," he said. "I believe in protecting American industry."

"And the man who can do it is Woodrow Wilson," shouted a man from the balcony. A wave of handclapping checked the nominee.

"There would not be much disposition to clap," Mr. Hughes said, smiling, as the applause died down, "in this country if that doctrine got headway very long."

Mr. Hughes then assailed the administration for its policy toward Mexico and toward Huerta.

SILENCES LAST HECKLER.

"You would have recognized that assassin," shouted a man from the audience, "wouldn't you?"

"Now, I didn't say that—" Mr. Hughes started to reply. The rest of his answer was lost in the tumult which followed.

"What would you have done?" shouted another man, as the noise subsided.

"I would have protected American rights," the nominee shouted quickly, pointing his finger at the questioner. The audience rose to its feet and applauded loudly. It was the last of the meeting.

Earlier in the day Mr. Hughes had canceled an engagement to address a labor day celebration because political topics were barred. He also declined to review the Tennessee militia on the ground that he had no right to do so.

Mr. Hughes left late tonight for Lexington, Ky., where he will speak tomorrow.

CANCELS TWO DATES.

'Love, Honor, Keep,' May Be Wording in Future Weddings

Episcopal Church Report Recommends Change in Ritual.

ALTERS DECALOGUE

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

The time honored word obey in the wedding ceremony seems destined to be driven from its final stronghold.

In a printed report of a commission of twenty-one composed of seven bishops, seven priests, and seven laymen, suggestions for the revision of the ritual of the Protestant Episcopal church which will be submitted to the general convention of the church which meets in St. Louis Oct. 11 recommends the omission of the one word which differentiates the promise made by the bride from the promise made by the bridegroom.

If the report is accepted by the convention and later by the various dioceses of the church it will become the law of the church. Bride and bridegroom will then promise in identical language to "love, honor, and keep" each the other and neither will promise to obey.

Omit Other Words.

A minority of the committee report in favor of omitting the words "as Isaac and Rebecca lived faithfully together" and also the statement that marriage "is commended of Saint Paul to be honorable among all men," and the words that marriage was "instituted in the time of man's innocency."

The pledge made with the ring service "with all my worldly goods thee I endow" will not be altered, if the committee's report is accepted.

Alter Commandments.

Equally radical changes are proposed in the ten commandments, the burial and baptismal services, and in the arrangements of various prayers and songs.

The commandments will all be abbreviated.

The first commandment will read: Thou shalt have no other gods but me.

Second—Thou shalt not make unto thyself any graven image, nor the likeness of anything that is in the heaven above, the earth beneath, or in the water under the earth; thou shalt not bow down unto them nor worship them.

Third—Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord, thy God, in vain.

Fourth—Remember that thou shalt keep holy the Sabbath day.

Fifth—Honor thy father and thy mother.

Ninth—Thou shalt not bear false witness

Tenth—Thou shalt not covet anything that is thy neighbor's.

Burial Service Changes.

In the burial service there is the introduction of more cheerful psalms—the Twenty-seventh, Forty-sixth, and One Hundred and Twenty-first. The words "though after my skin worms destroy this body" are omitted. In the committal of the body to the grave the words which place the responsibility on God are omitted and in place of beginning, "Forasmuch as it hath pleased Almighty God in his wise providence to take out of the world the soul of the departed," these words are substituted: "Unto Almighty God we commend the soul of our deceased brother and we commit his body to the ground."

The privilege is given of using in the place of the words, "Man, that is born of a woman, hath but a short time to live and is full of misery," and succeeding phrases passages of comforting scriptural quotations beginning, "Let not your heart be troubled."

An entirely new form for the burial of a child is offered, which quotes among other scriptures, "The Lord is my shepherd," and omits all the somber language of the form for the burial of adults.

SERVICE SCHOOL ROOKIE FAINTS THREE TIMES.

Too Much Drill Causes Private Gail McDermott to Faint on the Parade Ground.

National Service School Camp of the Navy League, Lake Geneva, Wis., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—The drrrill, drrrill, drrrill was too much for Private Gail McDermott of Company B to day. She fainted under the exertion. After being removed from the ranks she fainted twice more, but toward evening she regained her strength and expressed her willingness to drill some more.

For the first time since the women have been encamped Capt. Ermina Carey led Company A out upon the parade ground at night. The women had drilled in the morning and later had taken a three and one-half mile hike, but they were put through another drill.

HUNT TARANTULA THAT BIT MAN

South Water Street Employes Are Scared by Spider In Bunch of Bananas.

Wearing heavy gloves and with their trousers fastened tightly inside their shoes, three men staged a tarantula hunt in the basement of a South Water street commission house last night. Armed with sticks and flashlights, they sought the spider of the tropics which yesterday bit a man. But for the presence of a physician near by the man might have died. Today the hunt will be continued, as the poisonous spider was not found.

The tarantula came into the commission house of Maurice Cohen at 68 West South Water street in a bunch of bananas. For days it remained in the basement while the fruit slowly ripened. Yesterday the bananas were brought up from the basement.

Fingers Close on Spider.

A few minutes later Christ Bishop reached to tear some off. Instead of feeling the stalk his fingers closed over a little bunch of hair. He felt it squirm and bite him and withdrawing his hand he saw the great, hairy spider clinging to the index finger.

Bishop's exclamation of pain attracted the attention of Edward MacDonald, Cohen's partner, who looked just in time to see the spider fall back into the basement.

"That was a tarantula; you come with me," ordered MacDonald.

When they had reached the office of Dr. Arno Meyer at 187 North Clark street, only a block and a half away, Bishop's hand had swollen to twice its normal size and was turning black. Dr. Meyer drew the blood from as far as the elbow, he said, with a vacuum machine. Then he gave Bishop a large injection of permanganate of potash.

He Was "Scared Stiff."

"When I saw that I was holding a big spider I was scared stiff," Bishop said.

"The doctor told me I would feel like dancing or walking, but that I had best keep still. I didn't feel like dancing or walking, but I did feel like moving. So I went over to the store and jumped into my auto truck and raced around the loop, up one street and down another as fast as the law would allow. I must have bounced around on the driving seat of that truck for an hour before the pain began to go down. I feel all right now."

"We'll find that spider if it takes a week," MacDonald said after the futile search.

DELAY IN OAK PARK SCHOOLS

Education Board Decides to Postpone Opening of Grades Until Sept. 18.

The Oak Park board of education last night decided to postpone opening the grammar schools until Sept 18. President George A. Chritton said that the children will be recorded today on where they have been during the summer. This registration is to be taken to learn if the children have been in any part of the country where there has been infantile paralysis.

POLICEWOMAN JIU JITS MAN INTO SUBMISSION.

Mrs. Marie Hagen Tries Japanese Method on Disorderly Person with Great Success.

Mrs. Marie Hagen, 166 Lavergne avenue, policewoman employed by the small parks commission, knows all the subtle twists and mystery finger punches of jiu jitsu.

An intoxicated man plumped himself down on a bench reserved for women in Washington square yesterday. Mrs. Hagen ordered him away. He went, but returned defiantly. When Mrs. Hagen again ordered him away he swung his fist at her.

The policewoman jabbed at the man with a pointed forefinger and he went down in a heap as neatly as if he had been struck on the point of the jaw by a pugilist. Her finger had landed on one of the mystery spots known to jiu jitsu experts.

The man staggered to his feet and sought to resume hostilities, but Mrs. Hagen caught one of his wrists and gave it a Japanese twist, which brought him to his knees. Then Mrs. Hagen led him out of the park and released him.

GIRL PRISONER IN LIBRARY.

Young Evanston Reader Goes to Sleep and Is Locked In—Police Help Her Out.

Dorothy Movitz, 14 years old, 1620 Darrow avenue, Evanston, was reading in the Evanston public library yesterday and fell asleep. When she awoke she found herself locked in. The library closes at 6 o'clock, but she was sleeping at that time and it was about 8 o'clock when she woke up. She opened the window and cried out to a passerby. The police obtained a ladder and aided her in getting out of the building.

LAWYER STABBED IN LINCOLN PARK

Leo Sebastian Found Wandering with Nine Knife Wounds.

Leo Sebastian, an attorney in the First National Bank building, was found last night near Lincoln park viciously mutilated by knife wounds so that it was with difficulty he was removed to the emergency ward of Passavant hospital.

Sebastian was found wandering about by William Burke, 16 years old, who lives at 16 West Superior street, and Charles Miller, 927 Rush street. Burke and Miller said they found Sebastian bleeding and evidently in intense agony.

"Want a Doctor."

"I want to go to a doctor," Sebastian said to them.

"We tried to find a doctor," Miller said, "but we couldn't. All the time Sebastian seemed to be growing weaker Then we took him to Passavant hospital."

Lieut. Willard Malone of the Chicago avenue police station, who happened to visit the Passavant hospital, came upon Sebastian and tried to question him.

Sebastian refused to talk.

"They got the wrong fellow," was all he would reply.

Stabbed Nine Times.

Surgeons in the hospital found that Sebastian had been stabbed nine times. All the wounds were in the hips.

Sebastian gave his address as 3500 Greenview avenue. He refused to say where he was when stabbed or if he had been in the company of a woman in Lincoln park.

NEW FOE OF 8 HOUR LAW.

Unorganized Labor Plans to Aid Railroads in Fight on the Unions' Measure.

Unorganized employés of the railroads, including the clerical and similar forces, are going to work in conjunction with the roads to fight the eight hour law which was signed by President Wilson Sunday. Robert T. Frazer, an employé of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, who lives in Chattanooga, is in Chicago obtaining signatures to a big petition that asks for the inclusion of all employés of the railroads in the eight hour law Frazier contends the Adamson bill only affects 400,000 men and ignores 1,500,000 other railroad employés.

AUTO BANDITS IN WILMETTE.

Force H. Wilson of Suburb to Abandon Motor on Sheridan Road.

Five automobile bandits riding in a small automobile stopped H. Wilson of 727 Greenwood avenue, Wilmette, at Sheridan road and Lake avenue, Wilmette, early this morning, and after forcing him to abandon his big touring car, two of them entered it and drove south.

EUROPEAN WAR SUMMARY

French win on 17 mile front in Somme; take eight miles of German trenches and 5,000 prisoners; peril Combles and Peronne.

Italians in Albania and Roumanians in Transylvania report progress. Europe watches Balkan campaign as Greece wavers on verge of war.

Rome estimates Austrian losses on Italian front at 450,000 since war began. Teutons repelled in new attacks.

Russians break Teuton line and cross river fifty miles from Lemberg, capital of Galicia; Slavs storm series of heights in Carpathians.

LITTLE BATTLE OF GORITZ FOUGHT IN EAST CHICAGO.

Italians Cross Isonzo-Calumet and Struggle with Austrians Until Police Come.

Italian and Austrian laborers in the steel mills of East Chicago staged the battle of Goritz in the streets of the Indiana town last night.

The race riot was the outgrowth of bitterness caused by the war between Austria and Italy. This national antipathy in the last month has resulted in many gang clashes and individual combats.

In last night's fighting John Sanpelper, One Hundred and Forty-eighth and Alexander streets, was fatally wounded by a bullet. He is said to be dying in the East Chicago hospital. Seven others are said to have been seriously wounded and twelve injured less severely.

The Italians, it is said, marched across the Calumet to avenge recent insults at the hands of the Austrians. The hostile forces met in front of D. Kabich's saloon, One Hundred and Forty-eighth and Private streets. Early in the battle Sanpelper fell. James Ricardo who is under arrest, is said to have shot him.

VERNON CASTLE KILLED IN EUROPE, LETTER SAYS.

New York Actress Gets Word Dance Devotee Met Death Flying Over German Lines.

New York, Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Vernon Castle, who went abroad several months ago to join the allies in France, has been killed, according to reports received here today.

The reports came in a letter received by Miss Mildred Francis, a former actress, from Lieut. Lewis Sloden, in France.

According to this letter, Castle was killed two weeks ago while flying over the German lines. Both Castle and Sloden were members of the Royal Flying corps.

YOUTH STABS GIRL'S ESCORT

Story of Miss Hazel Haven and John Persenski Studied by Police.

The police are investigating a story told by John Persenski, 2834 Dawson avenue, and Miss Hazel Haven, 127 Sheridan street, that they were walking north on Kildare avenue, and when they reached Belden avenue a young man sprang out from behind a tree and attacked Persenski with a knife, cutting him on the chest. When questioned at the station they refused to give details of the affair.

100,000 FLEEING IN TRANSYLVANIA

Pell Mell Exodus Leaves Fertile District to Invading Roumanians.

BY KARL H. VON WIEGAND.

[Copyright: 1916: By Press Publishing Company (New York World).]

BUDAPEST, Sept. 3, via Berlin and London, Sept. 4.—Moving westward from the Siebenburgen country [Transylvania] are thousands of refugees, fleeing before the Roumanian invaders. From Orsova at the Iron Gate of the Danube, more than 186 miles northward, scores and scores of trains and columns of refugees are crawling over the wide and wonderfully fertile plains of Hungary, which resemble so much the prairie lands of Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, or Kansas.

Rattling, creaking, and groaning, the snakelike columns wend their way over the beautiful roads, enwrapped in dust that covers them like a cloud

Poor, Rich, Side by Side.

Every kind and description of vehicle has been pressed into use, from rickety little farm wagons drawn by oxen to the finest carriages with prancing blooded horses. Banker and peasant are moving side by side.

The vivid colors of the Hungarian peasant costumes contrast glaringly with the black of those in mourning. The milch cows, bawling calves, and crying children make a medley of noise as varied and great as that of color.

Babies are seeing the first light of the troublesome world by the roadside; others are born under canvas hastily thrown over the wagons. The aged and sick are passing out of the world in these columns, and even corpses are being brought along for burial far from the invader.

Misery of Poland Again.

A hundred thousand people, suddenly torn up root and branch from their homes and fleeing, made a picture few can imagine. I have seen it before when the Russians invaded East Prussia, and again later in Poland. It is the same picture of misery, wretchedness, and suffering.

About 20,000 refugees have reached Budapest by train.

Budapest is responding with the lavishness and generosity for which Budapest people are known to the needs of the refugees from the eastern borders. Many private homes have been thrown open, and every effort is being made to house, feed, and furnish work to the refugees. The Budapest newspapers have raised nearly $300,000 as a refuge relief fund in three days.

PLAY PRANK; TWO DROWNED.

Man in Motor Boat Seizes Rope Attached to Canoe, Which Upsets —Sisters Meet Death.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Alice Manner, aged 17, and her sister, Jennie, aged 19, were drowned this afternoon when their canoe upset when a man in a motorboat pulled at the rope attached to the smaller craft "just for fun." The man put on more speed when he saw the canoe upset and disappeared.

TAKE 8 MILES OF TRENCHES; 5,000 GERMANS

Combles and Peronne Periled by Terrific Attack Along the Somme.

VERDUN TEUTONS LOSE

(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, Sept. 5, 2 a. m.—Attacks by the French on a seventeen mile front, from south of Combles to Chilly, gained eight miles of German first line trenches, besides making insecure the other nine miles of enemy positions.

This information was embodied in the French night official report covering the last two days' operations in the Somme region.

The communication hints that the fighting is of the most bitter character, but unofficial reports do not hide the fact that the battle now raging is the most sanguinary since the great allied offensive in this region began.

TAKE 5,000 GERMANS.

The French have captured more than 5,000 Germans north and south of the River Somme, while in the region of Fleury (Verdun sector), where terrific fighting also is in progress, 500 Teutons have fallen into the hands of Gen. Joffre's men.

The eight miles of German first line trenches won by the French are four on the road from Barleux to Deniecourt and four miles from Varmandovillers to Chilly, south of the Somme.

The advance north of the river menaces Combles, which, if it falls, will make the German position at Perrone—one of the first objectives of the great drive—a perilous one.

BRITISH REPEL ATTACK.

The British night report as forwarded from Gen. Haig describes the defeat of a German counter attack against the recently won English position northwest of Mouquet farm. North of Falfemont farm the British gained further ground during the afternoon and the fighting in this sector is continuing with unabated fury.

"Beyond heavy artillery actions between the Ancre and the Somme, there is nothing to report," the communication concludes.

Berlin admits the seriousness of the situation on the Somme front, but declares that the Germans retain mastery over all their positions on both sides of the Ancre brook and recaptured ground lost near Mouquet farm.

FRENCH OFFICIAL REPORT.

The French night official report covering operations of yesterday on the western front follows:

The battle which began Sunday continued with intensity yesterday on both sides of the Somme. North of the river our successes continue. We progressed considerably east of the village of Forest, overran the hospital farm, and occupied the hillside west of Marrieres wood.

Violent German counter attacks on our new positions south of Combles, debouching from the village, were broken by machine gun and barrage fire, which inflicted on the enemy the heaviest losses. All the ground conquered has been held.

The number of prisoners taken in two days north of the Somme reached 2,500. We captured yesterday ten machine guns, besides those mentioned Sunday.

FIGHT ON 13 MILE FRONT.

South of the Somme the French troops attacked enemy works on a front of twenty kilometers (about thirteen miles) from Barleaux to the districts south of Chaulnes. Everywhere the bravery of our soldiers and the power of our artillery enabled us to obtain our objects.

On the Barleux-Deniecourt front (about four miles) we carried the enemy's first line trenches and established ourselves on the edge of Berny and the northern outskirts of Deniecourt. On our right Soyecourt was attacked from the north and the southwest and was captured in its entirety by a brilliant assault.

Farther south, from Vermandovillers to Chilly, after violent fighting, our infantry on a front of four miles carried the whole German first line positions, comprising several lines of defense very strongly organized. The village of Chilly was captured, while eastward we occupied Hill 86, as well as the western borders of the Bois de Chaulnes.

The village of Vermandovillers, a part of which we hold, was obviously outflanked from the north and south. Our heavy artillery dispersed enemy forces gathering on the Liancourt road.

The number of unwounded prisoners taken yesterday south of the Somme was more than 2,700.

French Gain Near Verdun.

On the right bank of the Meuse [Verdun sector], despite a violent enemy bombardment, we increased our gains of yesterday, progressing a hundred meters. In the district east of Fleury the Germans about 9 o'clock launched a powerful attack on Chenois wood. This attack at first succeeded in carrying a small fort on the Vaux road and trenches west of this. But our counter attacks enabled us to reoccupy all the territory temporarily yielded and take a hundred prisoners. In the afternoon renewed attacks by the Germans east of Chenois were repulsed.

The number of unwounded prisoners captured Sunday and yesterday in the region of Fleury reached more than 500.

Bitter Battle Raging.

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—In an extensive and bitter battle developing from the Anglo-French attacks begun yesterday, says the German official statement issued today, the Germans retained mastery over all their positions on both sides of the Ancre brook and recaptured ground which they had lost near Mouquet farm. South of the Somme, the statement adds, German artillery broke down French attacks except in the sector southwest of Barleaux.

Between Ginchy and the River Somme the Germans contested yard by yard the completely destroyed German first positions which were entered by the British, and, the statement says, stemmed the attack on the second line. Guillemont and Forest were captured from the Germans.

German War Report.

The statement dealing with the western front says:

Anglo-French attacks begun yesterday led to an extensive and bitter battle. North of the Somme the battle has been in progress on a line of almost eighteen miles, from Beaumont to the Somme. The Germans, commanded by Gen. von Stein and Gen. Baron von Marshall, retained mastery of all their positions on both sides of the Ancre and especially against Thiepval and northwest of Pozieres. The Germans recaptured lost ground near Mouquet farm.

Only at night did the enemy break through at High wood. He was repulsed. After the greatest artillery preparation, at which a greater supply of munitions was used than ever before, extended fighting developed between Ginchy and the Somme.

Gen. von Kirchbach and Gen. von Fassbender contested yard by yard the completely destroyed first positions entered by the enemy, stemming the attack at the second line. Guillemont and Forest were lost.

Admits French Success.

South of the Somme German artillery held down the French attacks, except in the sector southwest of Barleux. Forces advancing to attack near Barleux were sanguinarily repulsed.

Attempts made by the enemy against Thiaumont and our positions southeast of Fleury [northeast of Verdun] failed.

At Souville a defile in the French salient was cleared and 500 prisoners were taken.

Thirteen enemy aeroplanes were brought down in the Somme region on Saturday and Sunday. Capt. Doelke brought down his twentieth machine.

BERLIN ADMITS A ZEPPELIN WAS DESTROYED IN ENGLAND

Claims Bombs Caused Fires and Explosions in London and on Coast—Denied by Britain.

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—Official announcement was made here today that a German airship had been brought to earth on the night of Sept. 2 "as a result of enemy fire."

An earlier official telling of the Zeppelin raid on the southeastern counties of England last Saturday night said good effects were observed in London and coast cities, both on account of violent fires which broke out and explosions.

Report Second Zeppelin Disabled.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—An Exchange Telegraph company dispatch from Copenhagen says fishermen returning to Esbjerg, Denmark, report they observed a badly damaged Zeppelin yesterday morning. The crew was throwing articles overboard and the fishermen believe the Zeppelin fell into the water between Sylt island and the Schleswig coast.

Commenting on the German official statement, the British press bureau says:

The damage done is exactly what was reported in the official communique. There were no conflagrations of any importance and no explosions.

There, moreover, is the strongest reason to believe that another airship in addition to the one destroyed was seriously damaged.

Two more British air raids over Belgium have been made successfully, it was announced officially today in the following statement:

On Saturday the shipbuilding yards at Hoboken, near Antwerp, were successfully bombarded by naval aeroplanes. On Sunday the enemy aerodrome at Ghistelles, eleven miles southwest of Bruges, was bombarded with effect by a large squadron of our machines. All returned safely in both cases.

Dr. Ira Landrith of Nashville, Tenn., Prohibition candidate for vice president, with his wife and daughter, were among those who were saved from serious injury in the wreck Saturday night on the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad near Mancelona, Mich., in which over 100 passengers were more or less seriously hurt. He was in Chicago yesterday at the Morrison hotel.

PUSH FIGHT ON BALKAN FRONTS; GREECE WAVERS

Italians in Albania, Roumanians in Transylvania, Report Progress.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—While all of fighting Europe still awaits the expected formal entry of Greece into the war, interest continues to center on the ultra-complicated status of military affairs in the Balkans.

With British and French warships still arriving at Piraeus, the harbor near Athens, the allies are pushing their efforts to rid Greece of enemy agents.

The Greek government has accepted the demands of the entente powers in their entirety and agents of the French and British governments today took over the control of postal and telegraphic communication.

Progress on Three Fronts.

Meanwhile the campaign which has for its ultimate goal the cutting off from Germany and Austria of their allies to the southeast (Bulgaria and Turkey) is being conducted with alternate temporary successes on three fronts—in Macedonia, in Albania, and on the Roumanian-Transylvanian frontier.

Bucharest, the Roumanian capital, tells of further successes in its army's invasion of Transylvania with the occupation of two more Hungarian cities. Rome reports the seizure by Italian troops of three towns east of Avlona, in Albania. Berlin says the German-Bulgarian army attempting to penetrate Roumania made further advances beyond the border, while Vienna claims the repulse of enemy attacks in Transylvania.

Zaimis Holds Greek Fate.

ATHENS, via London, Sept. 4.—Seizing the opportunity offered by the presence at Piraeus, within gunshot of Athens, of a large fleet of the entente nations, Premier Zaimis has assumed unobtrusively what amounts virtually to dictatorial powers. All is now in readiness for the final act to end the neutrality of Greece.

Greece may now find itself at war over night at the bidding of a single individual, who is neither King Constantine nor Former Premier Venizelos.

The formation by M. Zaimis of a new ministry in which all parties will be represented is a question of only a few days.

Meanwhile, the allies are rapidly ridding Athens and Piraeus of Austrian and German agents.

Baron von Schenk, chief director of the German propaganda in Greece, has been arrested and taken on board of a cruiser of the entente allies. Sixteen additional warships of the entente powers have arrived at Piraeus.

Roumanians Advancing.

BUCHAREST, via London, Sept. 4.—The Roumanian war office announces that Roumanian troops have occupied Borszek and Sekeli in Transylvania. The Teutonic-Bulgarian allies have been repulsed at Basardjik in Dobrudja, but elsewhere continue their attack along the whole frontier between Dobrudja and Bulgaria.

The official statement says:

On our northern and northwestern fronts, after somewhat lively fighting we occupied the locality of Borszek and the heights west of that town. We captured four officers and 150 men and entirely occupied the inhabited region of Sekeli (Sz Lelek) in Haromszek.

On the southern front the enemy attacked along the whole Dobrudja frontier south of Basardjik, but was repulsed. On the remainder of the front the fighting continues.

The enemy bombarded Islacz and Kalafat.

Italians Gain Near Avlona.

ROME, Sept. 4.—Italian troops have made additional successes in Albania, east of Avlona, says an official statement, given out today. The villages of Kuta and Drizar have been occupied and Monte Gradist has been taken. The statement says:

Albania: On Saturday detachments of Bersagilieri and territorials made a raid on the right bank of the Voyusa. The territorials crossed the river between Sceffi and Regepal, taking the village Kuta after severe fighting. Meantime the Bersaglieri occupied Drizar and took Monte Gradist, repelling violent counter-attacks. During the evening the troops, having achieved their object, returned to the right bank of the Voyusa. One Bersaglieri detachment remained undisturbed on Monte Trubes until Sunday afternoon, returning subsequently to our lines. We took thirty-four Austrians prisoner and captured much material.

Berlin Sees Greek Entry.

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—Greece's entry into the war on the side of the allies possibly within four weeks is now looked for by the German public. Meanwhile events in the Balkans are progressing satisfactorily to Berlin.

German and Bulgarian troops which had crossed the southeastern frontier of Roumania between the river Danube and the Black sea advanced yesterday, says the official statement issued today by German army headquarters. Near Koemar the Bulgarian cavalry drove back the Roumanian infantry, capturing 710 men.

The Austro-Hungarian statement issued at Vienna yesterday, concerning the Roumanian front, says:

Eastern war theater, Roumanian front—Hostile artillery fire was directed yesterday [Saturday] against Nagy-Szeben [Hermannstadt]. In the Gyorgy sector the Roumanians advanced against our positions in groping fashion. Our artillery repulsed hostile reconnoitering detachments.

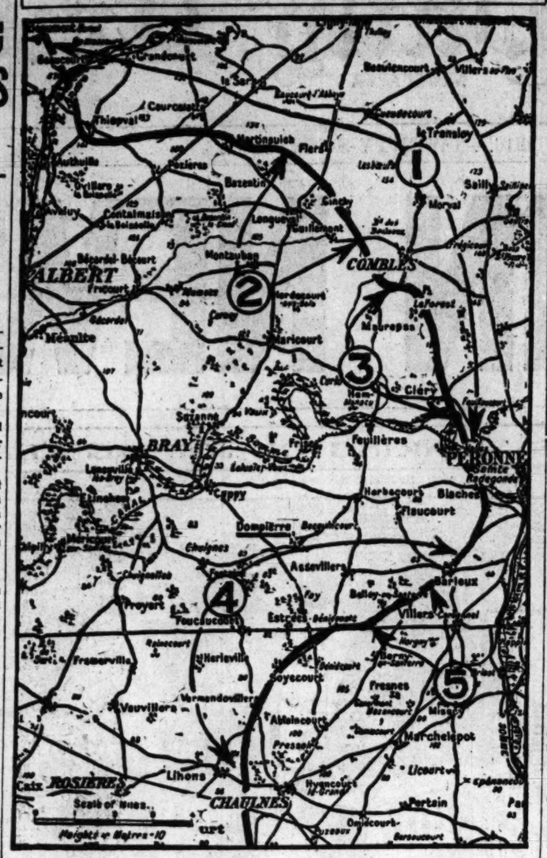

Serbs Repulse Bulgars.

SALONIKI, Sept. 4, via Paris.—Bulgarian troops have made another attack on the Macedonian front west of Lake Ostrovo. It was announced at French army headquarters today that the attack had been repulsed by Serbians. There was considerable activity on the part of patrols on the Struma and Lake Doiran fronts, as well as intermittent cannonading.

SUMATRA REVOLT SPREADS.

THE HAGUE, via London, Sept. 4.—The rebellion in the Dutch East Indies island of Sumatra is spreading, according to an official announcement. The governor of Sumatra reports that the rebels have ransacked Muara, Tambest, Muaratebo, and Surulangum. Muaratebo is reported burning.

ALLIES' ADVANCE ON SOMME

1—Berlin reports bitter battle rages on eighteen mile front from Beaumont to the Somme. Germans maintained their positions on both sides of Ancre brook at Beaumont, Thiepval, and northwest of Pozieres, it is claimed.

2—London reports latest British advance in Picardy resulted in 800 yard advance on a front of 3,000 yards, including the village of Guillemont. Ginchy also was taken, but Germans recaptured part of village.

3—French gain south of Combles includes villages of Le Forest and Clery, with all trenches between and to the Somme.

4—Paris reports French have made progress along twelve and one-half mile front south of Somme from Barleaux to Chaulnes, capturing village of Soyecourt and part of Vermandovillers. In last two days 5,000 prisoners taken north and south of Somme.

5—Berlin reports German artillery stopped French attacks south of Somme, except in sector southwest of Barleaux.

ROME PUTS LOSS OF FOE AT 450,000

Estimates 150,000 Killed, 200,000 Wounded, and 100,000 Captured.

ROME, Sept. 4.—About 450,000 Austrians have been killed, captured or so seriously wounded that they cannot return to the front, in engagements with the Italians since the Austro-Italian declaration of war fifteen months ago.

This estimate was made today by Italian military authorities. They estimated that 150,000 Austrians have been killed, 200,000 permanently disabled, and 100,000 captured.

The official report covering the day's operations on the Austro-Italian front follows:

Yesterday in the Fiemme valley, the enemy having received reinforcements, after an intense artillery preparation, launched two violent attacks against our new positions on Monte Cauriol.

They were stopped each time by our fire and eventually were dispersed with heavy loss, by a counter-attack with the bayonet.

Austrian War Report.

VIENNA, Sept. 4.—The war office tonight, describing activities on the Austro-Italian front, says:

On the coastland front moderate artillery duels continue.

In the Ploeckер sector, after an attack, was repulsed by our troops the artillery activity was revived after a period of quiet.

PARIS DENIES SIMILARITY IN PFAAT AND CAVELL CASES.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—In view of recent German comment comparing the execution at Marseilles as a spy of Felice Pfaat with that of Edith Cavell, it is denied she was a German. She was a French woman, born at Nancy in 1890. In 1914 she went to Metz and later to Belgium, where, it is said, a German official proposed that she gather military information in Paris.

The woman passed three weeks in Paris and then reported the results to Germans, who, she admitted, paid her $1,000 to undertake another mission.

Returning to Paris from Lauzanne, Switzerland, in July of last year, she was expelled by the prefect of police. She went to Marseilles, where she boarded at a house frequented by army officers. She was caught in the act of spying and admitted she had been commissioned to gather military information. On July 10 she was unanimously condemned to death by a court martial.

GERMANS FEAR THE BREMEN IS LOST, COPENHAGEN HEARS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The Morning Post's Copenhagen correspondent wires that travelers from Germany report the Germans themselves doubting whether the submarine merchantman Bremen, supposed to be on its way to America, will ever be heard of again.

The general opinion in Hamburg is that the Bremen already had left Germany for America when the Deutschland arrived in the United States, as then was stated by Director Lohmann of the Overseas Navigation company, and that his later statement, made on the occasion of the return of the Deutschland, that another vessel then was starting on its voyage and was "now in the open sea," really related to a third submarine merchantman.

RUSSIANS CROSS ANOTHER RIVER BEFORE LEMBERG

Pierce Teuton Lines 50 Miles from Capital of Galicia; Gain in Carpathians.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 4.—The Russians have broken across the Theniovka river, a western tributary of the Zlota Lipa, and seized a position of the Austro-German troops, the war office announced today. They took 2,721 prisoners and six machine guns. The victory was won in the neighborhood of Brzezany, fifty miles southeast of Lemberg.

In the vicinity of Vladimir-Volynski, in Volhynia, fierce battles are in progress near Sheituvov and Korytniza. Heavy engagements also are under way along the upper Sereth. A gas attack near Baranovichi was repulsed.

Capture Carpathians Heights.

The Russian forces in the Carpathians, the announcement also says, have captured a whole series of mountain heights and are advancing to the Hungarian frontier.

Between Thursday and Sunday the troops of Gen. Brussiloff captured 385 officers and 19,020 men. In this number were eleven German officers and 1,300 German privates. Twelve cannon, seventy-six machine guns, and seven mortars also were taken.

German and Austrian Reports.

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—The German official statement issued today says:

Russian efforts to the southwest of Lutsk ended in failure. Southeast of Brzezany fighting continues. In the Carpathians fighting is in progress south of Zielona.

The Austrian statement of yesterday says:

Front of Archduke Charles: Southwest of Fundumoldivi and west of Moldava our troops repulsed several Russian attacks. Mount Plunka, southwest of Rafailvo, was taken by the Russians after violent fighting. Southeast of Brzezany yesterday several Russian advances failed. Today (Sunday) the enemy began a new attack.

Front of Prince Leopold: North of Zborow German troops of Gen. von Boehm-Ermolli's army pursued the enemy beyond his trenches when repulsing a Russian attack.

WAR "BLUNDERS" ROIL HUNGARY

Karolyi and Others Bitter Over Alleged Bungling Against Russia.

HIT TITLED LEADERS.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Dispatches received by the Morning Post from Budapest show the situation in Hungary, as a result of the entrance of Roumania into the war, has become serious.

Count Karolyi openly blames the intervention of Roumania on the defeats which the Teuton armies have suffered on the Russian front. It is plainly stated by others of the Hungarian leaders that the fault lies in placing the supreme commands in the hands of the Austrian nobles regardless of their military ability.

These criticisms are given added weight by the fact that they are uttered by the same men who are leading in the movement for the separation of Hungary and Austria and the creation of an independent Hungary.

Karolyi's Veiled Threat.

In Pesti Hirlap, Count Karolyi is quoted having said: "The fact that during the so-called Lutz episode the dual monarchy lost 400,000 men as prisoners, 400 guns, and who knows how many killed and wounded, brought about this new catastrophe.

"Roumania remained neutral as long as these blunders were not made, and she would have remained neutral if we continued to keep the Russians outside of our own frontiers. We know who were the ones who allowed the events to drop to such a level and we shall find the means to point it out to the outraged nation shortly."

Others give some more details with regard to this hint.

"Our 'born army leaders' have not won the right to carry marshals' batons in their haversacks," one Hungarian leader says, "but were born with them because they were members of a family designated by tradition to become field marshals, whether the members have any aptitude for the profession or not.

Barter Nation for Power.

"They have led armies, although their talents would designate them for bootmakers or professors of mathematics in some out of the way school. Those families do not care much if millions of men are sacrificed or the whole state imperiled. The only thing they care for is that their sons and heirs should lead armies, even if to destruction."

This plain talk explains somewhat the feeling existing with regard to the ambitions of the archdukes and especially of the crown prince of the monarchy, who planned and led the May offensive against Italy and who now is in command on the northeastern frontiers. Nor do the Archdukes Frederick and Eugene command much more sympathy or appreciation than the young Archduke Charles Joseph.

BRITISH TAKE CHIEF TOWN OF GERMAN EAST AFRICA.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—It is announced officially that Dar-Es-Salaam, the chief town of German East Africa, surrendered at 9 o'clock this morning.

The statement says British naval forces, in coöperation with troops from Bagamoyo and Saadani, are now occupying Dar-Es-Salaam.

South of Morogoro, 100 miles west of Dar-Es-Salaam, pursuit of the main German forces continues. Lieut.-Col. Vandeventer, in command of a British force, has reached Kikumi, forty-two miles south of Kilossa. Brig. Gen. Northey, at the head of another British force, has occupied Neuringa.

CITY HOPES FOR START OF WORK ON SOUTH SHORE

Beginning of Twelfth Street Widening Emphasizes Other Improvement.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

WE WILL

Actual work on the widening of Twelfth street has begun. They are tearing down and moving back buildings at several points on the south side of the street between Michigan avenue and Ashland avenue. It is time that definite plans were adopted for the great south shore improvement, beginning at Jackson park on the south and ending at the new Twelfth street at the north. They are integral parts of the same great plan of making Chicago a healthier, happier, pleasanter place to live in, as well as a more splendid and beautiful city.

The threatened railroad strike is settled. Doubtless the Illinois Central will now be more anxious to begin the work of constructing its great new passenger terminal on the south line of the new Twelfth street, just west of the magnificent Field museum now in process of construction.

Wheels Start Turning.

The vacation season is over. The city council holds its first meeting on Oct. 3. The members of the municipal terminal commission, at the head of which are Engineer John F. Wallace and Attorney Walter Fisher, are coming back to the city.

On the action of the latter body, in connection with the city council committee on wharves and harbors, depends the next step in securing for the people of Chicago the full advantages of the lake front.

The Illinois Central has prepared plans for its new station and they are now in the hands of the terminal commission for approval. They must then go to the council committee, which must also agree. Then an ordinance must be passed by the city council. That done, the permission of the secretary of war must be obtained.

Detailed Plans Ready.

For the assistance of the various commissions and committees the engineers and experts of the Chicago plan commission have been working all summer on detailed plans for the whole great work. They are now practically completed.

They include a wide strip of park land to be constructed by filling in the lake immediately east of the present right of way of the Illinois Central railway, from Twelfth street to Jackson park. East of that is to be an inner water course 600 feet in width. It will be connected with the lake by several wide inlets and outlets. This channel will furnish plenty of room for three mile straightaway motor boat and other races. Nowhere in the world will there be such a splendid stretch of pleasure water.

Still east of the water course an outer park belt and driveway will be constructed by filling in the lake. This will vary from 300 to 2,000 feet in width. Altogether some 1,550 acres of park land—and all of it in the heart of the city—will be added to the pleasure domain of all the people of Chicago.

More Inclosed Water.

Outside the outer parkway and between it and the outer breakwater will be another stretch of inclosed water, some 2,000 feet in width. There will be further space for yacht and boat races of all kinds.

On both the inner and the outer channels, so constructed, there will be ample room for bathing beaches and not less than half a dozen in the three miles stretch are contemplated in the plan. Safe and convenient access to the new beaches and to the whole lake front improvement will be provided for either by bridges over the Illinois Central right of way or, preferable, by the construction of a series of subways under it. In this way all the people of the south side and of the most congested districts of the west side will be able to get quickly and conveniently to the water front.

For the last ten years the north side has been advancing as a desirable residence center by leaps and bounds. Meanwhile the south side has made no such progress. Experts claim that the chief reason for the difference lies in the fact that on the north side the people have unrestricted access to and use of the lake front. The completion of the south shore improvement would remove the handicap under which the south side has labored.

Dispute with Railroad.

The present delay in starting the work is due to the refusal of the Illinois Central railroad company to accept the ordinance approved last spring by the city council committee on wharves and harbors. The railroad company complained that it was unfair to ask it to give up its riparian rights and to fill in certain new lands at its own expense and then to demand that the city council retain the right to approve the use to which this new land shall be put. The city council committee and the municipal terminal commission are also inclined to insist that, as part of the bargain, the Illinois Central depress its tracks so that they can be covered and that it electrify at least its suburban service.

Some way out of this deadlock must be found before the permission of the secretary of war can be obtained to start work on the great improvement.

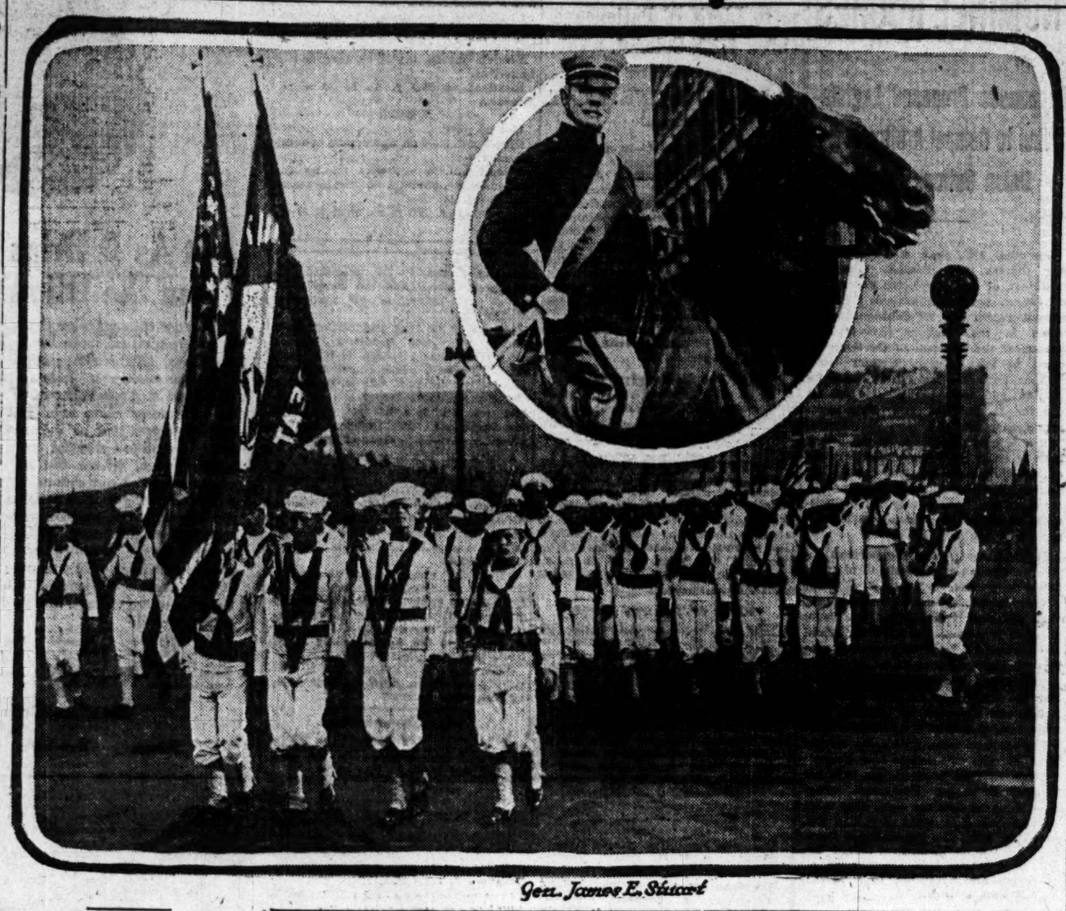

If the terminal commission and the council committee on wharves and harbors now acts promptly they might be able to have an approved ordinance ready to present to the city council for passage at its next meeting on Oct. 3.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF THEFT.

Mrs. Nettie Thompson, 7052 North Clark street, was booked yesterday on a charge of larceny by embezzlement, preferred by Mrs. Anna Dodge, owner of an art store at 7100 North Clark street. Mrs. Dodge alleged that Mrs. Thompson, while employed as a clerk in her store, collected bills from customers and kept the money. She also took merchandise valued at $20 when she left, Mrs. Dodge told the police.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS INVADE CHICAGO

Soldiers of Our Last War Open Four Day Encampment With Michigan Avenue Parade—Welcomed by Gen. James E. Stuart.

Gen. James E. Stuart

VETERANS OFFER SERVICES TO U. S.

Spanish War Soldiers Open a Four Day Encampment in Chicago.

National preparedness on an adequate scale to defend the honor and integrity of the United States in any emergency and the offering of their services to the president in the event of any trouble with the high spots in the resolutions to be adopted by the United Spanish war veterans.

The order opened a four day encampment in Chicago yesterday with speech-making and business meetings in the First Regiment armory and a parade up Michigan avenue in the afternoon.

The resolutions committee went over the draft of the pronouncement at the Congress hotel last night. The platform builders were unanimous for a strong preparedness plank and also will approve the action taken by Commander-in-Chief L. C. Dyer in offering to the president the services of the Spanish war veterans in the eevnt of trouble with Mexico or any other foreign nation.

Applauds Dyer's Offer.

Commander Dyer, in his annual address in the armory, was warmly applauded when he declared that the Spanish war veterans stand ready to take the field at any time the United States requires their services.

Commander Dyer also reported that the influence exerted on congress by the several posts when the recent preparedness measure were under consideration bore good fruit, although congress might have done better.

The only spirited contest for new officers is between Lieut. Gov. Barratt O'Hara of Illinois and Capt. D. V. Chisholm of Washington, D. C., for commander-in-chief. Capt. Chisholm is superintendent of work in the government printing office at Washington.

O'Hara got the best of the publicity stuff the first day. Gov. Dunne, who was to welcome the veterans, was unable to be present and sent the lieutenant governor to represent him. Escorted by a brass band, O'Hara entered the armory and got a big hand.

"I even applauded for him myself," laughed Chisholm.

Mayor Thompson also was unable to welcome the veterans on behalf of the city, but O'Hara gave them not only the freedom of Chicago but of the whole state.

Stuart Welcomes Veterans.

Gen. James E. Stuart, chief postoffice inspector and chairman of the executive committee, also welcomed the veterans to the big town.

The woman's auxiliary will open their convention at the Hotel La Salle today.

The parade was the big feature of the day. Led by the Illinois naval reserves from the Great Lakes station and with perfect weather, the veterans made a fine showing on their march up Michigan avenue. Gen. Stuart was chief marshal of the day.

This forenoon will be devoted to a business session and this afternoon the delegates will see the ball game at the Cubs' park. Tonight the full dress military ball will be held at the Second regiment armory.

New officers and the resolutions will be the principal features of tomorrow's program.

TOP THE EFFICIENCY LIST.

Detective Sergeants Marpool and Wertheimer Head Roll for August Posted by Larkin.

Detective Sergeants Edward Marpool and Harry Wertheimer, his partner, head the efficiency list for the month of August, posted yesterday by Chief of Detectives Charles L. Larkin. The two detectives made twenty-two arrests during the month. Detective Sergeants Birmingham and McGinnis were second on the list, and Detective Sergeants Kelly and O'Brien were third. Bureau detectives recovered property valued at $26,627.50 and made 276 arrest during the month.

CHORUS GIRLS' FLAT IN RUINS

Neighbors Tell of Gay Night Life and of Suspicious Fire.

When Mrs. Clarence Hutton returned yesterday to her apartment at 810 Lakeside place, which she had subleased to four chorus girls, she found her pantry had been turned into a small but perfectly appointed bar. What of her furniture was not burned was otherwise ruined, her china lay broken on the floor, and only a few blistered frames remained on the walls to show where had been valuable paintings.

Today the fire attorney's office will investigate the fire which aroused the occupants of the Lakeside apartments yesterday morning. The blaze began in the center of the hardwood floor in the hall. Mrs. Hutton visited the apartment Sunday evening. She says that there was nothing in the hall that could possibly have started the fire.

Sublet Her Apartment.

Months ago, when "The World of Pleasure" company came to Chicago, Mrs. Hutton sublet the apartment to Miss Laura Hoffman. Miss Hoffman was well recommended, but a short time after signing the lease she left for New York, leaving four chorus girls of "The World of Pleasure" company in charge.

Then, according to the scandalized neighbors, the little apartment became the scene of many a "hot time." Numerous stories are told of the carousals. Occupants of other apartments often called up the merrymakers in the early hours of the morning, threatening to call the police unless the noise ceased. Always, they say, the lights went out immediately and, with exception for a few giggles, all was peace and quiet.

Had Many Visitors.

Neighbors say the girls had many visitors, and some of the young men who called appeared to make the flat their home. One afternoon a young man attempted to crawl in the back window. The police were called and he indignantly explained that he was the brother of one of the girls. He was taken to the theater and confronted by the girl, who thereupon identified him as her brother.

Mrs. Hutton returned to the city two weeks ago. She was told of the nightly carousals. She wrote the girls that unless they mended their ways she would have them ousted. Before the sublease expired—Sept. 1—the girls had disappeared.

SAVE BOY FROM DAKOTA PRISON

Juvenile Court Aids Rise to Relief of Youthful Wanderer.

Last spring, when the call of the wild was in his ears, Raymond Mooney did what many another 15 year old lad has done—ran away to see the world. And while hoboing through South Dakota Ray broke the seal of a box car so he could get in and ride. For this he was put in the penitentiary. Then he got a parole, felt homesick, and returned to his parents at 1845 Keystone avenue on Aug. 5.

South Dakota demanded his return for breaking parole, but Ray was unwilling, and his parents did not want him to go back. The Juvenile court came to his aid and made him a ward. Breaking a box car seal just for the ride was not an offense so terrible that the South Dakota penitentiary was necessary as a corrective, the court officials thought.

They gave the boy a hearing, and then, last Wednesday, secured a promise from Gov. Dunne that no attempts at extradition would be heard for thirty days. Meanwhile the Juvenile court will try to arrange matters so that the boy can be taken care of in our own institutions in a way best suited the "crime."

HERE'S A SUITCASE MYSTERY

If You've Seen a Brown Leather Bag Maybe It's a Clew to This Baffler.

On Aug. 21 Charles Anderson of Indianapolis left by way of the Michigan Central for Chicago. He was an invalid. He arried a brown suitcase. In a railway accident at Thirty-third street on Aug. 22 Anderson was killed. His wife and his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Bonnett of 1008 Altgeld street, identified the body. But the brown leather suitcase was gone.

Mrs. Anderson is anxious to find the suitcase to clear up the mystery concerning Mr. Anderson's whereabouts between the time he left Indianapolis and late the next day when he was killed.

Have you seen a brown leather suitcase?

MEXICANS TOLD U. S. RIGHTS MUST BE TOPIC IN PARLEY.

Lansing States Demands—Conferences Open Wednesday at New London, Conn.

New York, Sept. 4.—The personal rights and economic interests of Americans in Mexico must be considered in reaching a permanent settlement of the difficulties between the United States and Mexico, Secretary Lansing said here today in an address at a luncheon attended by members of the American-Mexican joint commission. Conferences looking toward a solution of the international problems which confront the two countries are to begin shortly at New London, Conn.

Secretary Lansing declared that if "suspicion, doubt, and aloofness" marked the coming deliberations, the commission might expect to accomplish little and would leave the two nations "in the same tangle of misunderstandings and false judgments which I feel have been the chief reasons for our controveries in the past."

Secretary Lane announced that the commissioners and their party would sail on the presidential yacht Mayflower at 9 a. m. tomorrow for New London, and that beginning Wednesday two two hour conferences would be held each day.

SECRET DEMANDS MADE BY JAPAN ON CHINA, REPORT

U. S. Learns New Plan of Tokio to Extend Control—Fear of Another Crisis.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Sept. 5, 10 a. m.—Another clash between Chinese and Japanese troops is officially reported from Chaoyangpo, Mongolia, and has led to the dispatch of heavy Japanese reinforcements. It is claimed the Chinese attacked the Japanese while the latter were advancing to mediate between the Chinese and Mongolians.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—Secret demands in addition to those published today in dispatches from Peking, are being pressed on China by Japan as a result of the recent clash of Chinese and Japanese troops at Cheng Chiatun. It became known here tonight that the situation is much more serious than has been indicated, confidential reports saying the unpublished demands threaten the authority of China over the whole of Inner Mongolia.

At the same time the state department has authoritative advices that Japanese financiers have offered to make available in the near future a proposed loan of $30,000,000 to China.

It is the opinion here that the Japanese offer is connected with the new demands.

Officials Fear a New Crisis.

Officials here view the developments with anxiety, fearing another Chinese-Japanese crisis, which might involve the interests of the United States. Reports from Peking show alarm there. The prompt and unanimous acceptance of the new cabinet, announced today, is believed to have been a result of the seriousness of the Japanese and financial problems.

Japan's demands, as published, call for dismissal of Chinese officers in command of the troops at the scene of the trouble, withdrawal of the Chinese garrison, indemnification of the families of the Japanese killed, and extension of Japanese police rights to inner Mongolia.

Japs Seek to Extend Rights.

The secret demands are believed here to seek extension to inner Mongolia of rights which already have been won in south Manchuria. In both places China is forbidden under the treaty of May 8, 1915, to raise a foreign loan on local taxes without Japan's consent, and forced to consult Japan in case she cannot raise money herself for the railroads there. Beyond that, however, the Japanese in south Manchuria have unlimited rights of trade and leasing of land, the right of opening and operating specified mines, and preference in case foreign advisors are sought in military, political, police, or financial matters.

None of the demands as published infringes on any right of the United States, officials think, but a report on the secret negotiations will be awaited with concern, as they may conflict with the open door policy and the integrity of China.

STEAMER CROWD SEES DOCK HERO

City of South Haven Passengers Watch Struggle with Hawser.

LINE THE DECK RAILS.

Hundreds of gay excursionists were thrilled yesterday by the feat of "Dutch" Rothstrom, a dock hand, who, at the peril of being drowned, worked frantically to unloose the big hawser holding the steamer City of South Haven to the docks while the tug was using all her power to pull the boat away.

The boat stood in the same spot where the Eastland turned over, little more than a year ago, with the loss of nearly a thousand lives. The Eastland, it was said, had been moored in the same manner when she went over while being pulled from the docks and to that fact some theories laid the tragic results.

Crowds Line Rails.

The deck rails were lined with laughing crowds, waving handkerchiefs to friends on shore. The band was playing. The last passenger was on board.

Finally the whistle blew to loosen all forward ropes holding the steamer to the dock. This was done. Then the powerful little tug began churning the water in front of the boat. Whistles screeched for the bridge to be opened.

Then the last signal was given. That was to throw off the big hawser that held the boat to the dock at the stern. But there was no one on the dock to obey the command. The captain had signaled the bridge and the steamer started to pull out. As the tug took up the slack in the big rope there was fear the boat would careen.

Shout Warnings.

The dock crowd shouted warnings to friends on the boat. The deck rails were lined with white faced passengers.

Then "Dutch"—N. S. Rothstrom—jumped to the piles and raced along the docks and tugged at the huge rope. It was caught under a pile of lumber. He worked so desperately at the twisting, straining hawser his clothes were torn to tatters. At last the rope was thrown into the water and pulled in by the boat crew and the boat continued down the river on its voyage.

THE RISING TIDE

By MARGARET DELAND

A new novel by Margaret Deland is an event in the world of books.

This is a modern story of a girl of today in revolt against the restrictions of the older generation. Mrs. Deland shows in this new book that she can understand the desires and problems of the modern girl as she understood in her Old Chester stories the girl of crinoline days. The author's sympathy with the ambitions of heady youth and the pathos of age make her characters living persons and her book a stimulus and a delight.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

WILSON SPEAKS TO BIG CROWD AT LINCOLN CABIN

Vigor of Democracy His Theme at Transfer of Memorial to War President.

Hodgenville, Ky., Sept. 4.—President Wilson today paid tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln before the humble log cabin in Larue county where the civil war president was born.

The president was welcomed by a cheering throng of more than 25,000 persons. As he stepped from his private car several bands began playing and the applause was deafening. The president had been greeted by crowds at every wayside station between Louisville and Hodgenville and at every stop shook hands with as many persons as possible.

At the Hodgenville station an automobile parade was formed and proceeded to a statue of Lincoln in the town square, where the president laid a wreath of flowers. The streets were lined soldily with cheering throngs.

Parade to Statue Hill.

From the statue the parade proceeded to the Lincoln cabin, two miles from Hodgenville. There temporary stands had been located at the foot of the broad granite stairs leading up to the Lincoln memorial, topping a hill.

More than 10,000 automobiles occupied the surrounding fields, the crowd being the largest every gathered in this section. The speakers of the ceremonies incident to the transfer of the Lincoln cabin to the federal government included, besides the president, Gen. John B. Castleman of Louisville, Secretary Baker, Senator Williams, former Gov. Folk of Missouri, and Robert T. Collier of New York.

President's Address.

President Wilson's address was many times interrupted by applause. He said, in part:

"How eloquent this little house within its shrine is of the vigor of democracy! There is nowhere in the land any home so remote, so humble, that it may not contain the power of mind and heart and conscience to which nations yield and history submits its processes. Nature pays no tribute to aristocracy, subscribes to no creed or caste, renders fealty to no monarch or master of any name or kind.

"Genius is no snob. It does not run after titles or seek by preference the high circles of society. It affects humble company as well as great. It pays no special tribute to universities or learned societies or conventional standards of greatness, but serenely chooses its own comrades, its own haunts, its own cradle even, and its own life of adventure and of training. Here is proof of it. This little hut was the cradle of one of the great sons of men, a man of singular, delightful, vital genius who presently emerged upon the great stage of the nation's history, gaunt, shy, ungainly, but dominant and majestic, a natural ruler of men, himself inevitably the central figure of the great plot.

Vigor of Democracy.

"No man can explain this, but every man can see how it demonstrates the vigor of democracy, where every door is open, in every hamlet and countryside, in city and wilderness alike, for the ruler to emerge when he will and claim his leadership in the free life. Such are the authentic proofs of the validity and vitality of democracy.

"Here, no less, hides the mystery of democracy. Who shall guess this secret of nature and Providence and a free polity? Whatever the vigor and vitality of the stock from which he sprang, its mere vigor and soundness do not explain where this man got his great heart that seemed to comprehend all mankind in its catholic and benignant sympathy, the mind that sat enthroned behind those brooding, melancholy eyes, whose vision swept many an horizon which those about him dreamed not of—that mind that comprehended what it had never seen, and understood the language of affairs with the ready ease of one to the manner born—or that nature which seemed in its varied richness to be the familiar of men of every way of life. This is the sacred mystery of democracy, that its richest fruits spring up out of soils which no man has prepared and in circumstances amidst which they are least expected. This is a place alike of mystery and of reassurance.

Only One Example Among Many.

"It is likely that in a society ordered otherwise than our own Lincoln could not have found himself or the path of fame and power upon which he walked serenely to his death. In this place it is right that we should remind ourselves of the solid and striking facts upon which our faith in democracy is founded. Many another man besides Lincoln has served the nation in its highest places of counsel and of action whose origins were as humble as his.

"Though the greatest example of the universal energy, richness, stimulation, and force of democracy, he is only one example among many. The permeating and all-pervasive virtue of the freedom which challenges us in America to make the most of every gift and power we possess every page of our history serves to emphasize and illustrate.

Not "Typical American."

"We would like to think of men like Lincoln and Washington as typical Americans, but no man can be typical who is so unusual as these great men were. It was typical of American life that it should produce such men with supreme indifference as to the manner in which it produced them, and as readily here in this hut as amidst the little circle of cultivated gentlemen to whom Virginia owed so much in leadership and example. And Lincoln and Washington were typical Americans in the use they made of their genius. But there will be few such men at best, and we will not look into the mystery of how and why they come. We will only keep the door open for them always, and a hearty welcome—after we have recognised them."

At the conclusion of the president's speech he left immediately for Washington, where he will arrive tomorrow afternoon.

NUTSHELL POLITICS

Jottings on National, State, and Local Candidates and Events.

The name of Leopold Pfaelzer will appear on the Democratic primary ballot as a candidate for member of the board of assessors, despite the fact that he died Saturday. "There is no way that we can take the name from the ballot now, as many of them have been printed," said Dennis J. Egan, chief clerk of the board of election commissioners. "We can only advise the public through the press that Mr. Pfaelzer is dead and that he should not be voted for at the primaries."

Daniel C. Roper, who resigned as first assistant postmaster general to become chief of organization of the Wilson campaign, was at the Karpen building headquarters yesterday. "The trend is toward Wilson," he said. "There is unmistakable evidence of it on all sides. I might go into details to convince the most skeptical that the president is stronger today than at any time since his election four years ago."

Senator Hull will speak today at noon at the Garrick theater. Tonight he will speak in the Masonic hall in Rogers Park, at Swift school, and at Graeme Stewart school in the Twenty-fifth ward, at Kobey and Byron streets in the Twenty-sixth, and at Bush Temple, Chicago avenue and North Clark street, in the Twenty-first.

Charles F. White submits the following slate: Lowden for governor, Oglesby for lieutenant governor, Charles F. White for secretary of state, Russell for auditor, Small for treasurer, and Brundage for attorney general.

The Cook County Democratic organization—the anti-Sullivan people—adopted resolutions of condolence at the death of Leopold Pfaelzer, who was that organization's candidate for the short term place for member of the board of assessors.

Col. Frank O. Lowden will speak at two noonday meetings today at the Grand and Princess theaters. Edward J. Brundage, candidate for attorney general; Samuel A. Ettelson, corporation counsel, and Harry B. Miller, candidate for state's attorney, also will speak. Tonight Col. Lowden speaks at Teutonia hall, Fifty-third street and Ashland avenue; Jones' hall, Seventy-fifth street and Coles avenue, and Pythian Temple, 11039 Michigan avenue.

The following telegram was received yesterday at Frank L. Smith's headquarters: "East St. Louis. I was a candidate for state senator on the Progressive ticket in 1912. I take this means of indorsing your candidacy for governor."

The women's Sergel campaign committee will hold its last general rally at 3 o'clock this afternoon at 116 South Michigan avenue, room 703. Ald. Charles E. Merriam will speak.

While Charles E. Hughes is speaking in the west Charles W. Fairbanks will be campaigning the east. It is now arranged that Mr. Hughes will speak in Oklahoma City and at Muskogee at the Oklahoma state fair, in his third western trip. Probabilities are that Col. Roosevelt will speak in Indianapolis within a day or two after his Battle Creek speech, Sept. 30. Albert J. Beveridge starts on an extensive western trip with his Chicago speech Oct. 5. William H. Taft starts through the west Oct. 1.

Joseph M. Dixon, Progressive national chairman in 1912, now Republican candidate for United States senator in Montana, wired the Republican national headquarters that Republicans and Progressives in his state have come together and that the harmony insures Montana for Hughes in November. This coppers Bruce Kremer's statement, printed above.

The Twenty-fifth ward Democratic organization will give its first annual ball and entertainment tonight at Arcadia hall. The guests of honor announced are Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, Senator William J. Stone of Missouri, Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, Roger C. Sullivan, and Robert M. Sweitzer.

WILSON TO MAKE ADDRESS AT SUFFRAGE CONVENTION.

Will Speak Before National Association Friday at Atlantic City, N. J.—States Rights Issue Up.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 4.—President Wilson will speak Friday night at the convention of the National Woman Suffrage association here. The president wired his acceptance late last night. The coming of the president is expected to have an important bearing on the controversy over the future policy of the association and the question of "state rights" as it concerns votes for women.

One faction in the association, headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, national president, is in favor of leaving the question of suffrage to the separate states for settlement. Delegates from the southern states especially support this plan.

The other faction, of which Miss Alice Paul, president of the Congressional union, is a leader, wants the association to center its efforts on a federal amendment and give the ballot to women all over the United States by an amendment to the federal constitution.

At the present time the association is following a policy which combines both methods.

Every side of the suffrage question from the point of view of working women and mothers, its relation and value to public morals, the temperance side, and the value of suffrage as affecting children employed in factories, mills, and stores will also be discussed by the delegates.

CONGRESS QUITS THIS WEEK

Session Finishing Work Preparatory to Adjourning Tomorrow or Thursday.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—Congress is winding up its affairs for the session and planning to adjourn either Wednesday or Thursday. Republican leaders in the senate gave assurances tonight that the emergency revenue bill, last of the big measures on the administration program, could be passed tomorrow and house leaders predicted that a conference report on amendments would be ready for disposition in both houses some time Wednesday.

83 PARALYSIS CASES; FEWEST IN TWO WEEKS.

There were eighty-three cases of infantile paralysis in Chicago yesterday, fewer than at any time in the last two weeks. Two patients died and seven were discharged.

Only two new cases were reported, one of a 3 months' old girl near 1300 Wade street, and the other of a boy 2 years old near 1600 Fisk street. Both cases were taken to the county hospital.

GOMPERS LAUDS WILSON; HITS AT NOMINEE HUGHES

Denounces Proposed Legislation to Compel Arbitration; Union Outlook Bright.

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 4.—In a Labor day address here Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, praised President Wilson's administration for its achievement in court in the Danbury hatters' and denounced the decisions of the Supreme court in the Hanbury hatters' and Arizona anti-alien law cases, which he pointed out were participated in by Charles E. Hughes, the Republican presidential nominee.

In a lengthy discussion of the recent railway crisis he defended the attitude of the brotherhoods, and while he praised President Wilson for his efforts to settle the controversy he unqualifiedly denounced any atempt at legislation to compel arbitration.

Eight Hour Day Not Arbitrable.

"The demand of the railroad brotherhoods is a clear cut issue," said he. "They made the simple demand that their lives and their physical well being shall be protected, and that they shall be required to work only such a reasonable period of time as industrial experience has shown to be expedient. For the eight hour principle has been universally accepted by society. The eight hour workman is a better, a more resourceful, a more productive worker than the one who labors long hours.

"The railroad brotherhoods have not refused to accept arbitration. They have declared that the eight hour work day involves a principle of human welfare that cannot be disputed and therefore cannot be arbitrated. They are willing to submit every other issue, all of which are arbitrable, to a mutual satisfactory tribunal.

An Accepted Principle.

"In this position they are in accord with every organization or organism that has ever declared for the principle of arbitration.

"The railroad men have made a virile, straightforward fight, and they deny that railroad presidents or managers ought to be given the special privilege or the advantage that would accrue from compulsory arbitration. Their position is in accord with the position of the American Federation of Labor.

"Compulsory arbitration or so called investigation is simply a way to restrain free necessary action on the part of wage earners and to make them more easily dominated by employers. It only makes the striker a criminal and gives authority for jailing workers who quit work."

T. R. BELABORED BY UNTERMYER

Believes People Have Come to Limit of Patience with Colonel.

ADDS TO MAINE HEAT.

Newfield, Me., Sept. 4.—In an address here tonight, "An Answer to Mr. Roosevelt, 'The Only True American of Us All,'" Samuel Untermyer of New York City added considerable warmth to an otherwise hot campaign in this state by declaring the colonel to be the most intolerant man who has ever appeared in the public life of this nation.

He inquired if the limit of the patient consideration of the American people has not now been reached.

His fiery speech was in reply to the one delivered by Col. Roosevelt at Lewiston, Me., last week.

Says People Forgive T. R.

"In no other country are such bitter vituperation and misrepresentation of public men permitted to go unchecked and unpunished," declared Mr. Untermyer.

"We are not really an ungrateful people; we are in truth at heart kind, tolerant, forgiving, and appreciative. That this is true is abundantly proved by the attitude we have managed to maintain toward the vagaries, recklessness in statement, bad temper, and indiscriminate partisan abuse of public men by Col. Roosevelt since he retired from the presidency.

Limit of Patience Here?

"The Republican party has with forbearance and good nature forgiven him his disloyalty in attempting to destroy it from motives of hatred, revenge, and disappointed ambition, and, stranger still, his actions have been covered by the mantle of charity from our people.

"But has not their limit of patience been reached, with all due allowance for the growing infirmities of temper to which we have become accustomed. I refer, of course, to the unbridled and inexcusable abuse and the unexampled malice and hatred of his successful rival of 1912.

"In all of his long and distinguished public career Col. Roosevelt has not yet learned that invective is not argument. We have never before tolerated an equally intolerant man in the public life of the nation. Every one who differs from him is a liar and every one who questions 'My Policies' is un-American and little short of a traitor."

Painting of Mexico False?

Quoting from the colonel's speech of last week, to the effect that Mr. Wilson has watched the fortunes of the hundreds of Americans killed in Mexico as disinterestedly as if they had been rats pursued by terriers, Mr. Untermyer said:

"Does that appeal to you as a truthful and temperate statement in the light of the anxious days, and months, and years that have been devoted by the president day and night in and out of session to the patient effort to restore peace in Mexico?

"Col. Roosevelt knows that the revolting picture he there draws is cruelly and willfully false."

Tunnel Worker Dies.

Tony Pasquala, 53 years old, a laborer, died in the Park Avenue hospital yesterday of internal injuries suffered in May while working in a tunnel in Blue Island.

SENATOR REED URGES QUIZ OF EIGHT HOUR COST

Asks Senate Investigation as Lewis Assails Hughes for Criticism of Wilson.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—The senate today passed some time considering the controversy between the railroads and their employés, growing out of the demands of the latter for an eight hour day.

Senator Reed of Missouri introduced a resolution directing the interstate commerce commission to investigate the cost of the eight hour day to the carriers and to report its findings to congress on Dec. 1.

The Reed resolution is intended to bring to a head before Jan. 1 any dispute which might result from the administration of the eight hour day by the carriers after Jan. 1, as provided in the Adamson bill.

Lewis Attacks Hughes.

Senator Lewis of Illinois made a speech denouncing Charles E. Hughes because of Mr. Hughes' criticism of the methods employed by President Wilson to settle the strike.

At the White House during the day it was announced that President Wilson on his return tomorrow will again go through the formality of signing the Adamson bill in order that there may be no question regarding its legality.

The fact developed today that Senator James P. Clarke, president pro tempore of the senate and a Democrat, refused positively to attach his name to the eight hour bill and called Senator Hughes of New Jersey to the chair. The latter signed the measure as the senate presiding officer. Senator Clarke voted against the bill.

Union Heads Quit Capital.

While the senate was listening to Senators Reed and Lewis two of the three remaining brotherhood heads departed from the city, President Garretson for his home in Cedar Rapids, Ia., and President Carter of the firemen for his home in Peoria. Warren S. Stone, president of the engineers' brotherhood, leaves tomorrow.

Before leaving President Garretson expressed the belief that the action of congress in legislating the eight hour day in this instance points logically to federal regulation of all railways to the ultimate end of government ownership.

Hughes Is Target.

Senator Lewis of Illinois denounced Candidate Hughes' criticism of the president's Mexican policy and his handling of the strike controversy.

"At St. Louis," Mr. Lewis said, "Mr. Hughes called specific attention to the fact that in the affairs of government we should neither surrender principle to force nor adopt force to enforce a principle; that wherever possible conciliation or arbitration should be resorted to where the principle may be affected by that method.

"These remarks of the eminent candidate were addressed at that time to the Business Men's league of Missouri, a body of men who, it was understood, are of a number who were planning revenge upon President Wilson for having yielded to the force of circumstances and refused to arbitrate the principle of an eight hour day.

Cites G. O. P. Inconstancy.

"Mr. President, I am inviting the attention of this chamber to the fact that this distinguished gentleman who, obeying the instructions of his master spirit, Theodore Roosevelt, in the city of Chicago and in the city of Detroit, denounced Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic party because of the adoption of the theory of arbitration and the principle of conciliation to bring about peace between ourselves and a foreign country and to cement anew the loyalty of our German-American citizens.

"When there is a danger of a break with Germany it is a crime, in the view of Mr. Hughes and Mr. Roosevelt, for Mr. Wilson to adopt arbitration and conciliation; when there is the danger of a railroad strike the theory of arbitration and conciliation is preached by them.

"I could not overlook this peculiar inconsistency by which this eminent candidate presents himself as being for peace or force, depending on what he feels may be the desire or temper of the particular audience before which he stands. Indeed, sir, the scripture is literally fulfilled in his declaration—'all things to all men'; and I may add and anything to anybody who votes anywhere.

Country Again at Peace.

"The strike that hung like an impending disaster over this government is averted; there is no turbulence in bloodshed; there are no deaths in riots. The business of the country is not paralyzed; commerce is not stifled. The affairs of men have not been hindered; there has been no hunger of children; there are no famished women. There is no chaos in the overturned and choked affairs of our nation.

"Our people are, as they have been, enjoying still the inheritance of peace and prosperity, through the sagacious statesmanship and diplomacy of Woodrow Wilson."

Mr. Lewis compared the action of President Wilson in the threatened railway strike to that of President Cleveland in the strike of his administration and Col. Roosevelt in the great coal strike.

Cites T. R. Weakness.

"Let it now be recalled," said he, "that President Roosevelt railied for five months at the fiat of the coal barons of America and refused and shrunk from introducing the power of this government in any form whatever into that then impending conflict."

"Senators will recall," Mr. Lewis continued, "how President Cleveland hesitated, debated, and floundered as to whether he would go with his force or stay, whether he would advance or retreat, whether he would assume to exercise the powers of the federal government or to decline.

"Now, Mr. President, I ask my fellow country men, where is that man who would choose the vacillating and hesitating policy of President Roosevelt or President Cleveland, which brought upon the country the results to which I allude, with all the train of disasters and destruction, of riot, lawlessness, and bloodshed, to that of Woodrow Wilson, which, in its promptness and through the force of conciliation, by the agency of the lawmaking body, has produced the result which we now enjoy."

Scotchman Found Dead in Yards.

COLLEGE GIRL ARRESTED

She Wanted Pretty Clothes for Picnic, but She Earned Only $8 a Week.

Miss Cora Stewart

Miss Cora Stewart, a Delta Phi Gamma sorority girl and a graduate of a woman's college at Ada, O., found herself confronted with the problem of dressing well on $8 a week. She is a member of the Four Corners club, composed of four young women who live on adjacent corners in Hyde Park. The club had planned an outing for Labor day.

"I am Lucy V. Mills," said Miss Stewart as she bustled into the Smart Clothes shop of Mrs. P. Feldman, at 1450 East Fifty-fifth street. "I like the green velour gown in your window. How much is it?"

"Only $25," replied Mrs. Feldman.

"Have you any Central Hyde Park bank checks?"

Mrs. Feldman had the checks and the girl filled one out for $25.

She repeated the performance at Frederich Dale's millinery shop across the street. She was arrested before she reached her lodgings.

Miss Stewart formerly lived with her stepmother at 4201 Lake Park avenue. She left home in a temper three weeks ago and went to live at 1500 Fifty-fourth place. She found work in the bindery of Rogers & Hall at 124 Polk street.

CHICAGO SCHOOLS TO OPEN TODAY WITH HEAVY ROLL

550,000 Children Expected to Start—Doctors Busy Giving Certificates.

The Chicago public and parochial schools will open today. Four hundred thousand children are expected to attend the public, grammar, and high schools, and 150,000 the parochial schools.

Every child must present a certificate of health before being enrolled. Dr. John Dill Robertson, commissioner of public health, said he believed the work of examining the children practically had been completed and all the eligible provided with certificates showing they had no contagious disease and had not been exposed to contagion of any kind for two weeks.

Medical examinations of children have been going on for the last four days. Many children were examined Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. The heaviest day was yesterday. There have been only a few rejections.

Few Cases of Illness.

"Most of the rejections," said Dr. Robertson, "have been for sore throat. Some of the children have had fever. The examinations have proved that the majority of Chicago children have excellent health.

"The plan to examine all children has met with general approval among parents. The certificates will eliminate all danger of contagious maladies from the schools. Healthy children will not undergo the peril of sitting with children who, without knowing it, may bear germs of some fatal disease.

Doctors Do Whirlwind Work.

"I have talked with many practitioners of the city and am able to estimate that most children already have undergone examination. One physician told me he examined 170 during the day. Another had 146, and another 95. The city's 5,000 doctors were busy all day. All with whom I talked said they had pretty well cleaned up their districts.

"No child will be admitted to any school in the city, public or parochial, who does not present a certificate signed by a physician. The 140 physicians in the service of the city will visit every school and collect the certificates. All children who go to school without the proper medical credentials will be sent home."

Kindergartens Open in October.

The kindergartens will not open until October. Because of infantile paralysis, 20,000 little ones will be kept out of school for a month.

One hundred additional teachers will be required this year.

LABOR MEN PRAISE WILSON.

Chicago Federation Sends Congratulations on Stand on Working Day.

Calling the present administration the first that has placed democracy above autocracy, a lengthy telegram was dispatched to President Wilson yesterday by the officials of the Chicago Federation of Labor commending him for his stand on the question of the eight hour day. The message calls Wilson the first president who really has understood the cause of the common people and the first to place human beings above property rights. The telegram was authorized at a meeting on Sunday.

17—COUNT 'EM; ALL WILLING

Nineteenth District Folks Have Nothing to Do Now but Vote.

EVEN THE HORSES HELP

BY JOHN KELLEY.

Seventeen Democrats all in a row,
Running for the legislature, see them go.

That's the refrain they are singing in the Nineteenth senatorial district. The district embraces all or parts of the Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth, Fourteenth, Thirteenth, and Twelfth wards, and the towns of Cicero, Berwyn, and Riverside. There are 222 precincts in the district, with a total vote of about 23,000.

It contains more politicians to the square foot than any other bailiwick in the world. Everybody, men and women alike, are mixed up in politics in the Nineteenth.

It's All They Hear.

They've got to be. Politics is all they hear from morning till night. There's no getting away from it. Even the kids on the street are politicians. Horses that haul the garbage wagons in the Thirteenth ward are in politics, according to Frank McDonald, who served one term in the council.

"When I ran for reelection," said McDonald, "I had the garbage wagons placarded with cloth banners announcing my candidacy. I hope to die if I didn't catch the horses chewing them off. 'Senator' O'Malley, who drove one of the wagons, told me they voted the horses in his precinct."

Some Republicans, Too.

Besides the Democrats who are willing to represent the district in the Illinois assembly, there are a half dozen Republicans with similar aspirations. Two of the Democratic candidates for nomination are at present wearing the toga. One of the Republicans also is a member of the legislature.

The district has a representation of three Democrats and Republicans each will nominate two.

There were eighteen Democrats in the race, but one of them, Walter Sweitzer, a relative of "Bob," pulled out. He is credited with being a "pretty wise Dutchman."

Everybody's Doing It.

As the list now stands, it includes several lawyers, a deputy sheriff, two or three city hall employés, a saloonkeeper, a druggist, and a drug clerk, a couple of real estate dealers, a street car man, and salesmen for electrical goods and typewriter supplies. A voter who can not find a suitable candidate among such a galaxy must indeed be fastidious.

Here is the list of Democrats:

James T. Prendergast,	James D. Mitchell,
Patrick F. Coffey,	James J. Sup,
Maurice T. Cullerton,	Edward T. McCaffrey,
William H. Sage,	James T. Devers,
Joseph T. Friel,	Herbert B. Wolf,
James C. McGloon,	John Augustine,
A. Paul Holleb,	Thomas A. Hogan,
Thomas Joseph Stack,	Walter L. Pietras.
James T. Welch,

Roger Is Neutral.

Roger Sullivan, who resides in the Fourteenth ward and who is said to be interested indirectly in politics, is not boosting anybody so far as the naked eye can discern. Mr. Sullivan would like to see all of them elected from the Nineteenth senatorial district, also the president of the United States, the governor of Illinois, a few United States senators and a bunch of congressmen. The Nineteenth, so Roger says, has not been getting its share of soft jobs.

Ald. Cullerton Helps.

"Morry" Cullerton, who is a nephew of Ald. "Ed" Cullerton, has for his slogan, "An ounce of action is worth a ton of talk." The alderman has been doing some lively campaigning in the interest of his nephew.

"Doc" Sage, whose drug store is at Harrison street and St. Louis avenue, is accused of buying votes by giving away free ice cream sodas.

"The absurdity of this statement is apparent," said the druggist. "Women do not vote for members of the legislature, and the men folk in this neighborhood do not drink ice cream sodas. I want to go to Springfield to give the lawmakers an earful."

"Safety First" Joe Friel denies he is giving away free drinks at his saloon at Harrison street and Crawford avenue. "I never gave away anything in my life. I want to be elected because I need the money. 'Safety first' is my motto."

McGloon and Prendergast, the present Democratic incumbents, are saying nothing but "sawing wood." Sol Roderick, the Republican member, says "one good term deserves another."

LABOR DAY EVENTS

Many Picnics Held Despite Rain—Parade and Speeches in South Chicago.

FIFTY thousand men and women in the ranks of organized labor journeyed out of Chicago yesterday to celebrate Labor day in other cities. Joliet and Peoria held big celebrations, while the only gathering in Chicago which amounted to anything took place in South Chicago, where the annual parade of the South Chicago Labor assembly was held.

Many locals held picnics at groves near the city and good crowds attended these affairs despite the threatening clouds, which turned into rain at noon.

In South Chicago 4,000 men paraded to Lakeside grove, where a basket picnic was held. The principal speakers of the day were State's Attorney Hoyne and Miss Margaret Haley, business agent of the Chicago Teachers' federation.

The more prominent of Chicago's labor leaders all went out of the city on speechmaking trips.

STRIKE SYMPATHIZERS RIOT IN STREETS OF EL PASO.

Railway Traffic Suspended and All Saloons Closed—Gen. Bell Declines to Interfere.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 4.—Riots in which sympathizers in a strike of street railway trainmen participated followed a Labor day parade here today. Several cars were wrecked and their crews attacked. The police appealed to the military, but Gen. George Bell Jr. replied that he was unable to interfere in a civil matter.

Crowds congregated on almost every downtown corner and only dispersed after a score of persons had been arrested.

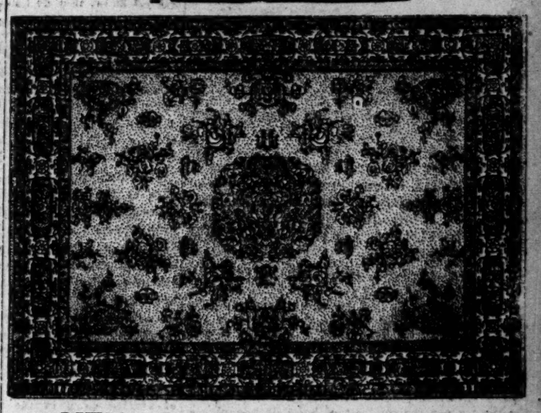

Railway traffic throughout the city was suspended. Tom Lea, mayor, ordered all saloons closed.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

INCREASE THE REGULAR ARMY FOR BORDER WORK.

When President Wilson called out the national guard he gave the impression that there was immediate danger of conflict That the president really believed such to be the case may be inferred to be drawn from the fact that he overruled the plan of the general staff to have the troops trained and equipped at army posts and instead rushed them untrained and unequipped to the border.

Months have gone by and the only question at issue between this country and Mexico appears to be the extent of our backdown—the date of Pershing's retreat. Yet no limit is placed upon the time the guardsmen are to be held in service. They remain on the border, receiving such partial training as can be given them under unfavorable conditions.

With no military crisis visible, the guardsmen are becoming anxious to return to their jobs, and this, despite the slurs of those who have given up neither the income nor the comforts of home, is becoming a matter of growing seriousness.

Thousands of homes all over the north are doing without many comforts. Thousands of young men are wondering how they will resume their interrupted civil pursuits. Millions of citizens in and out of the army are beginning to philosophise about the penalties of patriotism.

It may well be that, hampered by Washington instructions, the regular army at its present size cannot defend the Mexican border from marauders. It may be that to maintain the policy of "watchful waiting" 100,000 men are needed on the Mexican border. If so, these men should be hired for that duty with a clear understanding of the duty required and the remuneration to be received. This may be an acknowledgment that the Hay bill was faulty legislation, but that fact can no longer be concealed.

The time has come for the immediate increase of the regular army. The retention of the national guard on the Mexican border to do watchmen's duty, practically without pay, is ruining thousands upon thousands of young men. It will lead to the disintegration of the national guard, because men cannot afford to be members of that organization at such sacrifice.

With the national guard destroyed the country will be deprived of such partial means of defense as it has hitherto enjoyed and our condition will pass from precarious to desperate.

Congress should not fail to act upon this military crisis before adjournment.

In view of the fact that congress is dominated by the south and that the southern states are not furnishing the troops for border duty, the initiative in this matter might well come from the minority.

JAMES R. MANN.

Congressman Mann's record in the house of representatives is one of consistent usefulness and it entitles him to renomination by the Republicans of the Second congressional district. Mr. Mann has ways which occasionally are provoking, but it is a real indication of his genius for painstaking direction of legislation that people familiar with the way in which his ability is used never have any reluctance in indorsing him.

His comprehension of the detail of legislation is a cause of astonishment in the house of representatives itself. It comes from the most painstaking study of matters before congress. Many times it is due entirely to Mann's alertness that bills are effectively directed to their purpose.

The Democratic leadership treats him with consideration which mixes respect for his ability in controversy with respect for his ability in constructive work. The opposition is benefited by this latter ability and frequently acknowledges a debt to the Republican leader.

It is a fortunate district which can send a man of national importance to Washington. If Mann were defeated the affairs of the nation would be the worse off. This year the wet and dry issue has been raised in his district and Mann is accused of being indifferent on the subject of national prohibition, if not opposed to it.

Mann's district is classified as dry, but it will be apparent to any Republican in the district that the issue of national prohibition is not being fought out there and that it would be unwise to determine the importance of this congressman's service upon such an issue.

WHY COLLEGE BOYS FIRST?

The mustering out of college men in the mobilized national guard is one of the eccentricities of the war department which it would be interesting to have explained.

The department only the other day declared that the guard is on the border because it is needed there, and within a week the troops of three states hitherto not represented in the field have been ordered to the southwest. These troops and those already on the border number hundreds, if not thousands, of married men, many of whom, while not within the rule releasing those who have families entirely dependent upon them, are making much greater sacrifices than any college student is making.

It should be said that the college boys, if left to their own choice, would not desert their comrades, but would cheerfully accept the delay in their schooling or other consequences which remaining with the colors entails. It is simply a piece of the administration's wisdom, consistent with its support of the volunteer fallacy and its failure to appreciate the injustice worked upon the older men, who ought to be at home while youths who have no family or business commitments serve the country.

WAR AND THE WEATHER.

Some time after the civil war there appeared a little book called "War and the Weather" in which the author tried to make good his thesis that the concussions of musketry and artillery really resulted in affecting weather conditions. The data from which he wrote were not scientific, but so well did it appeal to the uninformed public that congress was actually induced to appropriate $10,000 for experiments to determine whether rain could be made to fall by the use of explosives.

One does not have to t o.l t. remember the campaign which was carried on commercially in the arid states by men with gunpowder, dynamite, and various patent devices by which they sought to get money from the farmers. It is hardly necessary to say that no one in the government weather bureau gave credence to these schemes, but the idea is not dead even yet.

It has been thought by many that our unusually rainy spring and early summer was the result of the cannonading in Europe, although those who believe this do not explain the intense heat and rainlessness of the later months. Any who have doubts about this matter would do well to read in the September Atlantic Monthly an article on the subject by an official forecaster. Meteorology has made vast strides in the last forty years, and although there are many things about the weather which expert forecasters do not yet know, they do know that the old idea about artillery causing showers is not true.

"BREAKING DOWN" MEXICO.

In a national campaign national committees, which are the governing bodies of national parties, issue futile things called text books. They make it a point to be so less readable than a hardware catalog that the latter in comparison seems as Othello to something The Duchess wrote.

The Democratic text book is out for the guidance of the small spellbinder who will endeavor to compete against the real art of the ventriloquist in the small town square by night, when the ventriloquist will try to sell a comparatively harmless corn salve and the Democratic spellbinder will endeavor to get by with a really harmful political quackery.

Pill No. 1, to be taken as often as needed, as prescribed by the Democratic national committee, is intended to relieve that tired feeling which arises from the Mexican situation. Old Doc Democracy knows that there is a tired feeling, a sort of bearing down in the back and general pains, reaching down the legs and up the shoulders, a sort of dizziness in the head and spells of not knowing where you are, of feeling that you're on your way without knowing where you're going. The symptoms may be acute. You may arise in the morning with a bad taste in your mouth and the consciousness of an uneasy night, your recollection filled with bits of disturbing dreams of people being killed.

For this feeling you take Pill No. 1. If old Doc Democracy can get you away from the ventriloquist, after he ceases to make the black baby talk and begins to sell corn salve, the old doc will offer you this pill and three of them will cure the worst case—or kill it.

What old Doc Democracy has done for Mexico and to the United States was done in the spirit of love. The doc loves his fellow man. You must understand this before you take the pill or it will do you no good. If you understand that the doc is just one fountain of love for his fellow man you can take the pill and benefit therefrom. Otherwise no cure guaranteed. If you are not cured it is because you do not like humanity.

For the sake of humanity the United States has made war twice on Mexico and has been defeated both times, twice in the term of the present administration. American troops have been stopped twice, after they had been sent to do something which they did not do. The Mexicans, not being accustomed to taking old Doc Democracy's pills, resented the presence of foreign troops and stopped them.

The latest defeat was at Carrizal. It was a regular, well proportioned defeat. We may not appreciate that fact, but the Mexicans do. A Mexican order to a Mexican commander ran counter to an American order to an American commander. The Mexican commander tried to do what he was told to do. The American commander tried to do what he was told to do. The Mexican succeeded. The American did not.

The American did not because the pill doctors would not let him. They permitted him to accept defeat, and it now is explained that the only object the United States has in Mexico is to "break down" bad governments. We are not intervening. We merely go in once in a while with armed forces and try to break something down. Now it is Huerta, now it is Villa. We break them down. Then we back out and wait until they set something else up. Then we go in again, with our army full of love of humanity, and break something else down.

Take Pill No. 1 and it becomes very simple. You understand that from time to time we must send armed forces into Mexico to break something down, to be defeated, to crawl out, to increase Mexican disrespect for the United States, to kill American soldiers, and to promote the cause of humanity.

You may understand this, but it requires the aid of a pill.

Editorial of the Day.

THE REAL SERVICE OF MR. HUGHES.

[From the Independent.]

And now Mr. Hughes is a national figure. If he is elected president he, too, will blunder. But if we mistake not he will add something to our moral heritage that no one else has yet given—the conscience of the engineer, the feeling that in public matters at least inefficiency is a mortal and not a venial sin. His criticisms of the tariff policy and of the foreign policy of the present administration might have been made by any one; right or wrong, they are not his individual contribution to American politics. But in singling out for special emphasis in his speech of acceptance something so remote and colorless to the average citizen as a national budget Mr. Hughes placed the community under an enormous debt to his courage and insight. These administrative reforms which seem so dull are really more important to our national welfare than half the party creeds on protection, preparedness, dissolution of the trusts, the retention or relinquishment of the Philippines, and other topics that easily attract the voter's attention and enlist his enthusiasm. The simple fact is that our government, superior to the political systems of other countries in a thousand other ways, is by European standards glaringly inefficient; that we waste hundreds of millions of dollars every year by the spoils system, the pork barrel, and by sheer slovenliness of congressional procedure, and that the time is fast coming when our surplus wealth will no longer serve as an offset to our unscientific public methods. And we are glad to see that Mr Hughes is really rousing the nation to meet these unpalatable truths and that he is making efficient administration as popular a slogan as Mr. Bryan ever did peace, or Mr. Rosevelt reform, or Mr. Taft internationalism, or Mr. Wilson humanity.

HOME.

(Louis Untermeyer in September Poetry.)

Is it a tribute or betrayal when,
Turning from all the sweet, accustomed ways,
I leave your lips and eyes to seek you in
Some other face?

Why am I searching after what I have,
And going far to find the near at hand?
I do not know—I only know I crave
To find you at the end.

I only know that Love has many a hearth,
That Hunger has an endless path to roam,
And Beauty is the dream that drives the earth
And leads me home.

"AM I missing anything by not reading the Russians?" a correspondent inquired t'other day. A difficult question to answer, as we are not a handwriting expert, but we hasarded an affirmative reply. The Russians, it may be said without f. o. s. c., are worth reading; perhaps they are worth re-reading, although we have never been impelled to return—with the exception of Turgenef.

THERE is a lot of first-rate humor in Russian literature. For the benefit of the few who are not familiar with Tchekoff we will split an amusing sketch into a four-part serial:

A HORSEY NAME.

(Anton Tchekoff, "Russian Silhouettes.")

MAJOR GENERAL BULDEEFF was suffering from toothache. He had rinsed his mouth with vodka and cognac; applied tobacco ashes, opium, turpentine, and kerosene to the aching tooth; rubbed his cheek with iodine, and put cotton wool soaked with alcohol into his ears, but all these remedies had either failed to relieve him or else had made him sick. The dentist was sent for. He picked at his tooth and prescribed quinine, but this did not help the General. Buldeeff met the suggestion that the tooth should be pulled with refusal. Every one in the house, his wife, his children, the servants, even Petka, the scullery boy, suggested some remedy. Among others his steward, Ivan Evceitch, came to him, and advised him to try a conjuror. "Your Excellency," said he, "ten years ago an exciseman lived in this county whose name was Jacob. He was a first-class conjuror for the toothache. He used simply to turn toward the window and spit, and the pain would go in a minute. That was his gift."

"Where is he now?"

"After he was dismissed from the revenue service he went to live in Saratoff with his mother-in-law. He makes his living off nothing but teeth now. If any one has a toothache he sends for him to cure it. The Saratoff people have him come to their houses, but he cures people in other cities by telegraph. Send him a telegram, your Excellency; say, 'I, God's servant, Alexi, have the toothache. I want you to cure me.' You can send him his fee by mail."

"Stuff and nonsense! Humbug!"

"Just try it, your Excellency! He is fond of vodka, it is true, and is living with some German woman instead of his wife, and he uses terrible language, but he is a remarkable wonder worker."

WITH four gold pens His Nibs marked an epoch, which, later, the Supreme court may unmark.

NOTES FROM RIO GRANDE.

MAJ. ORR of the First cavalry, Illinois national guard, writes the following concerning health conditions in his regiment:

"There is and has been no typhoid fever. The men have been away from home two months. The contrast in this particular between 1898 and 1916 is almost unbelievable. The reasons for the freedom from typhoid are twofold. First, the men are vaccinated against typhoid. The drinking water is chlorinated.

"We have had water troubles, lately, too. The Rio Grande rose so high and became so muddy that the plant clogged and, without further ado, they pumped us river water direct. It was so thick that our hypochlorite would not work. So we have been boiling everything and will continue for some days yet. Just at that time we have issued the new Lyster bags, with hypochlorite put up in tubes."

The Lyster bag with hypochlorite in tubes is an arrangement for sterilizing water very well adapted to troops in the field, bridge gangs, construction camps, and large camping parties generally. When water is very muddy considerable quantities of hypochlorite can be added to it without giving it a chlorine taste.

"Today only four men, out of 1,150, are in quarters, off duty on account of illness," the letter continues. "It is wonderful what this out of door stuff does to colds. At this moment I cannot remember having seen a single cold since we arrived." (When men first go into tents a certain number contract colds through being chilled. Shortly threafter every one seems to become practically immune to colds.)

"In the last ten days we have had three cases of dengue. There is still plenty of it in town. Our first case was typical of the method of transmission. The wife of one trooper came to live in Brownsville. In about a week she had dengue. In another week the trooper developed dengue, so we kept him in his own house. None of the cases, so far, have been very sick, not even as severe as grippe. No swelling of the joints and prostration not very marked. It should be called tropical grippe. I suspect we will have it from time to time, but we are bearing down hard on the mosquito net provisions.

"A few nights ago we held a midnight inspection of nets. Of our 1,150 troopers, twenty-five were not using mosquito nets. They were given extra duty, and the next time we will recommend the guardhouse. We insist on the skirt of the net being tucked in under the blanket. The nets issued by the United States are excellent. They are made so that one will completely screen a pup tent. The men on outpost duty out in the woods and fields wear headgear and gloves.

"No new venereal cases have been discovered yet."

The provisions against venereal diseases are those in use in the regular army. This report is vastly different from the 1898 reports.

CHILD IS VERY BACKWARD.

Mrs. D. A. P. writes: "Wish you would kindly tell me your opinion of my child's case. She will be 3 years old Nov. 1. She has never spoken a word, but can laugh and cry aloud. Did not walk alone until last February and never stood alone until over a year old. She seems to be very nervous and has very little use of herself, such as feeding herself with a spoon or getting up when she falls. When she was three months old she had pneumonia; at five months colitis, from which her eyes were left in a terribly crossed condition, but are getting better each day. She was a bottle baby, on Eagle brand milk, also Horlick's malted milk. She is awfully fat and in fine health now. I have had her examined, but don't seem to get any satisfaction.

"Could it be that her backwardness is caused from sickness?"

REPLY.

It is possible that your child is backward as the result of illness. It is probable that that is not the case. She may be deaf or the trouble may be with her mind. Have a child specialist find out which condition is present.

GOITRE.

G. O. S. writes: "I have a girl friend, 22 years of age, who has what appears to be a goiter. It is not very large now; in fact, it is just noticeable, though when a small girl it was considerably larger.

"Is it curable and how? If not, what should be done to keep it from getting larger? Is there any possibility of it getting worse if the party marries? What manner of living should one follow?"

REPLY.

It appears that this thyroid is getting along all right and will need no especial attention. A person with a tendency to goiter should lead a very hygienic life. Infection of the tonsils causes the thyroid to enlarge. Therefore, the tonsils should be kept in good condition and colds should be guarded against. Extra care must be taken to eat properly in every particular. The bowels must be regular. Infection and other diseases of the sex organs must be guarded against. Marriage will not affect the thyroid gland unfavorably.

NO SUCH DISEASE.

REPLY.

No.

BRAN INSTEAD OF CEREAL.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1916: By the Brentwood Co.]

LIEUT. EDRIC WOLSELEY, who has been serving at the front in France since the beginning of the war as a cavalry subaltern, and who is half American, has just been married in London to Miss Claire de Trafford, daughter of Charles and Lady Agnes de Trafford of Hothorpe, Rugby, granddaughter of the late Earl of Denbigh, while her father's elder brother is Sir Humphrey de Trafford, head of one of the oldest houses in the United Kingdom.

The bridegroom's American blood comes to him through his mother, who was Miss Anita Murphy of San Francisco, sister of Daniel Murphy of that city and daughter of the late Daniel T. Murphy, a leading merchant of California, who received a marquisate from the papacy.

Edric Wolseley has made frequent and prolonged stays in the United States, mostly on the Pacific coast, with relatives of his mother. He is the eldest son and heir to the baronetcy and estates of Sir Charles Michael Wolseley, head of the entire house of Wolseley, and to which Sir Capel Wolseley and the Viscountess Wolseley, only daughter and heiress to the honors of the late Field Marshal Wolseley, also belong.

Sir Charles can show the inheritance of his present estates, including Wolseley hall, in Staffordshire, in an unbroken male line for a period long anterior to the Norman conquest. In fact, the estates have never left the possession of the Wolseley family since they were bestowed, according to historic records, by King Edgar, upon a certain Siwardus for his services in connection with the extermination of the wolves in England.

It is on this account that a wolf's head figures on the armorial bearings of the Wolseleys and that the wolf also appears in the family motto, which is "Homo homini lupus" [Man is a wolf to his fellow man], a singularly appropriate motto for a family which has furnished so many soldiers to the state as the Wolseleys.

The name of the land granted by King Edgar to Siwardus, the founder of the family, was Wiselei, and in consequence thereof, the grantee styled himself Siwardus of Wiselei, which in course of time became corrupted into Wolseley. In the reign of Edward IV., the owner of the Wolseley property in Staffordshire caused a portion of his lands there to be inclosed for use as a deer park.

Sir Charles, who is a Roman Catholic, can show on the distaff side a descent from Lionel, Duke of Clarence, second son of Edward III. He was educated at the Roman Catholic college of Oscott, and afterwards went to Oxford, whence he entered the army as a Lancer officer, distinguishing himself in the Afghan war under Lord Roberts, in 1879.

As for young Edric Wolseley's bride, her family, that of the De Traffords, rivals the Wolseleys in antiquity. For its head, her uncle Sir Humphrey, is twenty-ninth in uninterrupted line of male descent from the founder of his house, Randulphus de Trafford, whose name figures in ancient records still extant as having flourished in the reign of King Canute, the Dane, and as having died about twenty years before the Norman conquest, nine centuries ago.

His son, Robert de Trafford, figured at the court of King Edward the Confessor, and according to tradition, hid all his money, jewels, and other valuables under the floor of a barn at Trafford, when the Norman conquerors invaded Lancashire. In order to avert suspicion from the hiding place, he set his men to thrashing corn on the floor of the barn, beneath which his valuables were hidden. The ruse proved successful, and is commemorated to this day by the thrashing flail which figures in the armorial bearings of the De Traffords.

From that time until about twenty years ago the Traffords made their home at Trafford park, in Lancashire, a grand old place, standing in a magnificent park, with a frontage of about three miles on the Manchester ship canal.

One of the features of Trafford park at the time of its sale by Sir Humphrey to the Hooley & Rucker Cycle syndicate was its clock tower, or rather the clock itself, which had this peculiarity: that when all the other clocks in Manchester, near by, were striking one, it would strike thirteen. It seems that one day the father of Sir Humphrey noted that the haymakers were still idling over their midday meal at 1:15. They declared that they had not heard the clock strike. The old baronet retorted that they should not have any excuse of this character in future, and from the following day forth the close of the dinner hour in the middle of the day was announced by thirteen strokes of the clock.

The new knights of the kaiser's Order of the Iron Cross include Herr von Gwinner, who is probably the ablest of German financiers, and at the head of the greatest financial institution in Germany, namely, the Deutsche bank. He takes a very gloomy view of the situation, judging from a letter addressed to one of his nephews in the field, and which has been published in the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger and in a number of other equally authoritative German papers.

It is amazing that the censor should have allowed it to appear, especially at this time, when Herr von Gwinner and his fellow financiers are using all their endeavors to persuade the German people to subscribe to the new and fifth German war loan. After declaring that Russia, Great Britain, and France could all stop the war if they wished to do so, he goes on to say:

"But we, my dear nephew, cannot have peace, although we want it. Imagine to yourself our being compelled to stop the war because the German people were tired of it, and the war loans could no longer be placed. Even that would not bring this war to an end.

"I do not know whether you have had an occasional opportunity to see something of the foreign newspapers. In them you could read every day what the intentions of our enemies are. . . . From English, Russian, and French newspapers, as well as from the letters that are captured, we learn that the soil of Germany is to be divided up, East Prussia going to Russia, the left bank of the Rhine to France, and Schleswig-Holstein to Denmark. A London financial paper declared recently that Germany would have to pay a war indemnity of fifteen billions of pounds [$75,000,000,000]. That would be the whole wealth of the nation.

"So you see, my dear Karl, what our prospects will be if we are not able to continue the war to a victorious end. It would mean complete ruin for poor and rich, destruction of German trade and German industry, the smashing up of the empire, the disappearance of opportunities for labor, and the subjection to a foreign yoke. Now you will understand why we must fight, suffer, and pay, to the last man and to the last penny."

BURNED IN WAREHOUSE.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—I have a fire insurance policy on household goods which was originally written in Chicago. I have moved several times, the company being duly notified each time, except the last, several months ago, when the goods were placed in a storage warehouse in Indianapolis, Ind. The warehouse burned down and my goods were totally destroyed. Can the company refuse payment on the ground that as its permission had not been obtained the policy did not cover the goods while in the warehouse, or can they only scale down the face value of the policy [$1,000] in proportion to the higher premium which might be due on goods in a storage warehouse? A claim was put in about two weeks ago, but I have not received any reply as yet. The company's headquarters are in Indianapolis. FRANK THALE.

It is altogether likely that your policy insured your household goods only in the place described in the last removal permit. It is a universal practice to restrict fire insurance on household goods to a designated place by using the words "while contained in" the premises described in the policy. When insured property is removed from the place described it goes out from under the protection of the policy unless a removal permit or indorsement is attached to the instrument.

If by chance your policy does not limit the insurance to a specific location you may still be unable to recover for your loss. The standard policy provides that the insurance shall cease if the hazard be increased by any means within the control or knowledge of the insured, and the fact that the premium was higher in the warehouse indicates that the hazard there was greater than in the location indicated in the policy.

There is no scaling down of fire insurance policies to take care of increased hazard. An increase of hazard without the consent of the insurance company invalidates the insurance.

CANCELED HIS POLICY.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—I am a policy holder in a legal reserve life insurance company. At the time I received the policy in July, 1915, I made a payment of one annual premium of $93.30. On the first anniversary of the policy I forwarded my check for the second annual premium. They returned same, with the notice from the company my policy had been canceled, giving as the reason that they had received only a six months' payment instead of a full year. I would thank you for your advice as to how to proceed in order to protect my insurable interest. MRS. JOHNSON.

If the company has an office in Chicago, take your receipt to the general agent or manager and state the facts, and at the same time tender the second premium. If it has no office in the city, write out a statement of the facts and a copy of the receipt and send them to the home office of the company with the check for the second premium, giving the name of the agent to whom you paid the first premium. There is probably no company that will not adjust the matter promptly when it learns the facts. You should, however, first examine your policy, as there may have been a misunderstanding. The policy will show whether the $93.30 is an annual or a semi-annual premium. You should act promptly.

UNLIMITED POLICY.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—Is there a standard or recognized insurance company that will insure women, both for health and accident? I want to get into a company that doesn't specify why and how you were hurt. I am willing to pay the price for the good policy. Any information will be greatly appreciated.

WILLIAM E. FORDE.

P. S.—I want to have my sister insured, if possible.

A large number of insurance companies will issue accident and health policies to women who earn wages or have independent incomes. A few will write women who have no separate incomes. Apparently what you want is an unlimited policy, that is, one that does not limit the insurance to certain classes of accidents or diseases. It is doubtful if any company will issue a policy that does not except diseases peculiar to women.

SAVING AGENT'S COMMISSION.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—I wish to buy an insurance policy of $1,000, but I would like to take the policy direct from a company so as to save the agent's commission. Could you suggest how I could secure a life insurance policy without an agent's help? M. K.

We know of no company that will allow an applicant for insurance the amount of commission saved by dealing directly with the company.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

NO DISRESPECT FOR THE FLAG.

Lake Geneva, Wis., Sept. 1.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In your issue of Aug. 29, 1916, there appeared an article written by Mr. G. W. Anderson of Joliet, Ill., entitled, "The Flag at Lake Geneva." He claims that a picture of several Lake Geneva recruits holding the American flag, appearing in your paper of recent date, represents the ceremony of lowering the colors, and, without investigating his supposition, he expresses indignation in such a way as to reflect on the discipine of this camp.

The picture referred to is not a picture of the lowering of the colors. Neither is it a picture of the hoisting of the colors. It is a picture taken the first day of the camp by the DAILY TRIBUNE photographer and represents most informally and unofficially a group of young girls around the flag. The picture was taken 3 p. m. Aug. 15, one hour before the flag was officially hoisted to mark the opening of the camp. Furthermore, both the hoisting and lowering of the colors are done by two men regularly enlisted in the United States navy, one being a chief quartermaster. The recruits act as full guard at the ceremony. C. F. MARTIN, Ensign, U. S. A.

REAL IRISH SENTIMENT.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—A delightful anecdote which Mrs. Frank Harris tells about the mother of Sergt. Leary and which she calls the "real Irish sentiment," is the following:

When the famous soldier returned on a furlough to his native village in Ireland the mayor, the councillors, the judges, in short, the entire population waited at the station for him. Included in the group was Leary's venerable mother. When her boy alighted from the train he greeted Mrs. Leary affectionately and showed her the Victoria cross and medals pinned upon his breast. "Of course you know why I got these?" he asked her proudly. "Sure I do," replied the old Irish woman. "You got them medals for licking those dirty English."

BUSES FOR SOUTH PARKS.

National Service Camp No. 3, Lake Geneva, Wis., Sept. 1.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—If the people of the south side desiring the extension of the motor bus service to that side of the city would write to that effect to Judge Payne, president of the south park commission, it would greatly facilitate obtaining such service at an early date, as the president's contention is that the people of the south side have not as yet sufficiently manifested their desire for such service. Such letters should be addressed to the president of the south park commission, Chicago, Ill., and we hope many letters advocating this service will be sent by progressive Chicagoans.

TREATMENT OF CHILD PATIENTS.

Wilmette, Ill., Sept. 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—We have noticed on several occasions that the health officers have resorted to force in order to remove children afflicted with infantile paralysis from their home to hospital. These drastic measures fail absolutely to accomplish the desired result. They sacrifice a sick child to protect the public instead of protecting both the patient and the public.

They can offer the little patient no scientific treatment because serums and antitoxins are sometimes impossible to get even if the physician in charge has any faith in them. Nature alone, combined with loving, intelligent care, must win or lose the fight. How can a homesick child, pining for its mother in its hour of suffering, hope to win out? Thinking people know the effect of the child's mind on its physical condition. A healthy child can become ill solely from homesickness. These radical measures, resorted to in many cases, minimize beyond measure the child's chances of recovery.

MRS. C. P. DUBBS.

CHICAGO THE SUMMER RESORT.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Regarding your recent editorial on "Chicago as a Summer Resort," advocating that some organization in Chicago establish a department for the purpose of advertising Chicago's facilities, I want you to know that this matter has been jarred into attention by your editorial.

The Advertising Association of Chicago is acting upon your suggestion, and a committee is being formed of experienced advertising managers to take this matter up and see it through.

President S. De Witt Clough is selecting members for the committee at the present time. The purpose of the committee will be to conduct a campaign of education to disclose the resources of Chicago and its environments, for the purpose not only of deriving material benefit to the city but, as you so splendidly suggest in your editorial, for the additional purpose of toning up the spirit of the community itself, developing our own enjoyment in what we have and stimulating a wholesome pride in the city.

MR. CHRISTGAU'S PLATFORM.

Glen Ellyn, Ill., Sept. 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Some people in my district have the idea I am against the saloons because the Anti-Saloon league has endorsed me. The truth of the matter is that as a candidate for the legislature I am not against saloons but for democracy. As a candidate for the Democratic nomination for representative I favor democratic principles. Accordingly, I have expressed myself in favor of county option, woman suffrage, search and seizure, and a vote by the people on the question of a constitutional convention. All of these proposed measures are purely democratic. O. G. CHRISTGAU.

STATE URGED TO PRESS PURSUIT OF VICE KINGS

Friends of Former Investigator Want Slugger Suspects Quizzed.

State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne has taken a hand in investigating the assault on Israel Buckowsky, former assistant city morals inspector, which took place Thursday morning in the Twenty-second street district.

Before Mr. Hoyne left town a few days ago he assigned Assistant State's Attorney William Duval to handle the case. Yesterday some of Buckowsky's friends, taking their cue from the interview printed in THE TRIBUNE, requested Assistant State's Attorney Johnston to use his efforts to get a confession out of Thomas Enright and John Brady, the two men arrested for the assault.

Accuses Vice Lords.

Buckowsky told THE TRIBUNE he believed the vice lords hired sluggers to get rid of him. He said he would be willing to let Enright and Brady go free if they revealed the names of the "men higher up."

Mr. Johnston will confer with Mr. Duval about the case today. Although no announcement was made, it was learned that the state's attorney's office is planning to question Enright and Brady. An offer of immunity may be tendered them on condition they turn state's evidence.

The state's attorney's office is also planning to get a full statement from Buckowsky as to conditions in the Twenty-second street district and circumstances leading up to the attack on the investigator.

Suspect Labor Slugging.

While Buckowsky attributes the assault to the vice interests, one of his friends has a theory that the sluggers may have thought he was working for a taxi company that is having labor difficulties.

Buckowsky's physician, Dr. W. S. White, said yesterday he would have an X-ray taken of the wound in the investigator's head as soon as he is strong enough to be moved from the house.

DETECTIVE'S MEMORY FOR FACES TRAPS WANTED MAN.

Charles Butcher, Held on Girl's Charge, Identified by Pictures as Safeblower in Postoffice.

Charles Butcher, who was held to the grand jury on Saturday in bonds of $5,000 on a serious charge, was identified yesterday through photographs in the bureau of identification as a safeblower wanted for wrecking a postoffice safe at Durant, Ia., Oct. 14, 1915. The police said he was taken into custody in 1912 on suspicion of being connected with the bank robbers who stole $272,000 from a branch of the Bank of Montreal at New Westminster, B. C.

Under the alias of George Walton he was arrested on Saturday on complaint of Hazel Hutchinson, 10 years old, 5034 Cottage Grove avenue.

Walton is said to have enticed the girl into Washington park and attempted to mistreat her. He was seen in his cell by Detective Sergt. Edward P. Burns, who formerly spent many years at the detective bureau. Something in the face of the prisoner attracted his attention and he went to the bureau of identification and found his record.

BOO!

It's Just a Merry Little Joke Incident to Seventy-First Street Carnival.

Residents in the vicinity of Oakwoods cemetery sat up with a start last night when their attention was attracted in the direction of the "gravy yard." There were gleaming white ghostlike forms teetering here and there and then gliding off into some murky blackness.

More than one shriek of fright arose as it became evident that the sheeted dead were arising and marching off to some indefinite place. But the fear passed quietly when the cause of the spirit procession became known.

It was the "ghost dance" of the Seventy-first Street Business Men's association carnival. In chalky white shrouds were the Misses Anna Clark, Mabel Nannery, Elizabeth Nannery, Julia Coye, Ruth O'Toole, Winifred Bolger, and a merry crew of their girl friends in costumes befitting the vicinity of the city of the dead.

Miss O'Toole is carnival queen. The whole neighborhood is celebrating with the business men.

'SMASH SLATES,' CHICAGO WAR CRY OF INDEPENDENTS

Provine Turns Heavy Guns on 'Machine' Candidates in G. O. P. Races.

Independents—the nonslate Republican candidates for state offices—have swooped on Chicago and some of them are making it intensely uncomfortable for their opponents who happen to have secured the indorsement of one or the other of the fighting Chicago factions.

The war cry of these candidates is "smash the machines." For attorney general and for secretary of state, in particular, the field of primary candidates is so large and of such fighting stock that the windup of the campaign finds contests for these offices just a shade behind the governorship in popular political interest. Nearly all Republican candidates, including governorship starters, will be at the Kankakee fair tomorrow for a last big splurge.

Walter M. Provine, downstate candidate for attorney general, who didn't get on the Deneen slate, opened hostilities last night with a statement which reflects in large measure expressions heard from all candidates who are not backed by either the city hall-neutral or the Deneen-Progressive combinations.

Provine Declares War.

Mr. Provine's declaration of war follows:

"I have just finished my speaking campaign downstate and find the independent voters will nominate the ticket Sept. 13. I am going to get the bulk of this vote. If I am defeated it will have to be done with Cook county votes.

"I have come to make my appeal to the independent voter. I am asking for the O. K. of no machine boss. I have seen in the past what the independent voter of Chicago can do when stirred to action. They have smashed political machines before and if I read the signs aright, they are preparing to send some new ones to the scrap heap on primary day."

Keys on State Funds.

George E. Keys, candidate for state treasurer against Len Small, issued this statement from his Great Northern hotel headquarters:

"As a candidate for state treasurer I wish it understood that in my capacity as treasurer, I will show no favoritism in depositing state funds. I am interested in no chain of banks and no director, stockholder, or other officer of the Farmers' National Bank of Springfield, of which I am vice president, is interested in any outside bank. I will, if elected state treasurer, place public funds in the several counties of the state."

CANDIDATES ASK FOR LABOR VOTE

Make Hay on Toilers' Holiday—Smith Hurls Question at Hull.

PRAISE FOR THE UNIONS

"If Senator Hull thinks he has a chance to be nominated for governor, why doesn't he resign from the state senate and give his people in the Hyde Park district a chance to elect his successor and save the cost of a special election?"

Frank L. Smith fired this question at Senator Hull last night, adding one more interrogation to the flock that have been turned loose by the three Republican candidates for governor.

Since no candidate answers the questions that another propounds, Col. Smith answered the Hull interrogatory himself thus:

"The answer is plain. He knows that he is to be sacrificed on primary day and that he will run a poor third."

Appeals to Organized Labor.

Senator Hull celebrated Labor day by issuing an appeal to organized labor to support him, and then went into South Chicago, where he directed a major attack upon Col. Lowden for his connection with the Pullman company.

Col. Lowden participated in the Republican Labor day outing at Riverview park, where he made a speech in which he gave specific praise to labor unions, indicated some of their triumphs, and pleaded for inviolability of contracts by both labor and capital.

"Lowden Losing Fast"—Smith.

Col. Smith amplified his remarks as to Senator Hull with this statement as to the condition of the campaign, as it enters the final week of battling:

"All reports from every source show that Col. Lowden is losing strength fast. He has depended upon the Lundin-Thompson-Lincoln league machine to put him over, and the machine isn't equal to the job. The voters know what the primary law is for and how to use it. Lowden's own supporters and backers know better than any others that he is slipping. They have called out the reserves and are making desperate efforts to keep up a front, but that is all there is left of their campaign.

"The reports concerning Senator Hull's campaign are more conclusive than they are about Lowden's. They don't show he is slipping, because he never got a start. To go backward a candidate must have at some time gone forward, and that is just what Senator Hull has never done."

Hull Assails Pullman Company.

Senator Hull in his South Chicago speech said:

"What would be Mr. Lowden's official attitude toward the working men and women of Illinois if he were elected governor?

"The Pullman company, of which Mr. Lowden is listed as a director, has not been zealous to promote the interests of its employés.

"Reports of the Illinois state public utilities commission and the federal commission on industrial relations show:

"That the average wage of the Pullman company's 21,000 employés in the United States, including salaries of the high paid executive officer is $2 a day.

"That porters are paid $27.50 a month, without board.

"Is this Mr. Lowden's standard of work and wages for Illinois?"

In his Riverview park speech Col. Lowden said:

We are going to have captains of industry and captains of labor. We cannot abolish them. Instead of railing the one at the other let all, irrespective of class, avail themselves of the service each must render and coöperate to the end that we may deprive both of any power for ill.

"While there have been abuses traceable to labor unions, as wise labor leaders admit, labor unions have accomplished an infinite amount of good."

ELDERLY MAN KILLED ALIGHTING FROM CAR.

One Dead and Many Injured in Labor Day Motor Accidents—Son Sees Father Struck.

Erick Edgren, 60 years old, 1931 Kimball avenue, was fatally injured by an automobile truck while alighting from a street car at Armitage and Kimball avenues yesterday.

The truck belonged to Toll Brothers' laundry, 1719 Augusta street, and was driven by J. W. Mueller, 4129 North Crawford avenue. The police say Mueller drove his truck past the rear end of the street car, and they arrested the driver.

The old man was run over before the eyes of his son, Frank.

Four riders in the race of 100 members of the South Side Cycle club to Blue Island and back were injured in a collision at Birdsal street and Western avenue, Blue Island. They collided with an automobile driven by Justus Brunner, 6638 South Peoria street.

Street Car Kills Two in Auto.

Webb City, Mo., Sept. 4.—J. D. Porter, cashier of the First National Bank of Commerce, Okla., and Mrs. David Coffey, also of Commerce, were killed here early today when the motor car in which they were riding was struck by a street car.

Colby's
Est. 1866

The Trianon Sofa

COLBY'S introduce today a 1917 style sofa. This handsome French model is not shown by another store in America.

The upholstery is every handful number one curled hair, double stuffed and hand laid over oil tempered steel springs.

There is no piecework, no moss, cotton, floss or other nearly good substitute for real upholstery about this model.

More than that, the seat cushions are made of small compartments, each filled with fine white down.

This sofa is low enough to use out in a room with the new davenport tables and comfortable enough to more than satisfy every desire.

So far every woman who has tried it has remarked "How very comfortable." A six foot man will find it long enough to recline on, and deep enough in which to rest.

The Trianon sofa is French in outline, simple, refined and eminently suitable for the furnishing of the modern home.

The coming of this model heralds the departure of the old time clumsy davenport.

The Trianon is a typical Colby value, priced at about the cost of an evening gown, and it will lend distinction and luxury to your living room for at least a generation.

Price, covered in Sateen $105.00
Price, covered in Renaissance damask $137.50

The Colby selling organization is thoroughly informed on both furniture and decoration—Their suggestions are given intelligently and cheerfully as a part of Colby Service.

The very interesting pieces of furniture in the Colby shops are collected from many sources—Importations, period productions from the Colby shops and the best selections from American makers.

We invite you to visit our new store and become acquainted with Colby styles and Colby values.

L. V. L. REPORTS ON BIG FIELD OF CANDIDATES

Finds "Deadbeats" and Men with Police Records in Legislative Race for Office.

Scores of candidates are in the race for the Illinois legislature who would be a disgrace to Illinois in any public office. A number have unsavory police records, others are known as deadbeats, and a great many have not the slightest idea of the duties of a lawmaker.

This is the terrific indictment presented by the Legislative Voters' league in its survey of the aspirants for the nominations for the state senate and the house of representatives.

The report on the downstante districts was issued last night, preliminary to the Sept. 13 primary.

Foreword of the League.

As preliminary to its recommendations in the thirty-two districts outside of Cook county, the league report has this foreword:

"The field of selection after the nominations are made will be smaller than for a number of years. The two major political parties have provided for the nomination of only 181 men for the house membership. The voters will have to select 153 of this number, unless they vote for Socialists, Progressives or independent candidates.

Avoids Danger of Bad Men.

"The league in making its recommendations has given careful thought to the political situation in the various senatorial districts. In many cases fairly well qualified candidates have not been given the indorsement because of the danger of the nomination of undesirables if the conscientious voters divide their ballots among too many decent candidates.

"The league in preparing this report upon candidates, with but few exceptions, has listed only the names of candidates who are recommended or who are acceptable. It does not pretend to say that these include all candidates fitted for legislative service.

League's Recommendations.

Following are the recommendations of the league, no recommendation being made in districts where there is but one candidate:

NURSE AGAIN TRIES SUICIDE

Says She Was Jilted and Couldn't Overcome Lure of Cabarets.

PARENTS FORGIVE HER.

Miss Catherine Leonard, 30 years old, a nurse, whose father, William Leonard, a contractor, lives at 6523 South Loomis street, made the second attempt within six months to end her life yesterday.

"I tried to kill myself because the man I loved rejected me," said the woman at the County hospital. "He works for the Lincoln park board. I will not drag his name into publicity. He was good to me. But he threw me over without rhyme or reason. It broke my heart."

Went to Hotel at 2 A. M.

Miss Leonard had entered a hotel conducted by Mrs. Anna Strauss at 70 West Grand avenue at 2 o'clock in the morning alone. At 7 o'clock she was heard moaning. She told Mrs. Strauss she had swallowed poison tablets. She denied this later, but then reaffirmed it.

Her father, mother, and sister visited her in the hospital. In tears, Miss Leonard promised if she recovered to go home and be good.

"She used to be a quiet, straight-laced girl," said her father. "Suddenly she seemed seized with a mania for drinking and dancing in cabarets. She has a good home and we will welcome her back when she cares to come."

Druggist Saves Her.

Last February Miss Leonard walked into Belke's drug store at 809 South State street and tried suicide by swallowing poison. The druggist knocked the bottle from her lips. She was sent to the House of Good Shepherd.

"For six months," she said, "I have lived the mad night life of the cabarets. It is an obsession, an insanity. It draws me against my will. My soul is weary of it all and death seemed my only escape."

Miss Leonard studied nursing in St. Bernard's hospital. She became a graduate nurse six years ago.

WOMAN OFFERS TO DONATE CRIPPLE TWO CORK LEGS.

Mrs. E. E. Foster Responds to Appeal of Oscar Nelson, Who Needs Artificial Limbs to Take Job.

The other day this paper printed a little story about Oscar Nelson, who only needed a pair of cork limbs to quit the St. Elisabeth hospital and take up a job. Thirty dollars, the story said, would be necessary to have the legs delivered to him. He could pay the rest on installments.

Yesterday Mrs. E. E. Foster of 4332 Sheridan road offered Nelson a pair of cork legs which her husband had used before his death. She laid them aside for just such a purpose.

Only about $25 will be needed to have the cork legs changed to fit Nelson. Mrs. S. Nordman of 4012 Armitage avenue has already offered a dollar.

EXPLORER PENS RESCUE STORY OF COMRADES

Shackleton's Party Often Near Death from the Ice Packs; Food Shortage a Peril.

BY SIR ERNEST SHACKLETON

(Copyright: 1916: By Press Publishing Company (New York World).)

PUNTA ARENAS, Sept. 3, via London, Sept. 4.—Our fourth attempt to rescue our comrades left on Elephant island has succeeded, and all have arrived here safe and well.

The Chilean government generously placed at my disposal the steamer Yelcho, commanded by Commandant Pardo. The steamer, manned and equipped at the expense of the Chilean government, left Punta Arenas on Aug. 4.

On this occasion I set a course which would enable us to approach Elephant island from the northwest, my reason being that I hoped the ice had worked toward the northeast. This hope was realized, and on Aug. 30, after steering in the fog through numerous stranded bergs, I reached Wild's camp, finding all well, at 1 p. m. At 2 p. m. we were homeward bound.

To the Chilean government, to Commandant Pardo, and to Lieut. Aguirre I owe my deepest thanks for the means of rescue.

Capt. Wild's Own Account.

With Wild lies the credit of having kept his party together in strength and safety under the most trying and difficult conditions. Of Crean and Worsley, who have seen this thing through with me, I cannot speak too highly.

Following is Wild's report:

"On April 25, the day after the departure of the boat, the island was beset by dense pack ice. The party was confined to a narrow spit of land, 250 yards long and 40 yards wide, surrounded by inaccessible cliffs and iceladen seas.

"We were forced to abandon our ice hole, made untenable by snow. We made a dwelling of our two boats, supported by rocks, and set up as far as practicable from the sea. The weather continued appallingly difficult to work in, and the vitality of the whole party was lowered owing to exposure.

"Blackborn, Hudson, Greatstreet, and Rickensen became ill and several others were frostbitten.

Saved by Ice-Foot.

"In May a heavy blizzard swept much valuable gear into the sea, and we were in grave anxiety, owing to the danger of being swept away by the heavy seas raised by the blizzard, blowing with a velocity of seventy miles an hour. Fortunately, owing to the low temperature, an ice foot formed on the seashore, and this protection was the means of saving us from total destruction.

Economized Rations.

"Our valuable stock of beyoid rations was used for two meals weekly, thus supplying a vital change in our diet, and life was well maintained.

"From June onwards the weather was better as regards wind, but we were under a constant pall of fog and snow. In the middle of winter Blackborn's toes had to be amputated. Whenever the sea opened our hopes of relief were renewed. The three previous attempts at relief had synchronized with times when the island was beset with ice.

"On Aug. 28 the gale drove the pack from the island, and on Aug. 30, through the lifting fog, we caught sight of the Yelcho steering through the maze of stranded bergs. An hour later we were homeward bound.

"I wish to place on record the good morale of the entire party and especially the energy and ability of How, Hussey, Hurley, Macklin, McIlroy, Kerr, and Rickensen."

Garford Motor Trucks

Here's Another Example of Garford Stamina

The W. J. Newman Company of Chicago is using 3 big 6 ton Garford Motor Trucks.

On a recent excavating job these three Garfords carried away over 12,000 cubic yards of dirt and stone in 18 days.

The trucks were worked day and night, and through considerable rainy weather.

Yet the job was finished two days ahead of contract time—and was finished economically.

It was Garford stamina, Garford endurance, Garford downright efficiency that made such a record possible.

More and more hard-headed business men are recognizing these Garford characteristics every day.

And more and more Garford Motor Trucks are constantly being put to work—difficult work.

Garfordize your business. Put a faithful Garford servant at work on your hauling problems and you'll find it worthy.

Whether your business is large or small, whether you need a light truck or one of heavy capacity, there is a Garford to meet your requirements.

Our traffic experts are familiar with trucking problems of all kinds—your problems.

A phone call or a card will bring one of our men to your office. Their services are gratis.

Southern Prosperity Will Increase Your Sales

Cotton Is Bringing the Highest Price in Years and Bank Deposits Are at the Highest Point in Southern History.

On the day this advertisement is written, August 25th, cotton is quoted at 15.76 cents per pound as against 9.70 cents per pound for the same date last year. This represents a gain of 6.06 cents per pound, or $30.30 per bale. Very conservative estimates place this year's crop at 11,600,000 bales, which at present market price will bring $914,080,000, or $312,000,000 more than last year's crop. Adding to this sum of $914,080,000 the amount of $230,000,000 which the seed will bring at current prices, it will be noted that

The South Is Receiving This Year from Cotton Alone at Current Prices the Enormous Sum of $1,144,080,000.

This year's report on the value of all agricultural products is not yet compiled, but in 1915 the cotton crop constituted but 19.9 per cent of the total value of Southern farm products. The percentage this year will be somewhat higher, but it gives some basis for determining the absolutely astonishing value of Southern farm products this year.

Moreover, Southern manufactured products in 1915 were valued at $400,000,000 more than Southern farm products, and approximately the same relationship holds good this year.

The latest report available shows that the increase in National Bank deposits in the South for 1916 over 1915 was 14.9 per cent. With the same proportion of increase holding good for State Banks, there is on deposit in Southern banks this year an average of approximately two and one-half billions of dollars.

The significance of the above facts is apparent. There are billions of dollars now on deposit in Southern banks, and other billions are now rapidly coming in that are piling up a purchasing power that is unequaled in Southern history, and which cannot be paralleled in any other section of the country. To neglect the Southern field this fall in the preparation of national advertising lists is inexcusable in the face of such facts and figures.

Dig Yourselves In—Storm Coming!

TO HOLD your sales up to normal after the war is over, make your product solid now with our richer rural millions.

There's a proved way to do this—advertise in The Farm Journal.

Thirty-nine years' preaching and practicing fair play, both to our subscribers and advertisers, has put The Farm Journal miles ahead of any other farm publication in America.

One direct result is One Million trusting subscribers—all secured on the satisfaction-guaranteed-or-money-back basis.

The other result of our fair-play policy is to cram The Farm Journal full of advertising every month; yet it has never had advertising solicitors.

That's conclusive evidence that it's making good for other manufacturers who are advertising to the farmer and villager.

With meritorious goods and persistent efforts you, too, can convert The Farm Journal's one million subscribers into customers!

And you can cover this farm and village field at lower cost per thousand than with any of the sectional farm papers.

Logically, the thing to do is to get busy! Now.

Then ring up your Advertising Agent. He is all fixed to show you how to use The Farm Journal to get more distribution and to sell bigger bills to old dealers!

FARM LOAN LAW HELPS CHICAGO, CONNERY SHOWS

City Folks Owning Small Tracts in Suburbs Can Get Loans at a Low Rate.

Farmers are not the only class of people in the United States who will benefit by the government loans to be obtained through the new rural credits law. Joseph F. Connery, Cook county recorder of deeds and registrar of titles, has been investigating the status of property owners about Chicago, and his public yesterday certain figures of vital interest to some thousands of residents of Cook county.

Mr. Connery finds that there are 387,603 acres of land in the county, some of which within the city limits, on which government loans may be negotiated under the rural credits act. These, in large part are the acre tracts and small plots on which folks live in the outlying districts reached readily by the various railroad car lines.

City Folks the Owners.

The owners are not farmers. They are city men, though not city dwellers. Today their ordinary working hours may be clerks, printers, factory superintendents, and the like in the downtown districts. When they are through work they return to the land they have bought to "take them out in the open air."

In most cases they have mortgaged their property at high interest rates and on short time payments. They had to do it if their dreams were to come true; through the ownership of these small tracts—farm lands as truly as the rich fields of Nebraska and Iowa—the residents of Cook county can borrow from the government at low interest to average for small payments extending over a long time, and pay off their present obligations.

Uncle Sam Will Aid.

Uncle Sam will provide them the financial aid for which they have had to turn in the past to the banks and private loan agencies. Under the rural credits law the government cannot charge more than 6 per cent interest. Most of the loans will be made at a smaller rate.

The loans may run for five years or they may extend over any period up to forty years. Annual or semi-annual payments are provided for so that the debt is extinguished at the final maturity of the loan, and the landholder can reborrow, so that government aid may be extended indefinitely.

Thousands May Benefit.

Just how many thousands of Chicagoans this will prove a boon the statistics do not show, but Mr. Connery's figures indicate that Cook county residents alone will be in a position to negotiate government loans of something like $50,000,000.

The rural credits act provides that loans may be made up to 50 per cent of the value of the land mortgaged and 20 per cent of the value of the permanent insured improvements thereon. Mr. Connery finds farm lands in Cook county alone to the value of nearly $100,000,000.

"Contrary to the general impression," he says, "Cook county is one of the most important agricultural districts in Illinois. According to the federal census of 1910 there are in the county 387,603 acres of farm lands, of which 331,092 acres are improved.

"The value of all farm lands in Cook county is $91,648,602. The total value of all crops taken therefrom in 1910 was $8,941,336, and the value of the dairy products was $1,740,898.

Torrens System Helps.

"Operation of the Torrens system of land registration in the county places its residents in much better position to avail themselves promptly of the rural credits act than those of any other part of the state. The commission on rural credits has already reported to congress that 'the state should adopt some system of state guarantee of title, as, for instance, the Torrens system.'"

DEATH ENDS GAME

Winifred Wise Fatally Burned While Playing Round Bonfire.

Winifred Wise

While playing round a bonfire Sunday afternoon Winifred Wise, the 4 year old daughter of an attorney living at 600 East Fiftieth place, was fatally burned. She had gone out in the back yard with two little neighbors. A gust of wind blew her dress over the flames and ignited her dress. Neighbors heard her screams and rushed to the rescue. A physician gave her first and treatment, but she died from the burns later in the day. Winifred was the only daughter of T. J. Wise.

OPERATION FOR MANIA.

Dr. Harry Haiselden Will Try to Cure Man Who Thinks He's Policeman.

Dr. Harry J. Haiselden today will operate on John Oram to cure a mental twist that causes him now and then to pose as a policeman. Last Friday Mayor Thompson released him from the bridewell, where he had been serving sentence for disorderly conduct since April 20, so that the operation could be performed. On many occasions Oram has got himself into trouble by "arresting" citizens and taking them to police stations in taxicabs. Oram was forced to quit his job as a policeman several years ago because of an injury to his head. Dr. Haiselden said last night he believed Oram's mental faculties can be restored by an operation to relieve pressure on the brain.

PETTIT WANTS TO DIE AND JOIN WIFE HE KILLED

Slayer Threatens Suicide at First Chance—Police Doubt Insanity.

J. Maurice Pettit wants to join his murdered wife on the "spiritual plane." He wants to die. He will kill himself at the first opportunity. He even looks forward to hanging as a desired release from "material existence." He said so yesterday.

Pettit denied to Dr. Thomas Shanahan, resident physician of the house of correction, that he attempted to escape when he made his mad leap from a mile a minute train near Michigan City on Sunday.

"I wasn't trying to get away from the law," he said as he lay on a cot in the emergency ward. "I was trying to get away from my material existence. I was trying to kill myself. I want to join her on the spiritual plane."

Suffers from Injuries.

Pettit talks with much effort. His fractured ribs, broken jaw, punctured lung, broken arm and body lacerations cause him intense pain.

Dr. Shanahan, who has kept Pettit under his personal observation at the hospital, said he has not formed an opinion as to whether Pettit is sane or insane, but is convinced the man has some mental trouble.

The police are not satisfied that Pettit is a mental irresponsible. They interpret some of his acts as evidence of criminal cunning, seldom found in the mind of a defective. In fact, the detectives are unwilling to accept Pettit's story of how he killed his wife.

Will Re-enact Crime.

For this reason, as soon as the injured man recovers sufficiently, he will be taken to his fromer home at 930 Barry avenue, where he will be asked to reenact his movements on Thursday night when he drew a razor across the throat of his bride of a month.

"Pettit is not insane. He is just a common coward," said George Keiser, brother of the dead girl. "Why didn't he kill himself when he killed her and keep his own soul pure, if that really was his belief. I am inclined to think that this spiritual talk is alibi work."

The police have notified Mrs. Lulu Pettit that her son is under arrest here. She lives at Cedar Rapids, Ia.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC NORMAL.

Double Holiday Gives Opportunity to Relieve Congestion in Crowded Yards.

Rail traffic will be back to normal this morning, according to information given out at the offices of some of the largest trunk lines entering Chicago last night. The congested freight conditions in all of the yards is a thing of the past, according to railroad men, because the double holiday afforded an unusual opportunity to straighten out the tangle of freight which resulted from the threatened railroad strike. Freight agents of nearly all of the roads were at their offices and many called their clerks to work also.

JUDGE TO INVESTIGATE THAT BIBBS SURETY DEAL.

Martin Threatens to Bring Charges of Conspiracy if He Finds Somebody Lied to Him.

Judge James C. Martin, who approved a bond of $10,000 under which Thomas H. Bibbs, confessed embezzler from the Victor Chemical works, was released after Judge Charles N. Goodnow had refused to reduce it from $25,000, has begun an investigation to ascertain if he was deceived. Judge Martin threatens prosecution for conspiracy to defeat justice if he finds false representations were made to him. He explains the approval of the bond this way:

"Saturday afternoon Jalwich and Morris Zimbroff, bondsmen, came into my court and presented themselves as agents of James F. Todd, a reputable lawyer. Jalwich told me that Judge Goodnow had reduced Bibbs' bond from $25,000 to $10,000, with the approval of the state's attorney.

"I could not reach Judge Goodnow, but since I knew Todd to be a lawyer of high standing, I approved the bond."

Judge Goodnow says he never talked with Jalwich and Zimbroff and agreed to reduce the bond. "I don't want to criticise Judge Martin," said Judge Goodnow, "but had I been in his position I would not have reduced the bond without having talked with the judge who originally fixed it."

Judge Martin said he had directed the two bondsmen to appear in his chambers on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

"If these men have lied to me," he said, "I shall charge them with a conspiracy to defeat the ends of justice and contempt of court. I am going to get to the bottom of this bond matter."

NORTHUP HOLDS MILLER WINKS AT CITY'S VICE

Asks Series of Questions Covering City Prosecutor's Administration.

John E. Northup, candidate for the Republican nomination for state's attorney, shot some new questions at Harry B. Miller, city hall candidate for state's attorney, in his speeches last night. Mr. Northup spoke in the Eighth ward at the Jones school, Seventy-fifth street and Coles avenue, and in the Thirtieth ward at the Bureau Baptist church, Fifty-second and Dearborn streets.

He said in part:

"The newspapers during the last week have reported that the old south side redlight district is being reopened and that gambling is prevalent in many sections of the city. This is significant in view of the fact that Harry B. Miller, present city prosecutor, is the Thompson-Lundin candidate for state's attorney.

Gambling and Vice.

"Does this mean that the vice lords and the gambling kings are to be granted immunity should Mr. Miller be nominated and elected?

"Mr. Miller, during your short months of service as city prosecutor you have given Chicago a conspicuous sample of lying down on the job. Would you 'prosecute' in the same manner if you could be elected state's attorney?

"As city prosecutor you have permitted tough cabarets to do their will in this city until the Juvenile Protective association had to select one notorious example—the Cadillac cafe—and pound you on that for weeks until it became too hot for you to protect it further. As county prosecutor, would you still leave unmolested these lures to ruin for the youth of Cook county?

Let Gambling Flourish.

"While you have occupied the office of city prosecutor, gambling has been permitted to flourish in Chicago. Slot machines were trotted out in saloons and when a complaisant police department, forced to raid them, failed to destroy the gambling devices, the city law department permitted them to be replevined for further use by their owners without resistance in court.

"While you have been city prosecutor, the redlight district resorts have steadily been resuming business.

"As state's attorney, will you continue to permit gambling and commercialized vice?"

"DEATH CORNER" VICINITY STAGES ANOTHER SHOOTING.

Charles Divarco Seriously Wounded When Shot After Quarrel Over 10 Cents' Worth of Wine.

Charles Divarco was shot while sitting in front of his grocery at 840 Milton avenue in the "death corner" neighborhood last night by an Italian whom he afterwards identified as Felippo Scaletta, 842 Wells street, after a quarrel over 10 cents' worth of wine. Divarco's shoulder was broken and Dr. H. Olney of Passavant hospital, to which the wounded man was taken, said the spine may have been fractured. His recovery is doubtful. He has a wife and four children.

Policeman Joseph Fogarty and Park Policeman Harold O'Brien arrested Scaletta on Wells street. He had been surrounded by young men and boys who had seen him running from the scene of the shooting. At Chicago avenue police station he denied knowing anything of the shooting. He was confronted with Divarco in the hospital and the wounded man identified him.

Divarco said Scaletta came into his store and drank a glass of wine for which he refused to pay. They quarreled and Scaletta left. Later, Divarco said, Scaletta returned and shot him.

"MRS. ROHRER" OF DIVORCE SUIT BANKER'S WIFE

Bill Asks Court to Restore Her Maiden Name, Fay Hancock.

That the Mrs. Rohrer who is suing for a divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty, is indeed the wife of William L. Rohrer of the banking firm of W. L. Rohrer & Co., was established yesterday when it was found that the bill in the Circuit court states that Mrs. Rohrer wishes to be permitted to resume her maiden name, Fay Hancock.

Mrs. Rohrer's bill relates that they were married Sept. 11, 1901, and lived together until Nov. 1915, when she left home because, she alleges, she could no longer tolerate his cruelty.

"Since our marriage," the bill alleges, "Mr. Rohrer has been guilty of extreme and repeated cruelty. He is a man of great austerity of temper and very frequently indulged in the last ten years in violent sallies of passion. Then, too, he used offensive and abusive language.

"In June, 1911, Mr. Rohrer struck me a violent blow without the slightest grounds for doing so. With his both hands he tried to choke me. In May, 1914, in our own house, he beat me severely."

What Mrs. Rohrer objected to in particular, she alleges, was his "course of action consisting of violent displays of temper and cutting and sarcastic language to me in the presence of servants and maids."

DRILL FOR FIRST CAVALRY.

Illinois Troopers Leave Tomorrow on 22 Mile Hike for Coast Defense Training.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—The First Illinois cavalry leaves Tuesday morning for Point Isabel, on the gulf, twenty-two miles northeast of here, where it will go through three days of instructions in a course of army maneuvers, including coast defense.

Mrs. Lewis K. Torbet

Died September 4, 1916.

Mrs. Lewis K. Torbet, regent of the Gen. Henry Dearborn chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, died yesterday at her old family home in Fosters, O.

She had been ill less than two weeks. Her husband was summoned from Chicago a few days ago and was at her bedside when she died.

Mrs. Torbet, long identified with woman's club and charitable activities in Chicago, acquired national prominence in 1911 when she precipitated a bitter fight in the Chicago chaper of the D. A. R. by nominating Mrs. William Cummings Story for president general of the national organization in opposition to the candidate backed by the Illinois chapters.

She had gone to the national convention at Washington as head of the D. A. R. delegation from Illinois. In 1914 she withdrew and organized the Gen. Henry Dearborn chapter, many members of the Chicago chapter joining her in the revolt.

Mrs. Torbet was the founder and for many years president of the Hospital Day association, which inaugurated the "tag day" idea in Chicago. She was active in the work of the Young Women's Christian association.

Until a month ago Mr. and Mrs. Torbet lived at the Hotel Metropole. Mr. Torbet, an attorney, has long been prominent in Republican politics in Chicago.

STUDENT TROOPS AND 2D ILLINOIS COMING NORTH

Chicago Boys Entrain at San Antonio—War Department Bars Discharges.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 4.—Gen. Funston said today that three student organizations would be sent north where it is expected they will be discharged for school attendance. These are Battery F, First Illinois artillery, to Fort Sheridan; Battery B, First Indiana artillery, to Fort Benjamin Harrison; Battery F, First Minnesota artillery, to Fort Snelling.

Entraining of the Second regiment of Illinois infantry proceeded this afternoon, the final train leaving about 4 p. m.

The order for the entraining of these troops was preceded by an edict of the war department in which the order permitting the discharge of national guardsmen with persons dependent on them was revoked. This order was embodied in a circular being mailed from southern division headquarters. Under the army appropriation bill provision is made for the aid of persons dependent on members of the guard.

Red Cross Fund Exhausted.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—In a form letter to every Illinois soldier on the border the Chicago branch of the American Red Cross advises that the fund which has helped support dependent families is exhausted and urges those who relied on this payroll to apply at once for release. (The letter was sent out before the war department order revoking all discharges was mailed.)

This letter for the first time registers the part "stay at homes" have played in assisting dependents of members absent on national duty.

The letter hit a great many of the men hard, because more than would admit it have been accepting the voluntary offerings of the society to piece out the $15 per month government pay.

More than fifty men in the First regiment will act on the advice of the Red Cross society, but it is feared they will be disappointed.

Whole First Infantry in Camp.

The second and third battalions of the First infantry arrived at Camp Lincoln this morning. The entire regiment of 1,000 men is now in camp. The men spent today in rest. Tonight there was a dress parade.

The Second regiment and a battery of artillery are expected within a few days.

ONE DIES IN RIOT ON TRAIN.

Several Injured and Fifteen Arrested at Cleveland—Said to Be Strikebreakers.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 4.—One man is dead, several others are injured, and fifteen are under arrest as the result of a riot on a New York Central train passing through here this afternoon. The police were told the men were strikebreakers being taken from New York to St. Louis and that they quarreled among themselves. The dead and injured were taken to morgues and hospitals here, but none has been identified.

Or Have You the Temerity to Pronounce Mrs. Papola's Maiden Name?

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—"K-R-C—yes, go on," urged "Cupid" Krueger, marriage license clerk in the county clerk's office. Anna said that was all. Miss Krc, a Chicagoan, will wed John Papola of Cudahy.

WITNESS TELLS OF TIFF WITH MRS. SEABRIGHT

E. M. Summers Testifies Suicide Manicure Accused Him of Flirting.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict yesterday that Mrs. Hazel Seabright, 30 years old, a manicure, committed suicide in her three room flat at 858 Leland avenue while temporarily insane.

E. M. Summers, 4806 Kenmore avenue, testified he and Mrs. Seabright, who was a widow, had been friends for a year. She had threatened suicide last spring because she suspected him of paying attention to another woman. He had been with her in the Berlin room at the Bismarck Saturday evening and she had accused him of flirting.

Told Not to Call.

He said he had left her at the door of her flat at 1 o'clock in the morning. She had told him as they parted that he need not come to see her Sunday afternoon, as he had planned. He said they never had had any serious differences and he could not account for her suicide.

Mr. Summers turned over to Mrs. Zoe W. Eaton, 2214 South Keeler avenue, the dead woman's sister, thirty-three letters Mrs. Seabright had written him. In a note she left Mrs. Seabright had asked her sister to get possession of these letters. They were not made public.

Greenwood Not Involved.

No evidence was brought out to show that Mrs. Seabright had anything more than a casual acquaintance with W. F. Greenwood, treasurer of Bryant & Greenwood, land brokers, who lives at the El Paso club in Colorado Springs.

Mr. Greenwood, over the long distance telephone, denied that he ever had been out with her. He had met her, he said, in a barber shop in the Westminster building, where she manicured his nails. She had left a letter addressing him as "My lover" and declaring she loved no one else in the world.

"Lower Gas Bills"—No. 33

A Hint to Gas Users—

"Who is so deafe or so blinde as is hee,
That wilfully will neither heare nor see?"

So wrote Thomas Heywood about 350 years ago, and, in one form or another, the world has repeated his thought daily because it is so completely, so perfectly, so absolutely true.

Today those "so deafe or so blinde" are the only people in Chicago who refuse to see any merit in our "heat unit" gas and new rates proposal which has been before the city authorities since last December.

We offer to prove that the present price for the high "candle power" gas we now furnish is impossibly low; that the price must be raised unless we are permitted to make "heat unit" gas.

We offer to prove that "candle power" in gas today is a useless extravagance of no real service to the gas-consuming public, and only adds to cost.

We offer to prove by the experience of Europe, of sixteen American states and of many American cities that "heat unit" gas is better adapted to every modern purpose and more economical.

We know that "heat unit" gas (with the proposed new rates in effect) will prove to be better and cheaper for ALL consumers whenever given a fair trial in actual practice.

The "so deafe or so blinde" do not suggest a counter proposal but just shake their heads and refuse to hear the evidence or look at the facts.

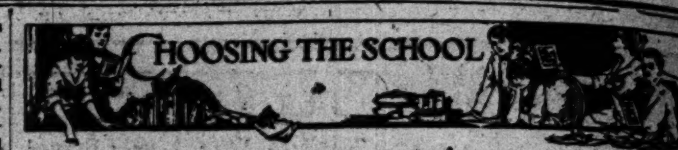

Whether they are governed by blind prejudice, plain laziness, the demagogue's disposition to be "agin" a public utility—whatever it is—they stand in the way of PROGRESS for the benefit of the gas-consuming public.

We know something about the gas business. We are responsible for millions of dollars invested in it. We challenge opportunity to demonstrate the truth of our claims for "heat unit" gas and the proposed new rates.

Would we risk so much if we were not assured by experience that we can make good? Think it over! Our regard for the success of our own business protects you more than deaf and blind "standpatters" ever can.

P. S.—'Phone or write Department B for our booklet, "CHICAGO'S GAS BILLS." It answers your questions.

TRAINING IN BUSINESS MANAGEMENT

To learn from the mistakes of the daily routine is costly. Only a short time ago lawyers, doctors and engineers were being trained in the school of experience, but today no one would think of advising a prospective lawyer, doctor or chemist to work out his preparation at random. The wastefulness of leaving each individual to learn from costly experience what others have discovered over and over again has brought the keen men in business to realize that systematic business training is a fundamental necessity.

Since the Northwestern University School of Commerce was founded in 1908, 4,000 men in business have attended its evening courses. Of last year's students 32 were receiving from $200 to $400 a month, 46 were receiving from $150 to $200 per month, and 173 were receiving from $100 to $150 per month. The remainder, with the exception of a few who were earning more than $500 per month, were receiving less than $100 per month. Those in attendance ranged from 18 to 55 years of age and represented almost every business occupation.

Evening Courses Are Given in

Business Law, General Accounting, Cost Accounting, Efficiency Standards, Resources and Trade, Banking and Finance, Geography and Trade of South America, Economics, Public Service Corporation Accounting, Advanced Accounting, C. P. A. Quiz, Sales Correspondence, Business Organization, Investment Securities, Social Problems in Business, Factory Management, Transportation, Foreign Trade, Sales Management, General Psychology, Public Speaking, Commercial French and Spanish, Bookkeeping, Public Utilities, Business English, Statistics, Psychology of Advertising, Industrial Relations

In arranging for the teaching staff and classroom facilities for the coming school year, provision has been made for 1,000 evening students. This number provides for an addition of 145 to the enrollment of 855 last year. No students will be registered when the 1,000 mark has been reached. Later applicants for admission will be entered in the waiting list for subsequent registration the following semester or the following year. The registration this year is already 75 ahead of the enrollment of the corresponding date last year.

Day Course

In addition to the evening classes a three-year course in Business Administration is conducted for men who have had two years of college work. A Pre-Commerce Course is given for high school graduates.

Write or phone for book of courses, or call for a personal interview.

SOCIETY and Entertainments

Rain Spoils Some of Labor Day Fun

THE too ardent response yesterday of the weather to the appeals of those who have been saying that a little rain would be a blessing spoiled some of the Labor day fun of the country clubs. Golf matches that were scheduled didn't get played, but the dancers were in no way hindered in their joy by the downpours. The games scheduled for the Onwentsia club in Lake Forest had to be postponed, but the younger set gathered in its total vivacity for a tea dance.

Since the celebration planned by the Chicago Yacht club was an indoor concert and dinner dance, their plans were not upset by the raindrops. For dinner there were many guests, among them E. H. B. Raun with a party of fifteen, L. B. O'Brien with a party of four, L. D. Skinner, who was host to eight; F. E. Sullivan, to eight; A. D. Baker, to four; D. M. Condit, to four; Richard Gambril, to five, and B. P. Dunlap, to nine.

At the Indian Hill Country club there were four huge tables, with many guests at each table. At one were Mrs. Donald McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gardner, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Gerhard, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Cable. At another large table were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Boyden, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. George Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Post, and Mr. and Mrs. Lyman A. Walton.

At another were Mr. and Mrs. George Massey, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Lynde, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. L. Fiske, Mr. and Mrs. Mancel T. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stanton, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Blatchford. At still another were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress, Mr. and Mrs. James Fentress, and Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Daughaday.

Among those who dined and danced at the Chicago Golf club at Wheaton were Mr. and Mrs. Addison Stillwell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Wetmore, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Manierre, Mr. and Mrs. George Manierre, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Carlile, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schuettler, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dyrenforth, and Mr. and Mrs. Springer Brooks.

Members of the South Shore Country club celebrated the day with fervor. The list of dinner hosts and hostesses included Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Triner, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hayward, Mrs. J. C. Ryer, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. McGrath, Mr. and Mrs. Maclay Hoyne, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hulburd, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Bradley, and Mr. and Mrs. Morton Blauvelt.

At the Exmoor Country club there was dancing afternoon and evening. Among those who had dinner parties last evening were Mr. and Mrs. Trigg Waller, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Trayner, Mr. and Mrs. Truman W. Brophy Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Porter, and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kellogg.

Mitchell Follansbee of Winnetka has returned from his cruise with the naval reserve.

Mrs. George McKinlock of Lake Forest gave a luncheon on Sunday for the Count and Comtessa Bolognesi.

Otis Chatfield-Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor of Lake Forest, is at home from Culver Military academy. He will give a young people's dinner preceding the Ravinia club frolic on Saturday evening.

Miss Ginevra King and Miss Margaret Carry are planning to spend next week end at Lake Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Stevens of 1720 Isabella street, Evanston, announce the birth of a daughter, Muriel Howard.

Weddings.

The marriage of Miss Gladys Anderson, daughter of the Rt. Rev. and Mrs. Charles P. Anderson of 1621 Prairie avenue, to Haven Re Qua, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Re Qua of 3629 Grand boulevard, was celebrated yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the country residence of the bride's parents at Long Lake, Wis.

The service was read by Bishop Anderson in his chapel in the woods and was followed by a large reception on the lawn. The bride wore a gown of white net and lace with a veil fashioned of the same material and carried a shower bouquet of wild flowers.

Miss Catherine Re Qua, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, and the bride's two small sisters, Katherine and Nancy Anderson, were flower girls. Howard Re Qua acted as best man for his brother and Charles P. Anderson Jr., Charles Grey, and Lawrence Starkweather, who have just returned from the Mexican border, were the ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Re Qua will live in Hubbard Woods, where they have taken a house in Asbury avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Herven of 940 Ainslie street announce the marriage of their daughter, Sarah Celestia, to Grover C. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mehlem announce the marriage of their daughter, Marian, to Keene Fitzpatrick. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick will be at home after Oct. 1 at 1314 Albion avenue.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Leah Rabinoff and Roland Fischel.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Margaret O'Brien, daughter of Mrs. James Powell and the late Robert O'Brien of 3779 Archer avenue, to Fredrick Koch. Owing to illness in the bride's family the wedding was attended by relatives only. After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Koch will be at home, after Sept. 15, at 439 North Albany avenue.

Engagements.

Peter Lind of 1654 Winona avenue announces the engagement of his daughter, Jennie Evelynne, to Gust D. Lindgren of Little Falls, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kupfer of 5126 Indiana avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Lilian, to Sig Benjamin of New York City.

Serge Oukrainsky

THE Winnetka society of the Arden Shore Summer camp, which is planning the charming entertainment tomorrow evening in the gardens of Mrs. William Gold Hibbard Jr. in Winnetka, have been very fortunate in securing Andreas Pavley and Serge Oukrainsky of the Imperial Russian ballet to take the place on the program of Rosina Galli. For them an orchestra of twenty pieces has been secured and, banked against the black-gr... of the hemlocks which surround the lovely out of door stage, they will make an unforgettable picture.

The Arden Shore society was planning a Joseph Linden Smith masque, "The Jesters," which was written for presentation at Newport. It necessitated the coaching of fifty children, and for the same reason that it was not thought advisable to give it at Newport—on account of the infantile paralysis epidemic—it was decided that the masque had better be kept until the spring for presentation. Henri Scott will sing a bit from "Cadi," a little known opera of Ambroise Thomas, the "Toreador" song, and a new song by James Rogers called "War."

The program tomorrow evening will be followed by dancing on the tennis court. If the rains descend, the entertainment will be given in the Winnetka Woman's clubrooms.

"The Defective" Is Not All It Might Be

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

DR. HARRY W. MOORE is an eminent practitioner of medicine in Oak Park. He is an advanced and a progressive person, with noble yearnings to be of benefit to his fellow man. The eradication of the unfit is his present passion, and he strives to make the world better by advocating a stringent discipline in our habits of procreation. He is young, he is brave, he is good looking, he is enthusiastic—an affable ambassador of sterilization negotiating between us and our sociological follies.

Yet, like women and princes, he has no friends. At least I infer that he has none, for if he had a friend that friend would not have let him produce his play, "The Defective," which was shown at Powers' last evening before a picked audience. I am kind to Dr. Moore when I say that I think his drama a dire thing, likely to humiliate him and to injure his cause. For it is a most melancholy exhibit of bad acting and bad play writing, and its feeble petitions for eugenic legislation are made ludicrous by their surroundings.

Its frequently ungrammatical speech is the naive rhetoric of McGuffey's Fourth Reader and its story a weird series of situations, not improbable in themselves but made impossible by the amateurish manner of their presentation. The characters are mouthy, their actions without motive. If I were to tell you of some of the things that are said and done I should have to abandon my tender mood, and besides you wouldn't believe me. Intended as an argument for the sterilization of the unfit parent, "The Defective" is only an outcry for the sterilization of the unfit dramatist.

Ravinia Season Ends.

Officially, summer ends on Sept. 22. Artistically it ended last night in Ravinia park—very artistically. We may now proceed to interim, prior to the resumption of operatic activities next winter.

The interim will resound with discussion of the new Ravinia standard. The standard is one which may be held up to operatic ventures of all kinds and seasons.

Opera standardized is opera amusing. To be amusing has been the standard of Ravinia. It has probably caught that from surrounding nature, which is a great little entertainer. It is pertinent to remark that nature does not usually surround opera.

The last, final, irrevocable, apogeic and gala performance at Ravinia was one of numerous works, several arts and a whole galaxy of performers. This is a time honored rite of opera companies. Very often it is a program of things which one would not dare to give on a subscription night. In Ravinia it was a program that one would care to listen to any night.

From "Faust" was taken the last or prison scene, sung by Beriza, Harrold and Scott; from Wagner's works were taken the Reverie of Hans Sachs in "The Mastersingers" and the serenade to the Evening Star from "Tannhäuser," which were sung by Scott in a dress suit.

Picco sang the "Largo al Factotum" from "The Barber of Seville" in costume. Galli and Bonfiglio danced their best numbers.

It was a case of feasting on whatever remained of the banquet. As a little bit of everything that made the banquet remained, the evening was a short course in musical gormandizing. It was taken by 6,000 people.

The last act of Faust has been one of the thrilling things of the repertoire. Beriza has been one of the thrilling things of the company. She sang the role of Marguerite, Harrold was the Faust, Scott the Mephisto.

The music works to a climax by the simplest of artifices—that of mounting a half tone at every recapitulation. The singers worked to a climax by the simplest of artifices—that of singing well and better. Nothing need be said of it being also the most difficult of artifices. Why shouldn't every one do it if this were not so?

When Beriza and Harrold had taken the final high "B" with Scott undertoning with his basic bass the curtain fell on a satisfactory stage. Enthusiasm fell on a satisfied audience.

The performance and the public enthusiasm took their pitch from that. Everything that followed was a recrudescence of excellence.

Picco got seven curtain calls. They were potential in his fine singing. Scott sang with the profound concentration with which basses do their best work. Galli did everything she knows from toe to finger tip, and she knows them as B. L. T. knows pi—to the millimeter.

The last night suggests a retrospective word. The performers here present were, with a few exceptions, the support of the season. Kingston was not there. Garrison had left. But Beriza has been the Ravinia sensation. Galli has been a near Pavlowa. Harrold has been a great lyric tenor (they are few), Scott and Picco were base and baritone par excellence.

Ravinia opera has been all these, and the most charming spot near Chicago. It is even nearer Chicago's heart.

The AMATEUR GARDENER

by Eben E. Rexford

TULIPS are extremely showy, and a small bed of them will light up the garden like a bonfire. I would not advise planting a bed of mixed varieties, such as will result from a purchase of cheap collections in which there will be found "a little of everything." The trouble with these "mixed" collections is that there is such a hodgepodge of colors that some of them are sure to be lacking in harmony, and one strong color note that is not in harmony with the others spoils the entire lot for the person who has a keen color sense. I would, so far as possible, keep each color by itself, or, not attempting to do this, I would confine my selection to colors which I knew to be in perfect harmony with each other.

Single tulips are quite as satisfactory as double ones, so far as show is concerned, but the double ones have the merit of lasting a little longer. The single varieties are, as a general thing, considerably earlier than the double ones, and of dwarfer habit. These peculiarities should be taken into consideration in filling the tulip bed.

The Bizarres and Tournesol varieties are richest of all in coloring, the variegation of the flowers combining several colors that give them a truly oriental opulence of tone and tint. These are the latest of the family, and extend the flowering season well into May and sometimes June.

In planting tulips set the bulb about three inches below the surface.

Set them about five inches apart in the row.

If a careful selection of colors is made fine effects can be secured by planting in alternating rows in which some leading color predominates. This "ribbon effect" is easily attained, the principal thing to do in securing it being the selection of contrasting colors and the care that must be taken in seeing that they do not get "mixed" in planting. Plant an entire row before beginning another, and be sure to see that there is no possibility of mixing the varieties. If this occurs, as it is quite likely to, if you spread out all your bulbs at planting time, you spoil the effect aimed at.

Novel Costume of Silk Jersey.

BY HELEN MERRILL EMERY.

JERSEY cloth, that beautiful and practical material which "arrived," as it were, almost over night, bids fair to rank with serge as a fabric never out of fashion, for after a season of extraordinary popularity its vogue is still as great and shows no sign of diminishing.

At the openings of the Paris houses any number of costumes developed in jersey, either silk or wool, were shown for early autumn wear. In some instances jersey is used entirely; in others it is attractively combined with serge or silk. Embroidery in gold or silver frequently appears as trimming, and nearly every model has a touch of fur somewhere about it; perhaps it is only a collar of handsome fur, but more often fur bands the hem and sleeves as well.

One particularly handsome model of bottle green jersey attracted attention because of the length of the coat, which allowed only about twelve inches of the skirt to be seen. A deep sailor collar and cuffs of squirrel which once more is extremely fashionable, were other interesting features. Another model with a slightly shorter jacket substituted bands of embroidery for fur.

In the model illustrated, fur and embroidery are combined most effectively. Wool jersey in a light shade of putty is chosen for this costume trimmed with skunk and embroidery in gold. The wide revers are gathered slightly to the wide sailor collar and the sash of jersey ends in large knobs also embroidered. Revers also are a feature of another interesting model, but in this case they continue to the hem of the jacket and are held in place by a narrow belt. Just above the waist line two large buttons are placed.

For young girls the slipon models are delightful. They are fashioned in jersey in most beautiful colorings. A shade of Rosewood with skunk and dull mauve with moleskin are two particularly effective combinations.

The TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

EDITED BY JANE EDDINGTON

Health is the finished product of so many physical and chemical agents, all working over into man's flesh and tissue the raw material called food, that it is hard to understand the proportion of work each agent must do.

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

Coffee Tapioca Pudding.

THERE are some combinations of food and flavor that may easily become a "mess" if not treated very carefully. There are others that seem no more simple, which will always seem rather good, even if only half way to perfection.

Coffee flavor is one of the ways of spoiling a good many desserts or what, in fancy cooking, are called entremets sucrés. But in this fancy cooking mocha, which is coffee flavor, is popular. The makers of these sweets are not bothered about the healthfulness or unhealthfulness of coffee.

As to coffee flavor, it may be innocuous, just as coffee may be, so that it would never be omitted except from an absolutely ideal diet. There are a good many people who imagine they have made a great reform in their diet by cutting out coffee, when they may be doing many things much more harmful than drinking it rightly made, not boiled, and under the circumstances giving up a friend. Boiled coffee is too strongly alkaline for most people and bad for anybody.

One way to get coffee with cream and egg is to add these to a basis of tapioca. I can imagine that the result might be anything but palatable, but if the coffee is not allowed to cool, I know that this pudding may be good, served well chilled, especially.

The Recipe.

Pour a cup of boiling water over a heaping tablespoon of pulverized coffee in a bag or cloth over a strainer. Cook in this three rounding teaspoons of granulated tapioca until it dissolves, stirring often, then pouring the whole over two well beaten eggs and cooking to the boiling point. Add a pinch of salt and a teaspoon of vanilla, then pour into molds. A little cream may be cooked in it to soften the flavor. Serve with plain or whipped cream, either of which multiplies its daintiness by two.

Mandel Brothers

—Art galleries—ninth floor—

Showing $25,000 masterpiece painted by Gulbrand Sether

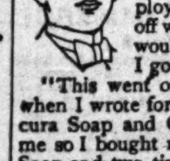

This wonderful work of art represents Mr. Sether's most famous and at the same time his most daring portrayal of the frozen north. In it he mingles the most dazzling light and the most intense shadows with the snow, over which he has cast a broad, warm silver radiance of moonlight from the hidden moon.

Reproductions of this noted painting in colors, size 12x24 in., will be on sale during this exhibit.

In addition, Mr. Sether will exhibit a collection of his smaller paintings and water colors—doubtless the best gathering ever shown by him. A discount of 20 per cent on these will be in effect during the exhibition. Ninth floor.

KEEP YOUR SKIN FRESH AND CLEAR

By Daily Use of Cuticura. It Removes All Pimples and Blotches.

"My face began breaking out with pimples and blotches which itched and burned till I was nearly crazy. They were hard and red and finally festered and broke, making my face a veritable open eruption, and it went to such a state that my employer ordered me to lay off work. At night my face would itch and burn so that I got very little sleep.

"This went on for about six weeks when I wrote for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It relieved me so I bought more, and two bars of Soap and two tins of Ointment healed me." (Signed) Alfred T. Burns, Jr., 133 Sears St., Dayton, Ohio, April 17, 1916.

Cuticura Soap not only works wonders in all cases of skin troubles but its properties are so mild and so delicately combined that it is also ideal for everyday use in the toilet. Cuticura Ointment applied to any irritation, pimples, roughness, etc., will do all and more than the majority of expensive creams in keeping the skin soft, smooth and clear.

For Trial Free by Return Mail address post-card: "Cuticura, Dept. H, Boston." Sold throughout the world.

Real Love Stories

The Long Search Over.

KATRINA lived with her old grossmutter in a tiny cottage in a village on the northern coast of Germany. For a long time, in fact since her babyhood, she had been sewing and knitting on garments which were all put away in a huge cedar chest, for a German girl spends all her unmarried years preparing the trousseau against the time when she may need it.

Katrina hummed as she stitched and crocheted at the time when my story opens because it would not be long now until the carefully prepared trousseau would be used. Her lover, Hans, had gone on his last cruise on the huge warship and upon his return two years hence he was to claim Katrina as his bride. Then he could leave the navy and settle down in their home village.

One day about six months after Hans' departure the dear old grossmutter passed away, and a month later, as if one grief were not enough for the gentle girl to bear, word came that the warship had been wrecked and all the crew lost. Katrina sold her tiny cottage and with the proceeds bought a passage to America, hoping that in the new country she might drown her grief with work. She soon found a place as cook in a wealthy New York family.

Two months later, Hans, who had been saved by a fishing schooner, and nursed back to life in an out of the way coast town, worked his way back to Germany. His grief was pitiful when he discovered that Katrina had gone away, but being possessed of an enduring faith in her love he quickly worked his passage to New York and began to search for her.

Ignorance of schooling impeded his progress, but his faith remaining unshaken he searched the city as best he knew how day after day and month after month. Finally he secured work in a factory, for he realized that he must not find her with empty hands, and for a time he could only search evenings and Sundays.

One day something slipped on his machine and Hans lost two fingers from his right hand. A sad accident, because besides depriving him of two useful digits it also threw him out of a good job. A man can not run intricate machinery with two fingers missing. The manager of the factory happening to pass through the employment office when Hans received this bad news was struck with the tragedy in the simple face and paused to talk a moment.

Sensing something of the seaman about Hans' weather bronzed face and sun bleached hair, he asked him if he could manage a boat. The eager light that sprang into Hans' eyes betrayed more of his knowledge and love of the water than his hesitating words, so the manager hired him right then to look after and run his sailboats and launches at his summer place on Long Island.

Hans accompanied the manager home that evening and was shown to his room over the boathouse. As his new master left him he told him to go round to the kitchen for his dinner. The family had just assembled in the dining room when they were startled by a crash of china and a glad cry from the kitchen. Hans' search was ended when he entered the kitchen, for his Katrina was the cook.

They're All Fickle, Georgia.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 14. I went to a party with a boy, and I thought he took a great interest in me, but now he doesn't seem to. What can be the matter? I would like to know, for I love him dearly. G. A."

It is hard to have to come to the realization that men are fickle when one is only 14, but as long as you've plunged into society you might as well learn this fact sooner or later. "Catty old maid," do I hear some one saying? Because you've been to one party with a boy and he seemed interested is no reason for your thinking he is in love with you. There's nothing the matter except you. Get the idea out of your head that you're in love. Be nice to your other boy friends and don't show in any way that you are missing his company, and nine chances out of ten he will come back.

There's a Barrier.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a young man 18 years of age, and am fond of a girl of the same age. I have taken her to certain social affairs and have tried to impress upon her the thought that I am true to her, but there seems to be a barrier in the way. Would you kindly tell me a way to remove this barrier, so that I may win her love? V. J. S."

If I were you, I'd let that barrier remain for a few years yet, at least until I was in a position to ask her to marry me. If she accepts your invitations and seems to enjoy your company, let it go at that and quit worrying. Don't try to get into such serious topics; enjoy life as girls and boys of 18 should.

BY KITTY KELLY.

WHY did the bereaved widow of the suicide husband tear up his farewell note? That's scarcely feminine, even if she did not love him, and she had appeared in.

One's mind may be specially dense to such photoplay phenomena after one has been flickering at long distance and vacationing amongst green hills and whispering trees. Coming back to where the pictures move will sharpen up the faculties of a country rested mind, but will it ever make clear the psychology of the lady tearing up her farefell letter from her dead husband?

Anyhow, otherwise "The Velvet Paw," at the Studebaker is an exceedingly interesting picture. It is an intricate and highly sophisticated celluloid study of Washington lobbying, with a pretty woman playing the old game of cat's paw to wrest unwilling votes from fascinated congressmen who lose their political reputations to discover she didn't love them after all. It is remarkably impersonal. There is no one to claim one's sympathy in it. Except the suicide husband, who is a disappointed inventor, and he shuffles off in the first reel, giving his wife cause for her career, pursued as revenge for his too sudden demise.

It seems the departed husband couldn't get his invention through because he had no money to use in securing the attention of influence, so when the hotel bill came in he took a dose of extinguisher, even while his pretty wife was cajoling the capitol's most influential senator to give friend husband a chance.

Then she went to live at the senator's establishment, wore lovely gowns, and flirted votes for the senator's nefarious schemes from charmed admirers.

So things went till along came a redblooded, honest hearted reform congressman from Indiana, stepped off with great strides by House Peters, who declared, subtitlely, "I am not for sale," to the great applause of the Labor day houses, according to the management.

The velvet paw couldn't drag him quite into the net, and further, in the process got itself singed by the fires of love, so that all of the senatorial plans were upset.

That's a good tale, even with its impersonalness, and it has a freshness from the worn out themes of murders and triangles.

True, in the last reel one of the disappointed ones shoots the lady with a regular John Wilkes Booth manner, but fortunately she is so slightly injured that after fainting, she can sit up and smile sweetly at the congressman from Indiana whom she sent on to victory after trying to drag him down to disgrace.

House Peters is a refreshing, free limbed player. I think he is fairly well satisfied with House Peters, but so are his observers. He does things vigorously and naively, without affectation.

Gail Kane is what Ethel Barrymore would have been on the screen had she cared enough about her film work to deserve the money she got for it. Miss Kane has not yet done any distinctly strong work, but she has a haunting Barrymore resemblance and an infinite charm of manner that set her in the niche which had been cut out for Miss Barrymore.

Excellently produced is this Brady-made picture. It has manner and finish, and originality in the handling of situations. Washington as the scene of action affords many picturesque backgrounds and there are some marvelously interesting views of the senate chamber, with politics in the brewing.

Miss Billie Burke, in "Gloria's Romance," is busy hearing all about the past and gone deceptions of her late fiancé in the eighteenth chapter, called "The Bitter Truth."

Film Flickers.

E. H. Sothern, who "retired" and then went a-filming for Vitagraph, has gone back to the stage for another season's round. One of the reasons ascribed is because he did a scenario himself for "The Quest of the Holy Grail," which didn't suit the supervisors.

Hall Caine's only son, Derwent Hall Caine, is coming to this country to work for the Arrow Film company, which will use him probably in pictures made from some of his father's productions. Mr. Caine was in the film game in Europe before the war, but on its outbreak he equipped and presented a patrol boat to the navy and was for a time in charge of a naval training station. Physical disability has prevented him from taking a direct part in the war and finally led to his retirement, which permits him to return to the screen.

Ann Pennington's next Famous Player picture is called, "The Rainbow Princess," and one of the contrasts in it consists of Miss Pennington's ninety-two pounds lined up against a circus lady's 360.

Bright Sayings of Children

Arthur made his first trip to the city and rode up and down in the elevator, turning as pale as a ghost, but didn't say a word until he reached home, when he exclaimed: "O, grandma, I rode in a 'levator and it was just like up'tairs was going down'tairs and down'tairs was going up'tairs. F. B. R.

Charles went to the city. While there he bought his first long trousers. "Oh, look," called out his little sister Ethel on seeing him. "Charles went to the city a boy and came back a man." L. G. O.

Donald had been naughty, and to punish him his mother had taken away all his privileges for a week—no rides, no candy, no fun. On Thursday came an invitation for a children's party on Saturday afternoon. Donald made many good promises and begged to go.

"Well," said his mother; "that will depend on how you behave in the meantime."

"O, mamma," answered Donald eagerly, "there isn't going to be any more mean time." C. L.

Gertrude was a daily visitor at our house, and whenever she would spy the perfume bottle on the dresser would beg for some "perfoom" on her dress.

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Write on one side of the paper only. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

One day she was, as usual, begging for some, and, trying to change the subject, I would ask her some question, such as, "Is your mother at home today, Gertrude?" etc. Finally, after Gertrude had asked about four times for "perfoom," and had been put off each time, she renewed the request, and I said: "What is the name of the street you are going to move on, Gertrude?" Whereupon Gertrude, looking out of the corner of her eye very seriously, said: "Perfoom street." M. H.

The 6 year old daughter of a friend who has two children came to her father the other day and said, "Daddy, I had a wish today." The father asked her a number of times what it was and she replied: "I won't tell the wish I had, but if it comes true there'll be three children in this family." M. D. M.

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED CONSTANTLY

Used Resinol—Soon Entirely Cured

Mar. 10.—"I had itching eczema for almost four years. My shoulders, neck, arms and just below the knees were affected. It was simply a constant itching, burning, smarting sensation. The part below my knees was frightful. It would itch so, and with the least scratching become so sore I could hardly stand it to bend them. I could not possibly sit down because I would naturally have to bend my knees, and that I could not do. I could hardly do my housework. I had tried different soaps, ointments, salves, liniments, etc., all too numerous to mention—all to no avail. At last I learned of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and used them according to directions. That night was the first time in many that I slept in peace, and in a short time I was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. G. C. Silsby, Box 30, Rockville, N. Y.

All druggists sell Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. For samples, free, write to Dept. 5-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—Advertisement.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND
By Marion Harland

Getting Rid of Bedbugs.

"WOULD you please tell me how to get rid of bedbugs in house and bed? Please give me any advice you possibly can, as our place is just full of them. I shall greatly appreciate and thank you for the same. EDNA B."

To get rid of "red rovers" simply apply a good thick coat of varnish to all lurking places. Or, get a clean oil can, fill it with gasoline and inject into all cracks and crannies where they can possibly hide. Shut the room up for some hours to give the gasoline a fair chance to do its work. Care must be taken to have the rooms thoroughly aired before artificial light goes near one. If the infliction be very severe, try both of these methods, and repeat weekly the gasoline injection for a month. First of all, I would enjoin the propriety—nay, the necessity, of sweeping, dusting, and examining carefully every nook and crevice of the rooms before painting, varnishing, and fumigating. Then burn every hair and thread of the sweepings. Do this again after airing the rooms next day or week.

Yet another way of dispersing the wretches is to dissolve an ounce of corrosive sublimate in a gallon of wood alcohol and spray furniture, floors, and cornices—in fact, every part of the room, with the mixture. Close the rooms for two days after the application. Some object that the volatile poison remains in the atmosphere after the alcohol evaporates, and is inhaled by the occupants of bed and rooms.

The objection may be reduced to a negligible quantity by the faithful sweeping, dusting, and burning following the process. After all has been done to mitigate the nuisance, the fact remains that eternal vigilance is the price of immunity from these and other household pests.

Government Owned Firehouses.

"Won't you kindly state in your Corner the number of fire houses there are in Philadelphia belonging to the government? M. C."

Some reader familiar with the subject will answer this inquiry.

Nut Basket Stiffening.

"I read the article upon stiffening nut baskets. My mother made a set and a large one. For the stiffening she used sugar and cold water. No decided proportions. It must be quite thick. I hope this will prove helpful to the Cornerite who inquired. E. M. B."

Beauty Hints
by Antoinette Donnelly

If you missed the Antoinette Donnelly series telling how she reduced Mrs. Eva Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks, or how she added twenty pounds in five weeks to Miss Helene Barnett's weight, send a stamped, addressed envelope and complete instructions as to diet and exercise will be mailed to you. Any other questions on either reducing flesh or gaining will be gladly answered. Address Antoinette Donnelly, Chicago Tribune.

MRS. P. E.: I DO NOT APPROVE of highly perfumed soaps, for they are as a rule not pure. I should avoid the use of them if I were you. The roughness of your face may be the result of the soap you are using. I recommend the pure imported castile soap. Try massaging your face each night with a good skin food and I am sure it will not be long before the roughness will have disappeared.

MINNIE: OATMEAL AND BRAN bread is an excellent substitute for soap for tender skin. Take equal parts of oatmeal and bran and place about four or five tablespoonfuls in little cheesecloth bags about five or six inches square. Place a bag in the water which you have prepared for washing your face in and when the water becomes milky use the bag as you would a wash cloth. After washing and thoroughly drying your face massage it for a few minutes each night with a good skin food. I shall be glad to send you my formula for skin food if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

ESTHER: A SIMPLE WAY TO strengthen the hands and fingers is to squeeze repeatedly a rubber ball. You may even make a ball of paper and squeeze that. This strengthens the muscles and gives you a firm grip. Bathing your eyes in a solution of ten grains of boric acid to an ounce of water will relieve the irritation after a dusty automobile ride.

MRS. T. H.: IT IS NECESSARY TO massage the face each time after the exercises. This keeps the skin from becoming flabby and wrinkled. In my work of reducing Mrs. Eva Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks, I impressed upon her the importance of facial massage. It is well when following the series of instructions to follow them just as they are outlined. If you missed any of the articles in the series, I shall be pleased to mail them to you if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

OBITUARY.

LEOPOLD PFAELZER DIES.

Leopold Pfaelzer, candidate for Democratic nomination as member of the board of assessors, died Saturday night in St. Luke's hospital while under an anesthetic and following an operation. He was born in Laudenback, Germany, in 1858, and had lived in Chicago about forty years. He is survived by his widow, a daughter, Hortense, and a son, Myron. The family residence is at 4322 Drexel boulevard. He was a brother of the late David M. Pfaelzer, former member of the board of assessors.

He was formerly a packer and lately had been associated with his son in the fire insurance business. He was a member of Brookfield, Ia., lodge, A. F. and A. M.

The funeral will be held from Isaiah temple, Forty-fifth street and Vincennes avenue, today at 9 a. m., Rabbi Joseph Stolz officiating. Burial will take place in Mount Isaiah cemetery.

MRS. O. W. NIXON IS DEAD.

Funeral services for Louise Elston Nixon, widow of Dr. O. W. Nixon, who died suddenly on Sunday, after a period of helplessness brought on by her advanced years, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today at the home of her son, Charles E. Nixon, 5309 Wayne avenue. The body will be taken to Fountain City, Ind., for burial. Mrs. Nixon was born at Mount Carmel, O., eighty-three years ago. She was the daughter of Judge Moses Elston. She was educated at the Western College for Women at Oxford, O., where she was a pupil of the late David Swing and a roommate and lifelong friend of Carrie Scott, who later became the wife of President Benjamin Harrison. She was one of the projectors of the sanitary fair in Cincinnati, an enterprise immediately following the civil war. Mrs. Nixon was one of the directors of the Y. W. C. A. in Chicago during the building operations. For twenty-five years she was a member of the New England Congregational church.

RICHARD C. KERENS DIES.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 4.—Richard C. Kerens of St. Louis, former ambassador to Austria, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hamilton Colket, at Merion, a suburb of Philadelphia, today.

MISS LILLY MAY WILLIAMS, for twenty-nine years a teacher in the Columbus school, died on Sunday at 1039 North Robey street. Miss Williams was born forty-nine years ago at what is now 1820 Grand avenue. She taught at the Columbus school until Jan. 1, 1916, when she was forced to retire because of ill health.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

Many Housewives Await With Interest This

Seventeenth Annual Sale of Foreign and Domestic Blankets and Comforters

During this month all Blankets and Comforters in our entire stock are substantially reduced in price. This is the best opportunity of the year to supply Bedding needs at marked savings. Foreign-made Blankets of the finest patterns—the best American Blankets—these are included.

Lowest Prices—Qualities Considered; Largest Assortments; Many Sizes and Qualities Exclusive With Us

Preparations have been made for months; every Blanket and Comforter in our Section is affected by the low September pricings. Considering market conditions, the values this season are even more wonderful than those which have made our September Sales for the past sixteen years widely discussed by all who recognize good values.

Values of Especial Merit:

Blankets

All wool, white with pink, blue or yellow borders—the pair, $10.70

Block plaid, all wool, in pink, blue, lavender, gray, yellow, old rose or tan—the pair, $12.45

Of wool, woven with a small amount of cotton, in white with colored borders—the pair, $7.45

All cotton, in an extensive assortment of plaids—the pair, $2.95

Comforters

Filled with a very fine quality of down and covered in floral patterned sateen—$8.95

Filled with lamb's wool in flowered silk with plain silk backs and borders—$15.85

Filled with a very fine snow-white cotton and covered with flowered silkoline with plain borders— $3.35

Crib Blankets and Comforters are also included in this Sale.

Second Floor, North Room.

During the September Sale Attention Is Directed to English Wool Taffeta, $1.35, $1.50 yard.

An assortment decidedly comprehensive — offering wide variety in this smart fabric for men's shirts and women's frocks and blouses. Color stripes and jacquard effects on white backgrounds.

Second Floor, Middle Room.

SEPTEMBER SALE OF DINNER SETS
Now in Progress.
Second Floor.

Special—

Women's Silk Hosiery—85c.

Because of a large purchase, this first quality Hosiery is offered at a price which usually represents the price of "seconds." Broken assortments of finer grades in Summer Hosiery also included at this price. First Floor.

For School Children—

Dependable Hosiery, 25c, 35c, 50c.

Complete assortments of reliable Hosiery — despite the dye situation—strongly made of good quality yarns. The values are so exceptional that Mothers are likely now to select a supply for the entire school year. Boys' long wearing Hosiery, 50c.

Fourth Floor.

The September Sale of Bolt Longcloth and Boxed Nainsook

Notwithstanding the recent and prospective increased cost of cotton, Nainsook and Longcloth by the piece have been reduced appreciably for this Sale. Women planning the winter's lingerie, trousseau-making, etc., will find it a substantial saving to make selections now.

Such well-known brands as "Royal Longcloth," "Field French Finish Nainsook" and "Ideal Sheer Nainsook"—fine enough for the daintiest of lingerie—are included.

Prices: $1.35, $1.60, $1.85, $1.95 a piece.

Illustrated is one of the best values of this Sale.

"Superior English" Longcloth, 40 inches wide, 10 yard bolts, $1.50 a bolt.

This is of considerably greater value and its present price represents a sharper reduction than has ever before been made in recent seasons. Second Floor, Middle Room.

Because of market conditions we anticipate even more hearty appreciation of these values than has been demonstrated in the past.

Satin Marseilles Bed Sets —Priced Unusually Low

Special attention is directed to the many unusual values offered during this month in Bed Sets. These Sets are made in our own mills at Zion City. Only the best selected yarns are used and the extensive range of beautiful patterns affords a splendid assortment to choose from. In spite of the rapidly advancing market prices we offer the following: Second Floor, North Room.

FIGHT CROWD MOBS "WELSH'S REFEREE"

ANGRY FANS DRIVE ROCHE FROM RING AFTER HE CALLS WHITE THE LOSER

Charley Puts Up Great Fight Against Champion in Battle for Lightweight Title at Colorado Springs Club.

POLICE SAVE OFFICIAL FROM MAN WITH GUN

BY RAY C. PEARSON.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—One second after Referee Billy Roche had raised the right hand of Freddie Welsh skyward, indicating he was winner on a decision over Charley White of Chicago after twenty rounds of battling in the arena of the Hundred Million Dollar club this afternoon, a scene of tumult was enacted that came as close as anything possibly could come to a riot and bloodshed.

Perhaps never before in any ring has a referee given a decision so palpably unfair, and all fair minded people at the ringside are a unit tonight in declaring White the victim of an injustice so raw it could not be equaled. Had Roche called the contest a draw he might have escaped some of the scathing denunciation which is being heaped on his head in Colorado Springs tonight.

Many Believe White Won.

Roche might have given the Chicago boy something approaching a fair deal had he called it an even break, but many who saw the battle never will believe White fought other than a winning fight. They hold he should have been given the decision. There are many rounds in which White finished with a slight shade, not enough, perhaps, to earn him the decision at the time, but still enough to force any referee to recognize it and give him what he rightfully deserved.

Immediately after he made his decision, Roche, standing in Welsh's corner and gazing over the ropes into the faces of a frantic mob of fans, became the mark for hundreds of flying cushions. He dodged and squirmed around the ring in an effort to escape the missiles, but something more deadly than cushions—pop bottles—quickly came hurtling through the ring at him. To escape Roche crawled under the lowest rope and down under the ring, where he was protected by a couple of his friends out of the way of harm.

Police Guard Referee.

But the safety furnished by the space was only temporary. He remained there until most of the angry fans had passed out of the arena, then, under the protection of a squad of policemen, started for the exit. When he reached the exit he found the fans waiting there for him.

They made a dash for him, trying to take him away from the bluecoats and mob him. One man flashed a gun and made an effort to get close to the referee, but one of the policemen disarmed him before he had time to do any damage. Roche finally was landed in safety at the Antlers hotel.

The decision was such a shock to White that he stood motionless in the center of the ring until he was forced to run to escape the flying cushions. His manager, Nate Lewis, tore loose in denunciation of Roche.

"That fellow promised me he would give White a square deal. He broke his word. He handicapped White in the clinches by his breaking methods, and we got a deal that we might have expected. Ever since the match was made it was public talk that Roche would give Welsh the better of it, and that is just what he did."

Just as soon as the fight was over Welsh rushed over to the referee, holding out his hand for Roche to raise it, making it look as if he felt certain of what the third man in the ring intended to do.

Stand Collapses; Many Hurt.

It was a day of excitement and thrills such as Colorado Springs or any other place seldom has experienced. A near tragedy occurred only an hour before the bouts were carded to start, when 200 feet of the upper tier of the bleachers on Huerfano street collapsed, precipitating 1,200 occupants, many of them women, to the ground, a drop of eighteen feet.

That no one was killed was miraculous. The jumbled mass of humanity was extricated from the wreckage and it was found that none was killed, although seventy-five persons were injured, three of them seriously.

To guard against the collapse of other sections of the arena a force of carpenters quickly strengthened these points with huge joists, and the promoters announced the fight would go on as scheduled. The accident had a depressing effect on many of the fans who attended. Many others who had planned to be present refused to go, cutting down the crowd to a material extent.

Charley White's fight against the champion was surprisingly better than even his most ardent admirers expected, in view of the fact that he failed to score a knockout. As was naturally expected, he found he was stacking up against a man of superior speed, but Charley did not lag one instant in the entire twenty rounds.

He did not stand on his heels and wait for Welsh to come to him, as he has so frequently done in other bouts. He allowed the champion to take the aggressive for a considerable number of the rounds, but took almost an equal share in the leading.

White Draws Only Blood.

White did not fight a fast battle, and for that matter neither did the champion. In the early rounds it was extremely slow and disappointing, and had it been limited to ten rounds, instead of twenty, it would have been termed a cheesy affair.

It was not a good fight from a fight standpoint. It was not until the thirteenth round that there was any real action. In this session White stirred things up just after the clang of the gong by shooting a hard left jab to Welsh's nose, bringing the first blood and the only gore of the battle.

From that time on to the finish White tried as hard as possible to score a knockout. His efforts to connect with his famous left hook were futile, because the champion, always on the lookout for it, was carrying his head in and out. There were four times in the entire twenty rounds that the Chicago scrapper did land that left hook, but every time the punch caught Welsh high on the head and did no damage. White's aggressiveness gave him a shade in most of the later rounds and at the finish he was going far stronger than Welsh.

Champion Plays It Safe.

Welsh made a typical British fight. He played safe from the first gong to the last and bored only for points. To gain these points he used but one punch, a left jab. His right he used almost exclusively for protective purposes, and not once did he take a chance. He admitted after the bout had ended that he had not made a contest of it because he would not take a chance on losing the title.

It was a crafty, cunning Welsh who faced White today. When the toss of the coin for corners was made White won, and naturally chose the south-

HERE'S WHAT THEY SAY

REFEREE BILLY ROCHE—I think Freddie Welsh won all the way. The battle was decided on points. I gave my decision as I saw it. Blows to the kidneys counted just the same as any other blow. Freddie Welsh is one of the world's greatest boxers and proved it by beating White almost all the way.

FREDDIE WELSH—I played White safe. I proved that a boxer is superior to a fighter. I knew Charley had a terrific wallop, and as you can see there is no mark on my face. After the first ten rounds I felt I could do as I wished with Charley. I caught most of his wallops with my famous triangle defense.

CHARLEY WHITE—I feel that I have been robbed by Billy Roche. From the fifteenth round on I was sure I had Welsh beat at everything. I was the aggressor, and while I did not knock him down for the count or anything close to it, he hung on and clinched whenever the pace was hot. I am going to claim the lightweight championship and every one at the ringside will agree that I am the real champion. Roche will never referee another match for me as long as I am in the ring.

NATE LEWIS—Giving Freddie Welsh the decision over Charley White was the rankest thing I have ever seen in my entire career as a manager of boxers.

HARRY POLLOK—Freddie Welsh is still the champion and in my opinion Charley White is not in his class. Those blows which every one thought Charley was scoring were caught on the arms of the champion.

RINGSIDE NOTES

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—This is surely the wild and woolly west.

The women folk who attended the bout were attired in swell raiment.

One of the seconds in each corner had a regular job of holding an umbrella over the head of his fighter.

Challenges were read from the ringside from Willie Ritchie, Joe Rivers, and Ad Wolgast.

The sun boiled down so hot that a lot of fans put handkerchiefs under their hats and let them hang down over their necks.

Billy Reilly of Colorado Springs was the official timekeeper. Johnny Kenny of Denver acted for White and Bob Vernon of New York for Welsh.

A few piker chaps attempted to do a lot of betting at the ringside, but when informed that it was unpopular business they desisted.

The cushions used at the arena certainly were not padded with feathers. When one of them hit a person on the head it felt as if a brick had landed.

The sheriff who had charge of a force of deputies did yeoman duty in helping suppress the riotous doings after the finish of the bout.

When the news of Johnny Kilbane's knockout victory over George Chaney was announced, the crowd emitted a rousing cheer.

In Welsh's corner were Harry Pollock, Jim Flynn, Jack Bratton, Battling Reddy, and Charley Rose. White had Nate Lewis, Jack White, Joe Thomas, Harry Bramer, and Harry Hennessey.

Boxing fans from every city in this vicinity poured in this morning and every hotel was filled to capacity. They came from Pueblo, Cripple Creek, and other places. At the ringside everything was serene and orderly until the decision was given.

FIGHT STAND FALLS; SEVENTY-FIVE HURT

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Seventy-five persons, some of them summer tourists, were injured this afternoon when the south bleachers of the arena of the Hundred Million Dollar club on Huerfano street collapsed just an hour before the time scheduled for the first bout on the card of which the feature was the twenty round battle between Freddie Welsh and Charley White.

This section of the bleachers was occupied by 1,200 fans when the timbers cracked and crashed to the ground, a drop of eighteen feet. That no one was killed seems a miracle.

Some Jump to Safety.

The first hint of danger came when the bleacher began to sag in the middle. Some of the occupants saw the danger in time and escaped by jumping to other seats nearer the ring. A second later there was a crash and the entire section went down, carrying the fans with it.

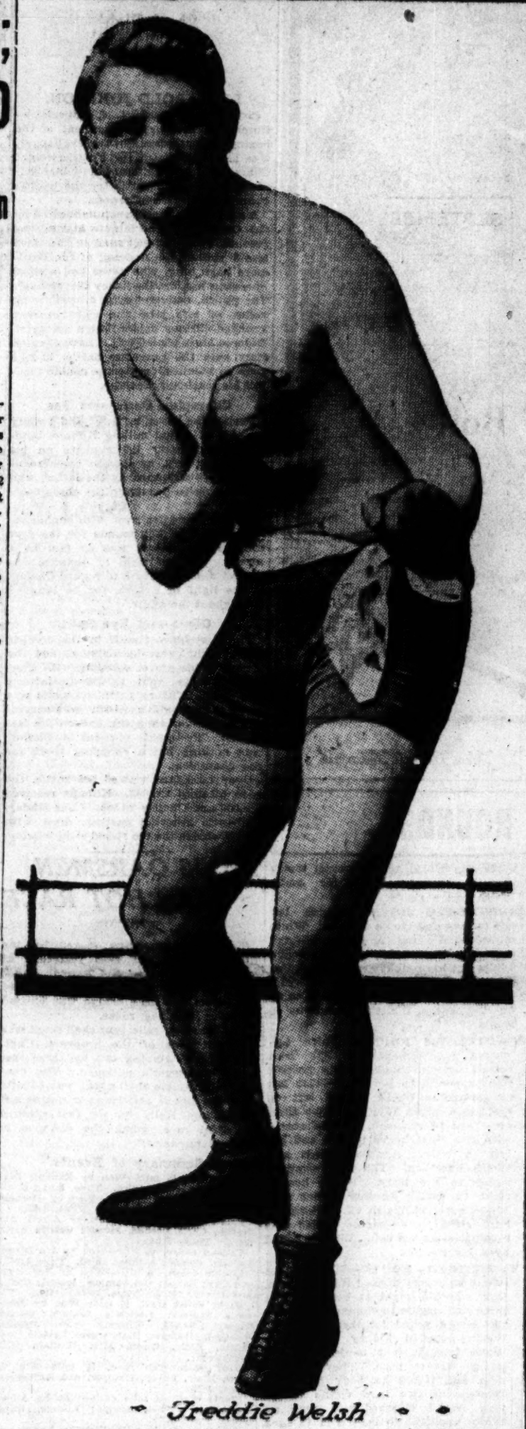

Some of those on top of the jumbled mass of humanity escaped with only slight bruises, but many were buried by the broken timbers and it was only after strenuous work by the police that they were extricated. Ambulances quickly were summoned and those most seriously hurt were hurried to hospitals.

Two Chicagoans Hurt.

Several of those injured were women. Although there were about thirty-five Chicagoans in the arena, only two of them were injured. They were H. Giffon of 316 Wabash avenue, who was only slightly hurt, and E. W. Messmer of Hegewisch.

The arena had been inspected by the city engineer's office on Saturday and declared safe.

MATTY BEATS MINER BROWN; FIRST TO CUBS

Wins Second for Reds by 10 to 8 After Tinx Take Opening Game, 3-0.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Chicago fans turned out 17,000 strong in spite of a rainstorm to celebrate the Brown-Mathewson swan song at Weeghman park yesterday and the Cubs and Reds celebrated by breaking even in the holiday double header, of which the battle of veteran heroes was the feature.

Mathewson emerged triumphant from his farewell engagement with his ancient and honorable rival, beating Brownie by a margin of 10 to 8. The Cubs won the curtain raiser by a score of 3 to 0.

There was nothing but sentiment to attract a crowd that overflowed the plant to see these past masters of the slab art pitch their last game against each other. Gone are the days when they were the reliance of two great ball teams battling each other for pennants year after year. Their lots are cast with second division outfits now.

Great Masters Are Through.

Gone are the days when Matty and Brownie could give the greatest batsmen in the game a winning argument nine times out of ten and when shutout scores were frequent when they performed. All that is left to them of their wonderful prowess are their lion's hearts and their master minds.

Gone was the fearsome and deadly hook with which the veteran of the Cub slab used to mow down his antagonists in the pinches; gone was the effectiveness of Matty's far famed fadeaway. Still a great group of baseball rooters stood in the rain for an hour before time to start the games and, soon after it was decided to play, filled the plant. The dollar sign has not driven all the sentiment out of the nation's pastime.

Fans Stay for Finish.

The Cubs and Reds proceeded to knock a lot of things out of the deliveries of the great hurlers who faced them and still the fans remained to the long delayed finish of a batting fest, partly because they realized it would be their last chance to see Mordecai and Christy pitted against each other on a green diamond.

Not that neither of them will pitch again, because each of them demonstrated that he has many good innings left in his arm, but that they never will hook up against each other in the same game is practically certain.

It was a see-saw battle of bats and wits. At first the tide favored Brown, as the Cubs gained a lead of two runs and held it for two rounds. Then the Reds got to Brownie for the lead in the third and held it to the end, although the Tinkers rallied at the finish and had the tying runs on the bases in the last half round when Mollwitz, batting for Pechous, flied the game over. This was the first substitution made on either side, although it was not expected either of the past master pitchers would finish the way they were being hit.

Eighteen Hits and Sixteen.

Brown was tagged for eighteen safeties while Matty escaped with sixteen off him. They had almost perfect control, issuing one base on balls apiece, and again Mathewson had a slight advantage because Brown also hit one batsman.

Wingo was the most heartless cuss of the lot, as he peeled off four hits, but Hauser came close to Ivy in lack of consideration by smashing a home run over the wall in the ninth inning with two men on ahead of him.

The first game was a shutout for Mique Prendergast, who held the Reds down to three well scattered hits, while the Cubs were tagging Schulz for ten. The Tinx made only three tallies with their swats was due to tough combination.

Cubs Win in First Round.

The curtain raiser virtually was over in the first inning, when singles by Flack, Kelly, and Archer, helped out by a wild pitch and a steal, scored two runs. Schulz stopped the locals until the seventh inning, when singles by Pechous and Prendergast, with a double by Doyle, scored the third tally.

The Reds did not get a man as far as second base off Mique and just four of them lived that long, three on swats and one on a boot by Wortman.

THROWN TIRE RESULTS IN AUTO RACER'S DEATH.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 4.—W. E. Lockett was killed in a fifty mile automobile race this afternoon when he was thrown out of his car and the next racer ran over him, crushing him to death.

Lockett's mechanician, Sam Krels, was uninjured save a cut over his left eye. C. B. Regal, driving a Regal car, and George Summers, his mechanician, were slightly injured. Carl Mitchell and Tom Kesterson also were slightly injured.

GRIFFITH SHADES J. RIVERS.

Canton, O., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Johnny Griffith of Akron outpointed Joe Rivers of Los Angeles in twelve fast rounds here this afternoon. Griffith and Rivers outboxed from the start and never allowed his opponent to gain the upper hand. Rivers had only one round, the fourth, by a shade. The Akron boxer used both right and left hands with wonderful speed. Griffith was unmarked, while Rivers left the ring with one eye cut and his mouth and nose bleeding.

MANDOT KNOCKED OUT BY RUSSELL IN 14TH

New Orleans, La., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Joe Mandot of New Orleans was knocked out tonight in the fourteenth round of his twenty round go with Frank Russell, also of New Orleans. Mandot had the better of the first five rounds, but after that Russell forged ahead. He dropped Mandot in the tenth round for the count of four. Eleven thousand fans were present.

BANTAM CHAMP ALSO A VICTOR

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Blear eyed and dazed, with blood gushing from a gash over his right optic and his body pelted to a crimson hue, Frankie Brown staggered from the arena this afternoon at Oriole park badly beaten, but with whatever solace there may be in remaining the limit of ten rounds with Bantamweight Champion Kid Williams. Three times Brown wilted under the champion's body assault in the ninth round and crumpled up on the canvas, but on each occasion he succeeded in regaining his feet before Referee Ultman could toll off the fatal ten seconds.

SPIKE KELLY BEATS DUFFY.

Racine, Wis., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Spike Kelly easily outpointed Jack Duffy in a ten round bout at John Wagner's Auditorium Athletic club. Kelly put up a wonderful fight, tearing Duffy to ribbons. Kelly has received an offer to box Jack Britton.

Maurice Flynn and Matty McCue fought a hard ten round battle to a good draw.

HAYES-BURDICK TEAM WINS.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Walter Hayes and Ralph Burdick of Chicago won the doubles final in the annual northern Illinois tennis tournament, defeating Mayer and Becker of Chicago. Hayes defeated Becker in the singles final.

SOX TAKE TWO FROM BROWNS; ST. LOUIS SAD

Rowland's Men Gain on Leaders with Double Victory, 3-2, 2-1.

BY SAM WELLER.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—It required Comiskey's club, which Fielder Jones formerly led, to stop the St. Louis Browns in their rampage flagward. The Sox grabbed both ends of a double header here today, taking the first game 3 to 2 and winning the second 2 to 1. The largest crowd, perhaps, that ever was at Sportsman's park saw the tragedy for Jones' favorites.

Lefty Williams went the full route for the Sox on the mound in the first battle and Joe Bens in the second. Only three hits were made off Batesville Joe.

The Sox played some real inside baseball, showing class from the start of the first game to the finish of the second. The crowd, estimated at 25,000, rooted wildly for an even break for the day, but it went away deeply disappointed.

Austin's Error Is Costly.

Austin's error proved costly in the first inning of the second game. He booted J. Collins' grounder and Shane was safe at first. Weaver sacrificed and Collins stole third. The squeeze play was worked beautifully by Eddie Collins and J. Collins, who scored. With one out in the second inning, Felsch lined a single to left center and promptly purloined second. Terry rapped a single to left, sending "Happy" home. This was the winning run. Terry took second on Shotton's error, but Schalk hit into a double play.

Pratt singled to left in the fifth, advanced when Marsans grounded out, and went home on Rumler's hit to center. Old Eddie Plank pitched a good game for the Browns, but it wasn't his day to win.

Williams Wins Own Game.

Williams won his own game in the first battle. His double led to the tying score in the sixth. His safe rap to right sent Fournier, who had strolled home in the seventh. Fournier advanced when Felsch poled a hit to left, and both runners advanced on Terry's sacrifice.

Fournier's single to short left sent Eddie Collins home with the run that proved the winner in the eighth. Eddie had walked and stolen second and third.

Koob and Williams started out to hurl a fine duel. The Sox mussed up things for their southpaw in the first inning. With two out, Sisler grounded to Terry, whose throw to Fournier was wide, Jack playing the ball poorly, but Zeb getting the boot. Jackson misjudged Pratt's easy fly to left and Sisler scored.

Sox Hitless Until Sixth.

The first hit was made off Koob in the sixth inning, when the Sox tied the game in a knot. Williams surprised everybody, himself included, when he rapped the pill to deep right for a double. J. Collins poked a single to center, scoring Williams with the tieing run. J. Collins was caught trying to steal and Eddie Collins' safe hit to center was wasted. Williams was in trouble in the sixth, when singles by Shotton and Sisler, Terry's muff of J. Collins' throw, and a stolen base put runners on second and third with one out. Pratt was intentionally passed, filling the bases. Marsans popped to Eddie Collins and Hartley rolled to Fournier.

LEVINSKY HANDS KAYO A LICKING

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Battling Levinsky of New York, who jumped into the pugilistic spotlight by his victory over Jack Dillon, the Hoosier battler, who put Frank Moran in the discard in their fight in New York, gave George Knockout Brown, the local Greek, a boxing lesson in their ten round bout at East Chicago yesterday. The first round was even, but the easterner won the remaining nine sessions.

Levinsky certainly impressed the 5,000 persons who saw the contest. His cool and conservative generalship and his snappy left hand, followed by a hard right cross, made him a favorite with the Chicago boxing fraternity. Even the Greeks, who closed their fruit stores to see Brown fight, admitted on the homeward trip that their man was beaten.

Levinsky a Real Fighter.

The easterner is a great fighter. There is nothing flashy in his boxing, but he goes about his work in a businesslike manner. He does not get excited when an opponent lands a hard punch and he gauges his punches with the accuracy of a McFarland or a Welsh.

With due credit to Brown, it must be said he was outweighed at least fifteen pounds. Despite this handicap he showed his gameness and stamina by forcing the fight in the early sessions. When the bell rang at the start of every round Brown rushed out of his corner like a lion, and several times met his opponent near his own corner.

Brown Keeps on Rushing.

It did not take the smart Levinsky long to solve these tactics and by side stepping he evaded the best planned punches of the Greek. Regardless of a beating around the midsection, Brown kept coming, boring in, swinging both hands in wild fashion in an attempt to reach a vital spot. He was beaten, but after the contest was over Levinsky admitted Brown was one of the toughest fighters he ever met.

With the first tap of the bell Brown tore into his opponent in relentless fashion. He played mostly for the body, but Levinsky had an even break on the body, but Levinsky had an even break on the round. In the second session Levinsky had all the best of the battling. Both fell to the floor when Levinsky slipped and pulled his opponent with him. From then until the final tap of the bell the easterner had all the best of the milling.

In the semi-windup there was little to choose between Marty Cutler and Leo Nelson, both of Chicago. A hairline decision would give the honors to Nelson. Cutler did not look to be in shape, but put up a game fight. Both were heavyweights.

Young Joe Bishop of Whiting, Ind., was the winner over Mike Oswego of East Chicago in the six round preliminary. In the second round Bishop was fouled three times and at one time went to the canvas, but the referee was unable to see the low blow. He recovered quickly and made Oswego look foolish in the remaining rounds.

first corner, the other facing the sun. But for the toss was no disadvantage to the champion, for he quickly devised ways and means to offset it.

The moment the bout started he quickly worked White around so that Charley was facing the sun, which was peeking over the top of Pike's Peak, and from that time to the finish Welsh never allowed White to face in any other direction.

For seven rounds Welsh easily was able to locate White's nose with his left jab, but in the seventh session Charley found that by shifting his head he could make the champion miss, and by discovering this he broke up the main point of the champion's attack.

While it must be admitted White did not get what he deserved from the referee, there is something else that should be said about White which isn't in his favor. He allowed the cautious stuff exhibited by the champion to grip him, too, and there were many times when had he torn in like a wild bull and slugged he might have gained what he had set out to get—a knockout. But his bursts of rough milling were few and far between, and they were so brief that Welsh never was in trouble.

There is also one other thing that should be said about Roche. Every time he broke the boys he held White's left shoulder, Charley's best hitting hand, while with the other he held the champion's right. Both boys left the ring without any facial marks to show that they had been in a bout.

Delay Before Main Bout.

The first preliminary was put on the boards at 2:30, and after two bouts were run off there was a wait of half an hour for the principals in the big event. It was not until 3:40 that Charley White entered the ring, accompanied by a huge squad of seconds, in charge of Nate Lewis. Welsh quickly followed the Chicago boy, and after the formality of taking the moving pictures the gong starting hostilities was clanged at 3:55.

In the preliminary bouts Benny Garcia won over Billy Johnson in three rounds, the referee stopping the bout. They were scheduled to go six rounds. In the other bout Frankie Murphy knocked out Stewart Donnelly in three rounds. They were billed to go ten rounds at 138 pounds.

Receipts Nearly $40,000.

In spite of the conditions created by the railroad troubles and the accident at the arena, 8,000 persons saw the bout, and it is estimated tonight that the receipts were close to $40,000, which will make the club a winner financially. The fact that the club makes a profit, however, is not the point which is of the greatest interest here, for the club did not promote the contest for profit. It sought to put Colorado Springs on the boxing map, but the members met with unpleasant features they did not anticipate.

From the talk around club quarters tonight it seems pretty definitely settled that the game has died a-bornin'. Those vitally interested in the match today are disgusted and willing to try something in the way of sport which does not leave an unpleasant taste.

CHARLEY WHITE'S SISTER AND NEPHEW GETTING RETURNS FROM "TRIBUNE" TICKER

Mrs. Frank Feingut

STORY OF THE FIGHT BY ROUNDS

DECISION SHOCKS WHITE'S FAMILY

"If Charley won twelve and Welsh won two and the rest were even, how could Charley lose?" was the question propounded to the sporting editor yesterday afternoon by 10 year old Daniel Feingut, nephew of Charley White.

Daniel and his mother, Mrs. Frank Feingut, a sister of Charley, came to THE TRIBUNE office to get the first reports from THE TRIBUNE ticker. They telephoned the reports to the Feingut billiard room at 1718 West Twelfth street, where a host of White admirers were assembled. In the crowd there was Hyman Anchovitz, father of the pugilist, whose later years have been made easy by the ring winnings of his son.

The ticker and early press reports gave White all the best of the milling, and there was jubilation among the local boxer's friends. Suddenly came the flash, "Referee Roche gives the decision to Welsh."

"I don't see how that could be when Charley had so much the best of it," said Mrs. Feingut, as she gathered up the ticker tape. "I want to take this over to my mother, because it shows how much Charley won," she explained.

Frequent telephone calls came to THE TRIBUNE office from Mrs. Anchovitz's north side residence, where the local battler's mother was waiting the returns.

DE GARMO LANDS CASTING TITLE

PRESS COMMENT

BILL FORMAN, Chicago Herald—At the end of a cheesy fight Referee Billy Roche gave a decision that probably no other referee in the world would have given. He raised Welsh's arm in token of victory when, in the opinion of the writer, a draw would have been stretching a point in the champion's favor.

SAM HALL, Chicago Examiner—The decision was just from a technical standpoint. Welsh scoring the greater number of blows, even though all of them were of the slap variety.

ED SMITH, Chicago American—Billy Roche was in the ring and gave his decision, which I think was correct.

HARRY HOCHSTADTER, Chicago Evening Post—I think the decision of Referee Billy Roche was the greatest robbery in the history of the prize ring. Charley White won that championship as fairly and squarely as any boxer who ever lived.

PYKE JOHNSON, Rocky Mountain News—Freddie Welsh was awarded the decision, but the least Charley White should have had was a draw. The Chicago boy put up a grand fight against an opponent who clinched, hugged, and sidestepped most of the way.

ASSOCIATED PRESS—Roche stood for several moments as if undecided. He then reached out both hands toward the boxers and many of the spectators believed he was about to award a draw. Suddenly Welsh rushed over to Roche and placed his glove in the referee's hand and it was raised aloft while the official appeared to be reaching for White.

UNITED PRESS—It was the opinion of many ringsiders that White deserved a draw, and possibly more, although Welsh piled up his points in the earlier rounds of the bout.

KILBANE STOPS GEORGE CHANEY IN THIRD ROUND

Feather Champion Knocks His Challenger Cold with a Short Right.

BY HAROLD JOHNSON.

Cedar Point, O., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—Outclassed in every department of the boxing game, George Chaney, challenger, was an easy victim for Featherweight Champion Johnny Kilbane in their scheduled fifteen round battle for the world's championship this afternoon.

A short right hand punch unbuckled by the Clevelander one minute and twenty seconds after the bell rang in the third round proved the undoing of the Baltimore hayo king, who never had a ghost of a show against the flashy Clevelander. The punch, delivered after a bewildering volley of left jabs and right crosses, knocked Chaney colder than a mackerel. Referee Matt Hinkel might have counted forty over the prostrate battler had he been so inclined, for George couldn't collect his scattered faculties.

Champion Outclasses Foe.

During the seven minutes and twenty seconds of actual milling Kilbane landed approximately 100 punches on his short adversary, as against three regular wallops unloaded by the latter, who was unable to penetrate the champion's guard.

Kilbane, bubbling over with confidence and trained to 122 pounds for the first time in four years, was as fast as a streak. His judgment of distance was perfect and he seemed to regard Chaney in the light of a joke, for he laughed throughout the affair.

Glove and Eye Split.

The first blow struck in the combat was a right cross by Kilbane, and the thumb of his glove, colliding with Chaney's left eye, split, as did the latter's said optic. Kilbane called time and was given a fresh glove, which was several shades darker than the one on his left mauler. From this moment on Chaney was nothing but a chopping block for the champion.

Over 7,000 fans viewed the battle, the gate totaling $30,000. Kilbane received $10,000 and Chaney $6,500. Luke Ginley, Kilbane's sparring partner, drew with Kid Wolfe in the ten round semi-windup.

TRICOLOR SQUAD FIRST IN LABOR DAY FIELD MEET

I. A. C. Team Amasses 46 Points and Scores Decisive Victory.

BY JACK PROCTOR.

Several near approaches to world's records and many close finishes featured the track and field meet held at Brickayers' field yesterday. The Illinois Athletic association scored 46 points, winning the meet. The Lincoln Athletic club was second with 17 points, and the Greek Olympic club third, with 8 points. The individual honors went to L. Jefferson, a colored athlete of the Lincoln Athletic club.

Handicap Defeats Ahearn.

The nearest approach to a world's record was made in the hop, step, and jump, by Dan F. Ahearn of the Illinois Athletic association. Ahearn's best effort was 50 feet 9 inches, but he lost the event to Gus Contos, who had a handicap of 5 feet 3 inches.

The most thrilling event to the spectators was the five heats and the final of the 220 yard dash. That this contest furnished exciting finishes is evidenced by the fact that the slowest time made in any of the heats or finals did not fall below twenty-four seconds. The best time was twenty and three-fifths seconds, made by J. B. Radke of the Mezereon club.

The first and feature event of the day was the ten mile road race, won by Chris Christianson of the Swedish-American A. C. Out of twenty-two starters seventeen finished.

Summary of Events.

RED SOX SHARE HOLIDAY GAMES WITH YANKEES

Boston Wins Morning Tilt, 7-1, but Loses the Second When Rally Falls Short, 4-3.

New York, Sept. 4.—New York broke even with Boston on the day, also in the four game series, by defeating the world's champions this afternoon before a large crowd, 4 to 3. Boston won the morning game, 7 to 1.

The afternoon game was an exciting one, the Red Sox scoring three runs on Shawkey in the ninth and tying the score, after which New York won in its final half when Mays, with a wild pitch, sent the winning run over the plate. Leonard, who had not permitted a hit for twelve and one-third innings prior to today's game, was knocked off the slab in the third inning, when New York scored three runs on hits by High, Peckinpaugh, and Maisel, two errors, and a double steal.

Centerfielder Walker of the Bostons was shaken up in a collision with Second Baseman Janvrin in the first inning and was forced to retire. Scores:

TIGERS' SLUGGING LANDS PAIR FROM CLEVELAND.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4.—By defeating Cleveland, 11 to 8, this afternoon, after winning from the Indians, 7 to 5, this forenoon, Detroit crept within one game of first place. Both of the local contests were slugging matches, seven pitchers being used this afternoon and nine this morning. H. Coveleskie was hit in the stomach by a line drive from Wambsganss' bat and was carried from the field in the morning game. As he was the Tigers' most successful twirler this year his loss may cost the locals their pennant chances. Detroit won the second game in the sixth inning by scoring six runs off Morton and Bagby. BRAVES SEIZE LEAD BY BREAKING EVEN IN BILL WITH GIANTS

Boston, Mass., Sept. 4.—Boston went into first place by splitting even with New York while Brooklyn was losing twice to Philadelphia. The Braves won the morning game, 3 to 2, while New York took the afternoon contest, 8 to 3. The afternoon game was loosely played, each of them making six errors. The Giants won in the eighth with two hits, two errors, a pass and a sacrifice. Scores:

OGDEN.

THE instant you see the mayor of Ogden, you know he is the Mayor of Ogden. You know by his white spats, his gray silk gloves and his silk whiskers of various Hughes.

He was our chief escort on a horseless carriage trip through Ogden Canyon.

2.6—Pass an amusement park on right. The Mayor: "We have just bought this for the city and intend to make a big public park out of it."

2.9—Mr. Cowles: "That ought to be a great thing."

4.1—Enter the canyon. The Mayor: "This is what we call 'Ogden Canyon.'"

4.8—Mr. Lasker: "So this is the canyon, is it?" The Mayor: "Yes, sir. This is the canyon."

6.8—Follow stream along narrow road. Mr. Lasker: "Do they catch any fish in this stream?"

8.4—The Mayor: "Yes."

10.4—The Mayor: "I am going to take you up to our wells and show you where we get our city water."

10.8—Mr. Cowles: "That will be very interesting."

13.6—Us: "How large is Ogden now?"

14.7—The Mayor: "I would always rather underestimate than the reverse. We have at least 30,000."

15.1—Mr. Lasker: "How big is Salt Lake City?"

16.1—The Mayor: "Well, they claim 125,000. But I would say they had between 80,000 and 100,000.

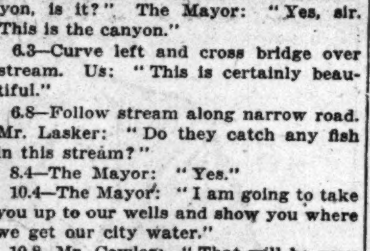

18.2—Turn right and approach artesian well pumping station.

18.5—Stop at pumping station. The Mayor: "Here is where we assemble the water that is used in the city. Us: "It certainly is fine." Mr. Hough: "Wonderful." Mr. Cowles: "How much did it cost?" The Mayor: "I could not tell you right off-hand. I could find out." Us: "Never mind if it is any trouble." Turn round and start back.

16.3—Mr. Lasker: "How do you get the water down to the city?"

1.5—The Mayor: "We let gravity attend to that."

Mr. Lasker asked how his collar looked. We told him the truth and accompanied him in quest of a new one.

The proprietor of the store was up in front, waiting on the other customer.

The Prop.—"Did you want something, sir?"

Mr. Lasker: "Yes. A collar."

The Prop.: "Tiny, show the gentleman a collar."

Mr. Lasker [to Tiny]: "Fifteen and a quarter, please."

Tiny: "We only have the two for a quarter."

After which there was a banquet at the Weber club and everybody made a speech.

Mine was a scream.

PHILS KNOCK ROBINS FROM NATIONAL LEAD BY CAPTURING PAIR

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 4.—Before crowds which broke the record for a holiday at National league park, the stands being jammed to their capacity at each game, Philadelphia twice defeated Brooklyn, 2 to 1 in the morning and 10 to 3 in the afternoon. Thousands of fans were turned away before each game started. The double defeat cost Brooklyn the lead, Boston taking first place. The afternoon contest was never in doubt after the first inning, when the home team scored six runs off Cheney and Smith, four of which were due to two errors by Getz. Scores:

GOPHER HYDRO AGAIN VICTOR

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4.—Miss Minneapolis of the Minneapolis Power Boat association averaged nearly fifty miles an hour today and won the second thirty mile heat of the national power boat races here. It crossed the line ahead in each of the six laps and won in 41:46. Miss Detroit, the cup defender, was second; Peter Pan VII. of the Columbia Yacht club, New York, third, and Hawkeye of the Lake George club, fourth.

The day's sport was marred by two accidents. Baby Marold of Detroit, after setting a new world's record of 55.35 miles an hour in the first lap, caught fire near the finish the second time around and was totally destroyed. It was necessary to sink the craft to extinguish the blaze. Its driver, John Milot of Detroit, was slightly burned about the hands and thrown out by the force of the explosion. The mechanician jumped overboard after heading the boat away from the shore and escaped uninjured. Breaking of the gasoline line caused the fire.

The other accident, a collision of three express cruisers, necessitated calling off the express cruiser race. Betty M. II. of Detroit was caught between Venetian Maid and Æolus, also of Detroit, and its stern split open. No one was injured and Betty M. II. was towed ashore.

A holiday crowd of fully 200,000 persons saw the race from the shores of the city and Belle Isle. Miss Minneapolis now has 14 points on the gold cup, Peter Pan VII. and Miss Detroit 11 each, and Hawkeye 8. Summaries:

YACHT INTREPID TAKES REGATTA BY SAFE MARGIN

Lands First Prize in a Field of Thirty-one Boats—Priscilla Second.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

Of all the sports featured on Labor day, yachting perhaps was the one least affected by the rain that deluged the city. The Lake Michigan Yachting association ran its annual fall regatta according to schedule, and none of the boats entered failed to show up at the starting line.

Thirty-one boats competed in the event, which was run around the Lincoln Park Yacht club's triangle course, with the start and finish off Fullerton avenue.

Winner's Time 1:25:15.

Intrepid, which was placed in the class with the twenty-one foot cabin boats and the thirty-five footers, breezed around the Harrison and Lake View cribs and back to the starting point in 1:25:15, which beat the time of the second best boat by several minutes. The second best craft was Commodore Harry M. Higinbotham's big yawl, Priscilla, flagship of the Chicago Yacht club, which made the triangle in 1:31:10.

A feature of the regatta was the final race for the Sir John Nutting cup, which went to Schoenwerk and Phillips' Banshee of the Chicago Yacht club, to be held for one year.

Who shall smoke —a "Light Hearted Havana"?

TOM MOORE'S flavor is no accident—mild tho' he is.

In our judgment he strikes the finest balance between flavor and mildness (those two great essentials of a good cigar) that has been achieved in cigar production.

—a flavor that a cultivated cigar taste rarely tires of.

—a mildness of "smoke weight" that agreeably steadies a man, but never rests heavily upon him.

For Tom Moore enjoyment is the enjoyment of keen, clean palates. It is not for quick smokers who scarcely know what they are smoking.

Rather, Tom Moore is for a class of men who prize their cigars as pleasures to look forward to—who consider the type of cigar they smoke, while they smoke it. Men who, in a word, find their most constant cigar enjoyment met by "light hearted Havanas."

You can well linger over your Tom Moores.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—W. C. Fownes Jr. of Oakmont, national amateur champion in 1910, won the qualifying round of the twenty-second national amateur golf championship over the two courses of the Merion Cricket club today with a thirty-six hole score of 153. Max Marston of Baltusrol was two strokes behind him, at 155, and Eben Byers of Allegheny, national champion in 1906, trailed Marston by another two strokes.

The present titleholder, Bob Gardner, of the Hinsdale Country club, playing with the first finger of his left hand in a tight bandage, found a resting place in the middle of the championship division and Chick Evans, national open champion, occupied a rather lofty position near the head of the list, at 158.

Stars Fall by Wayside.

In spite of the fact that all of the favorites for the titles successfully passed through the eliminating thirty-six holes of medal play, there were enough surprises and upsets in those who lost out to form a high class championship thirty-two.

Among those who fell by the wayside or into the bunkers were Philip V. G. Carter, North and South amateur champion, and one of the Metropolitan favorites, Reggie Lewis, of Wykagyl, Westchester, and Connecticut champion; Fred Herreshoff, twice runnerup in the national championship; Dudley Mudge, medalist at Detroit last year; Reuben G. Bush, former southern champion; Sherrill Sherman, semi-finalist at Detroit in 1915; Hamilton K. Kerr, Connecticut champion of 1915 and semi-finalist in the national championship of 1912; W. Hamilton Gardner of Buffalo; Parker Seeley of Brooklawn, J. K. Bole, A. F. Kammer, and Max Behr, former New Jersey champion and once runnerup in the national championship.

Evans vs. Whitney Today.

The result of the draw for the pairings was satisfactory to those who expect to be in the gallery tomorrow, for one of the first pairs to be drawn together was Chick Evans and Nelson Whitney. The former southern champion has been playing in wonderful style lately and unless the open champion plays the real game that he is capable of producing at his best moments he will make a summary exit.

Bob Gardner will spend the day with John M. Ward of Garden City, each endeavoring to persuade the other that too much is enough, and Eben Byers has been intrusted with the task of eliminating little Bob Jones of Atlanta, who turned out to be a real sensation after all.

The match play will be confined to the east course, all matches at thirty-six holes. The first pair will get away at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

ON LOCAL GOLF COURSES.

Chicago.

Over 100 Chicagoans turned out for the Labor day schedule, the chief event of which was the handicap, choice eighteen of thirty-six holes, for the F. O. Wetmore trophy. C. K. Knickerbocker won with a card of 85—11—74. K. L. Ames registered the low gross and tied for second low net position with 78—2—76.

Windsor.

Two gold watches presented by G. W. Hackett for the best ball event at Windsor went to O. C. Landolf and F. A. Enstedt, who won the final match. All of the preliminary matches were close, several going extra holes. Mrs. E. G. Timme and R. C. Wilson won the mixed foursome with a score of 81 after a tie with Mrs. R. C. Wilson and E. G. Timme, who took second.

Speedway.

Dr. Pierson won the blind bogey event at Speedway park with a net of 68. Other leading scores were: S. R. Woolf, 82; D. G. Field, 83; John G. Campbell, 83; Dr. Walton, 84.

Ridgemoor.

W. C. Coles won the Labor day event at Ridgemoor defeating F. M. Smith, 1 up. Mrs. M. Fischer and W. D. Price won the mixed foursome, 98—19—80. P. Mayo and F. M. Enright taking the four ball event, 90—24—66. Swimmers in the driving event in classes A, B, and C were R. E. Williams, A. D. Day, and H. S. Sander. Mrs. H. H. Piper won the women's driving contest, Mrs. H. A. Smith being second.

THE TERRIBLE INTRODUCTION

RAUTENBUSH SETS SERIES OF RECORDS AND WINS GOLF CUP

Setting new records for one, two, three and four rounds of the Jackson park course, William Rautenbush of the Garfield Golf club won the triple playoff for permanent possession of the Post cup. He finished with a total of 288, Murray Deming, the city champion, having 307, and Thomas Warren, 322.

These three players were previous winners of the city championship and had legs on the cup. H. Scott, the first winner, was unable to play.

Rautenbush played wonderfully fine golf all through, starting with a 72 on Sunday morning and following with a 66 in the afternoon. This latter score broke the record of 68, made by Chick Evans five years ago, and also set a new competitive record of 138 for the double round.

More Records Here.

Yesterday morning Rautenbush made 75, his total of 213 also being a new record. In the afternoon he made another 75, giving him a record of 288 for 72 holes, which will take a lot of beating.

Scores in the first round were: Warren, 83-38-76; Deming, 88-36-74; Rautenbush, 72. Second round: Warren, 41-41-82; Deming, 38-37-75; Rautenbush, 32-33-66. Rautenbush had 138 and led Deming by eleven strokes, and Warren with 158 being practically out of the running.

Labor Day Scores.

Yesterday morning Rautenbush notched a 75, while Deming went up to 81 and Warren to 88. Both improved in the afternon, but had no chance to win. The galleries on both days were big, running from 1,000 to 1,500. Yesterday's scores were: Warren, 45—43—88! Deming, 44—37—81; Rautenbush, 39—36—75. Afternoon—Warren, 37—39—76; Deming, 41—36—77; Dautenbush, 38—37—75.

Rautenbush in his record round had nine threes, his card being as follows:

Out	5	3	4	5	4	3	3	3	3—33
In	5	3	4	4	2	5	4	4	3—33—66

Evanston.

In the choice score handicap, eighteen holes out of thirty-six, C. D. Marsh with 68 won in class A. W. S. Howell with 64 in class B, and E. K. Vorhees with 65 in class C. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott H. Evans won low gross in the mixed foursome with 88, low net going to Miss Walker and Dr. Davis with 91—16—75. D. W. Gaylord won the low net score in the morning with 88—26—62, and C. E. Fargo took the approaching and putting contest with a score of 5. There were nine tied for second place in the latter event. A big crowd attended the dance at night.

Indian Hill.

Indian Hill members competed in a 36 hole event from which they picked the best score for nine holes. J. C. Mechem and W. H. Lyon tied at 84. The qualifying round for the Indian Hill cup was completed, the pairings being as follows: J. Q. Syme and R. C. Butler; R. H. Harrison and A. F. Reithmann, H. Watson and W. Pease Jr., L. T. Walker and G. R. Colhins, R. S. Coffin and C. H. Conrad, J. F. Bernet and R. F. Hall, B. F. Cummins and H. M. Capron; E. M. Cummins and T. H. McInerney. A one day event for W. G. A. members will be held Friday, a four ball match being carded in the morning and approaching and putting in the afternoon.

Idlewild.

Bert W. Marx, after a lapse of three years, regained the championship at Idlewild, defeating Young Johnny Jones, 6 and 5. W. Taussig won the consolation event from H. Oppenheimer, 3 and 2. Fifty-four couples competed in the leap year foursome, Mrs. T. Warden and H. Oppenheimer winning with 101—14—87. A. Kunstadter won the handicap for class A with a card of 88—11—77. F. B. Silver and H. Felsenthal tied at 74 net in class B.

Exmoor.

Results in the first round for the club championship at Exmoor were: W. E. Egan defeated T. Wattle, 4 and 2; T. Waller defeated E. Tyner, 3 and 2; H. L. Glidden defeated C. G. Alexander, 2 up; B. L. Eldredge defeated J. H. Coulter, 1 up; T. B. Brown won from B. D. Butler by default; L. F. Gordon won from W. V. O'Brien by default; R. C. Vilas defeated J. F. L. Curtis, 3 and 2; W. B. Egan won from H. Thomas by default.

George Lytton won the Holiday cup with rounds of 89—81—70 and 91—19—72. Charles Hermann took the Old Sports Mug with cards of 93—22—70 and 93—23—71. F. T. Bentley won the Lorna Doone cup with 97—26—71, R. C. Dodge being second with 100—26—74.

Edgewood.

R. A. Gates finished first in the handicap at Edgewood, 95—27—68, F. H. Bradford being second with 94—25—69. A. W. McLean, 45—15—30, won the choice score handicap, Dr. Richardson, 48—17—31, being second. Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Freeman, 88—22—34, won the mixed foursome, Miss and Frank De Witt being second, 50—16—40. Mrs. W. Hastings won the women's putting event and Frank De Witt the men's approaching.

Onwentsia.

W. B. Clow Jr. won the Byron L. Smith memorial trophy at Onwentsia. Rounds of 92 and 79 enabled him to finish 3 down to par. He had a handicap of 6, and just nosed out J. Hamline [28], who finished 4 down. Hamline won the Labor day handicap after a tie with J. C. Hindson, each having cards of 88—15—73. Leeds Mitchell, 90—23—76; Frank Hibbard, 90—14—76, and F. G. Logan, 109—27—76, tied for third place.

Ridge.

The annual rallbird event at Ridge went to Paul Peters with a low gross of 90. H. A. Mix taking low net with 89½. M. J. Brandfield had low gross in the morning handicap with 94. R. Whitely taking low net with 79. In the afternoon low gross went to G. W. Oliver, with 80. C. H. Bull taking low net with 69. Low net for thirty-six holes went to George Lawrence with a total of 134.

The cards: Campbell, 92—18—74; Babson, 102—28—74. A. T. Hellyer won the nine hole match versus bogey, 5 up. In the mixed foursome Mr. and Mrs. H. Templeton won, 53—11—42. Mr. H. Belding and Miss Guthrie won second prize, 56—12—44. A. E. Scoville won the flag contest.

Aitken Breaks Resta Spell in Cincinnati Motor Race

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—The spell of Dario Resta, winner of the 300 mile motor derbies at Indianapolis and Chicago this season, has been broken.

The wicked witch of the gasoline circuit, whose broomstick is a Peugeot, tumbled from the skies of profitable supremacy here this afternoon when Johnny Aitken took first honors in the inaugural race held on the Cincinnati speedway.

The winner's time for 300 miles was 3:05:27.2, and his average was 97.06 miles per hour. He drove one of the two French Peugeots owned by the Indianapolis speedway barons. Aitken went to the front at the completion of the one hundred and eighty-sixth mile and never was headed thereafter.

Engine Trouble Stops Resta.

Resta, the favorite by virtue of triumphant past performances, was the pacemaker for half the distance, receiving $500 for showing the way to the field at the end of the first century. After putting 168 miles behind him, however, he was forced to relinquish the lead to Aitken and six miles from the finish, when running in third place, quit the chase because of engine trouble.

Wilbur D'Alene, pilot of the Duesenberg, was the second driver to get the checkered flag. He was three laps behind the winner. Frank Galvin, at the wheel of a Sunbeam, finished third.

Gil Anderson Injured.

One accident marred the afternoon of spectacular sport. On the same lap that Aitken took the lead Gil Anderson's Stutz skidded and crashed through the fence. The car turned turtle and the 1915 speedway champion was seriously injured. His way champion was seriously injured.

Anderson, unconscious when picked up, was rushed to the field hospital. He received a broken leg and a broken shoulder blade. His physicians were preparing to take an X-ray photograph tonight to see if he is internally injured. Mechanician Shields' spinal cord was injured and he was otherwise injured internally. Both men are at the Bethesda hospital. Little hope is entertained of Shields' recovery.

Ralph De Palma, another favorite of the crowd among the twenty-eight starters, completed only seven laps, his Mercedes breaking a connecting rod early in the contest. Christiaens, the Belgian, also ran afoul of hard luck, his Sunbeam burning out a clutch on the fortieth mile.

Aitken's Prize Money $13,000.

Aitken's victory netted him $13,000 in prize money. He received $12,000 for winning and $1,000 for being in the lead at the end of 200 and 250 miles.

A scare was thrown into the promoters when Scott Holloway, a saloonkeeper at Remington, O., telephoned that he had overheard a plan to hold up the box office at the track. Under guard of five deputy sheriffs, the gate receipts were taken to a Cincinnati bank on a special train.

ORDER OF FINISH

John D. Aitken (Peugeot)	$13,000
Wilbur De Alene (Duesenberg)	6,000
Frank Galvin (Sunbeam)	3,000
George Bunzane (Duesenberg)	1,800
Art Klein (Crawford)	1,300
C. J. Devlin (Duesenberg Special)	1,200
O. E. Haibe (Kleinart)	1,100

FORD RACES CALLED OFF

It rained yesterday morning and the gray skies threatened to repeat in the afternoon. Not wishing to be instrumental in the damaging of property, the management of the Chicago speedway called off the five races for frolicsome Fords.

The postponed meet will be staged Sunday afternoon.

R. N. WILLIAMS PLAYS JOHNSTON IN TENNIS FINAL

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The championship match in the 1916 national tennis singles will be fought out here today between masters of the west and east, as the result of semi-finals play yesterday. William M. Johnston of San Francisco will endeavor to retain the national championship he won last year. His opponent will be R. Norris Williams II. of Philadelphia, who captured the title in 1914.

Johnston and Williams, sole survivors of 128 players who entered the tournament a week ago, won their places by defeating respectively Clarence J. Griffin of San Francisco and R. Lindley Murray of new York. Williams eliminated Griffin, 6—3, 6—3, 6—3, and Johnston checked Murray's flight, 6—2, 6—3, 6—1.

Victors Show Great Control.

In neither case was the victor severely pressed and the two matches consumed less than two hours. The winners gave remarkable exhibitions of steady tennis, which was remarkable in view of the weather. A high, dusty wind at times resembling a gale, blew across the courts all afternoon, whipping some of the canvas grandstand covering away.

A gallery of more than 10,000 applauded every shot, and besought the losers to lift their games. Former President Roosevelt was an interested spectator.

Williams in Slower Play.

Less speed and accuracy was displayed in the Williams-Griffin contest, and although the Philadelphian was always superior to the Pacific coast star, he was not as certain as Johnston. Williams easily outplaced Griffin in volleys and had a much harder service. With his well known tendency to play the sides lines and corners, Williams netted and outed far more frequently than Johnston.

The national junior singles championship was decided. Harold A. Throckmorton of Elizabeth, N. J., winner of the middle states junior championship, defeating Roland Roberts of San Francisco, the Pacific titleholder, in a hard match, 7—5, 6—4, 6—4. The contest was filled with sharp rallies and stroking of the ball which brought much applause. Summaries:

ployed in THE TRIBUNE rotagravure department, and second to N. P. Quirk, both of the Northwest Skating club, yesterday. Both leaders were unknowns before yesterday's event, but struck out at a grueling pace from the start and rapidly passed rivals with bigger time allowances in the handicap race. At the finish Henry led the field by almost a quarter of a mile.

Willie Keil, Mystic A. C.; C. Vanderpaelt, Belgian-American A. C., and C. Struckel, unattached, the two former stars in the local velodrome season, were riding bunched when struck by an auto at Burr Oak avenue, Blue Island. The machines of all three were broken and each of the trio was hurt by his spill and cut by pieces of flying glass, but after being treated all were able to return home.

MISS HARRIS M. TAKES FEATURE AT CHARTER OAK

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 4.—The opening day of the grand circuit meeting at Charter Oak Brought out small fields, and the time was unusually slow. In the 2:08 pace, the feature event, only three horses started—Miss Harris M., J. L. Mc., and Billy Dale. The first heat was won by Miss Harris M. in the slow time of 2:15¼, and the judges called the drivers—McDonald, Murphy, and Cox—to the stand. The next two heats were much faster and more in keeping with the class of the race. Miss Harris M. took the race in straight heats. Summaries:

GRAIN MARKETS REMAIN CLOSED OVER LABOR DAY

Winnipeg Exchange Is Also Closed—Rail Strike Recall Will Help Wheat Trade.

Labor day was observed by all grain exchanges of the country yesterday, and the Winnipeg market was also closed.

Calling off of the railroad strike removes at least one of the influences that have served to depress the wheat market of late, and normal conditions again will prevail in the shipping trade. The shortage of cars continues to worry shippers, however, and under the press of business no great relief in this direction can be expected. The shortage from Chicago east is more pronounced, however, than from western points to the gulf ports, and much wheat of late has been taking the latter route.

The export demand is large, particularly for the hard winter, which is urgently wanted by northwest and southwest millers. That there will be little good quality spring wheat this season is established, and supplies of the old Canadian crop are dwindling fast.

Winnipeg Receipts Fall Off.

Receipts at Winnipeg have been falling off steadily and are now running below those of a year ago, while the movement in our northwest also is diminishing. The winter wheat movement from Kansas and Nebraska is still liberal, though other sections of the belt are not offering freely. The cash wheat situation was never stronger, as witnessed by the extravagant premiums prevailing.

Naturally, the war developments in Europe will have much effect on the markets, particularly the movements in the Balkans and relating to Turkey and the Dardanelles. For the time being there will be a tendency to go slow in accumulating long lines of wheat, although a continued big export business could do a great deal toward offsetting the fear of having Russian wheat released. Foreign buyers are not much inclined to wait for Russian wheat, realizing that it would take some time to get material shipments, even were the Dardanelles reopened at an early date.

Export Demand for Corn.

The export demand for corn continues to be of considerable volume, but the scarcity of cars and lack of available quantities are keeping down sales. Stocks are moderate and the cash situation is firm. The Argentine surplus is not large and Europe is looking to this country for supplies. The government crop report this week is expected to confirm serious damage to the crop in the southwest. Over the balance of the belt the corn is spotted, with prospects in Iowa apparently better than elsewhere. Reports from downstate points of late have not been so favorable, close examination of the fields showing a large percentage of nubbins and poorly filled ears.

Oats are being helped by a big export demand, this offsetting the big stocks and liberal movement. The feeding demand is expected to be heavy this season because of the many burned out pastures, and there has been good investment buying on the theory that oats are low in price compared with wheat and corn.

Live stock receipts at Chicago yesterday were estimated at 6,000 cattle, 14,000 hogs, and 6,000 sheep. The light supply was attributable to the holiday, which was observed by the suspension of all killing operations in packing plants, and last week's unsettled railroad situation, when railroads refused to accept consignments of live stock.

Eastern shippers were aggressive bidders for the offerings, but local packers' representatives evidenced little interest. Hog prices were advanced 10@15c and a top of $11.30 was made.

Beef cattle good enough to meet the requirements of eastern shippers found a prompt outlet at strong prices, but less desirable offerings, dependent on local support, cleared slowly at barely steady figures.

Sheep and lambs sold mostly 10@15c higher than at the close last week, with the disappointing receipts the chief incentive for the upturn.

Sullivan has been promoted to the vacancy at Minneapolis and will be succeeded by George D. Richards as commercial freight agent at Milwaukee.

The changes are effective at once.

REVENUE BILL WINS IN SENATE; 7 HOSTILE VOTES

Underwood Fails in Final Attack on "Change of Principles" by Democrats.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—[Special.]—The insurgent movement, led by Senator Underwood of Alabama, against the Democratic caucus agreement on the emergency revenue bill was defeated decisively this afternoon, when the senate voted, 43 to 7, to sustain the finance committee's amendment to the dyestuffs tariff.

"Regular" Democrats and all the Republicans united in rolling up the overwhelming majority against the revolt. The seven senators, all Democrats, voting against the committee amendment, were Bankhead of Alabama, Bryan of Florida, Lane of Oregon, Reed of Missouri, Underwood of Alabama, Overman of North Carolina, and Vardaman of Mississippi.

Underwood in Final Attack.

The vote was preceded by a vigorous assault by Senator Underwood against the dyestuffs tariff, which he denounced as contrary to Democratic principles. Senators Hughes of New Jersey and Stone of Missouri defended the proposed tariff in order to build up American competition to German dyestuffs after the war.

"The people of the United States," said Senator Underwood, "repudiated the Republican party in 1910 and sent a Democratic house here, and you on the Republican side of this chamber know the reason why they did it. It was because you promised a revision of the tariff downward in 1908. But what did you do? You revised it upward, instead, and increased the burden of taxation on the people. Have you forgotten the lesson taught you then? If no one else reminds the people of that fact, I shall do so.

Surrender of Principles.

"When my Democratic colleagues wrote this dyestuffs schedule they burned their bridges behind them. I do not believe they did it because they believed in it as a principle, but because they were yielding to temporary pressure. Any party which surrenders fundamental principles to the exigencies of the hour is courting defeat.

"This schedule deliberately proposes to give special interests between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 a year. You will not have any revenue from the dyestuffs schedule after it passes. The present law was raising $2,000,000 annually from that schedule before the war. Even Republicans are saying they would write a tariff law which would bring in revenue at the custom house and relieve the people of internal taxation, but this schedule will not raise revenue. Compared with it, schedule K of the Payne-Aldrich act must blush with shame."

VINEGAR MOONSHINER FREE.

Earl Chandler Cuts His Six Months' Bridewell Sentence Down to One.

Earl Chandler's "moonshine vinegar" didn't suit Uncle Sam's pure food laws. Its ancestors smelled to much of acid and not enough of pure apple cider, so six months ago Chandler was sent to the bridewell under federal sentence to serve his term. He was given six months and a fine of $500.

For good behavior a month was taken off the six months' sentence, and by invoking the "pauper's clause" he was allowed to work out the fine in a month.

Yesterday he was brought before United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote and released.

Horse Wants Fruit; Bites Boy.

Morris Goldstein, 7 years old, 1625 Hastings street, was severely bitten on the back yesterday by a horse at Fourteenth and Dearborn streets. He was walking and eating fruit, when the horse snapped at the boy. The boy turned to run and the horse bit him.

WITH OUTSTRETCHED HAND, HOBO GETS TO CANDIDATES,

Representative Igoe Obliged to Come Across After Responding to Effusive Greeting of Stranger.

"Candidates, keep your eyes peeled for an enterprising hobo. He drifted into Chicago to make politicians his meat, and he got me, and he'll get you, too, if you don't watch out."

This is the advice of Michael L. Igoe, Democratic candidate for reelection to the state legislature from the Fifth district.

He was walking down the street yesterday when out of the corner of his eye he saw a man stretching out his hand in greeting. Instinctively out went the candidate's hand.

"And before I could bat an eye this beggar had me cornered over against the building and was asking for the price of a supper, and I had to give him the money.'

SIXTEEN BITTEN BY DOGS.

Sixteen persons, thirteen of them children, were bitten by dogs during the forty-eight hours ending at noon yesterday, according to reports to the police.

Utah Light and Power.

C., Arcola, Ill.—The Utah Light and Power company has outstanding $3,000,000 of first preferred stock, $7,837,000 second preferred, and $30,000,000 common. There are also $17,500,000 of first mortgage bonds on which interest is earned more than twice and the last balance sheet showed $4,614,939 of notes, practically all of which were held by the Utah Securities company, which owns the common stock. The surplus after interest charges in 1915 was $864,886, which covers the first preferred dividend four times. The second preferred dividend was covered with only a narrow margin of safety.

Giant Truck Wheel.

J. L. H., Evanston, Ill.—The Giant Truck Wheel corporation's circulars set forth that it is selling $250,000 of preferred stock and $750,000 common to finance the building of a $100,000 plant and furnish working capital for the manufacture of a patent wheel for auto trucks. Earnings will depend on the merits of the wheel and in the business ability of the management. Until the company does earn dividends, of course, the stock will be a speculation rather than an investment. Requests for official information have been ignored.

Selling Oil and Sulphur Lots.

G. M. H.—The plan of first selling lots and then having the lot owners organize a company is used with numerous variations to promote the sale of oil stocks. Several companies which own lands near the Union Sulphur mine are selling lots in a similar way. Al the tal kabout deeds to lots tends to cover up the fact that the undertaking is highly speculative. The various states have laws to protect minority stockholders. It is doubtful if the ownership of a lot will give a stockholder any extra security against loss.

Woods Mobilette.

M. W., Chicago Heights—A circular recently issued by the Woods Mobilette company presented a balance sheet bearing date Aug. 31, 1915. This showed $1,436,722 of stock outstanding and $82,591 of debts. Tangible assets were listed at $183,998. This figures out at about 7 cents of net tangible assets for every dollar of stock. No later balance sheet is available.

Indiana National Life.

M. M. C., Veedersburg, Ind.—The Indiana National Life company has been selling stock eleven years and writing insurance ten. It has sold a total of $493,400 of stock at prices to yield $299,817 of surplus. Some years ago $62,270 of stock was canceled and $19,785 of surplus, leaving the net amounts up to Dec. 31 last $431,130 of capital and $280,034 of surplus. Of this surplus about one-third had been paid out in dividends. In 1915 purchasers of stock paid $39,065 to surplus and the company paid out $28,286 in dividends to stockholders. Net surplus increased from $10,792 on Dec. 31, 1914, to $23,101 Dec. 31, 1915. Apparently $1,630 of the 1915 dividend was earned and $26,756 was paid out of surplus. The company has had a low death rate. Its cost of new business has been high, and because of a large investment in a home office building the average income on investments was under 4 per cent last year.

Blackwell Oil and Gas.

W. E. C., Saugatuck, Mich.—The Blackwell Oil and Gas company supplies natural gas to Blackwell and Braman, Okla., serving a population of 4,500. It has outstanding $210,000 of stock. In 1914 it earned $43,821 gross and $30,221 net. Interest was paid to the amount of $534 and dividends of 10 per cent, leaving $11,755 as surplus for the year. No later report is available. Natural gas will be exhausted at some time in the future and experience indicates that artificial gas plants are likely to be unsuccessful in small towns. This natural gas stock is therefore speculative.

Brief Answers.

W. J. D., Cleveland, O.—The Manhattan Life Insurance company has been in business since 1850. It had a steady, slow growth till about ten years ago. Since then there has been some decline. On Dec. 31 last there was $63,027,507 of insurance in force and $267,396 of surplus. Total assets were nearly $21,000,000. There is $100,000 of capital stock and very large dividends have been paid.

F. W. P.—The Fidelity Investment association of Wheeling, W. Va., is entitled, in the case of a lapsed contract, to retain enough money to pay the expense of making the contract and carrying it till the lapse occurred. If the agreement purports to entitle it to retain as "liquidated damages" all money paid in, this clause would be held invalid by the courts of most states.

E. F. W.—The Clyde Motor Truck company is a new promotion. It proposes to assemble one ton trucks and sell them at $1,000 each. Whether the undertaking will prove profitable or not cannot be predicted.

W. G., Savanna, Ill.—The Sapulpa Refining company is incorporated in Oklahoma, but controlled by Baltimore people. It paid its first monthly dividend on common stock last December, the rate being 1 per cent. The rate was increased to 1½ in February and to 2 in August.

To Conserve Your Estate:

A wise course is to appoint such an experienced and assuredly permanent institution as the Greenebaum Bank and Trust Company as executor and trustee of your estate.

It means the saving of money as well as time and trouble in the adminstration and distributi n of your estate.

This organization's experience in handling trust business is broad—its highly specialized service costs no more than the service of an individual.

An officer will be glad to confer with you. General Banking, too.

Metropolitan Water Board

(Of London, England, and Certain Adjoining Districts)

One Year Discount Gold Notes

To be dated September 18, 1916. Due September 18, 1917.

Denominations: $5,000 and $10,000.

Payable in New York City at the Guaranty Trust Company of New York in gold dollars of the United States of America of the present standard of weight and fineness.

The Metropolitan Water Board is the official authority constituted by Acts of Parliament operating the public water works supplying the Metropolitan District of London. This district comprises over five hundred square miles and includes the entire County of London and parts of five adjoining counties—Essex, Hertford, Kent, Middlesex and Surrey. The total population served is estimated at 6,700,000.

In the opinion of counsel these notes are valid and binding obligations of the Metropolitan Water Board, and are exempt from British taxation, present or future, if held by Americans or Canadians residing in the United States or Canada.

Price Six Per Cent. Per Annum Discount

CAMELFORD SALES COMPANY

(Illinois Corporation)

Organized for the purpose of marketing nationally a device known as the CAMELFORD, used in converting a FORD into a one-ton commercial truck. The device has a big sale NOW and the immediate universal demand for it makes it an assured fact that a tremendous number will be sold. It is all that is practical to convert a FORD into a truck and does the work for $40.00 of other devices costing from $115.00 to $350.00. THIS IS A BIG, QUICK money maker, a right now proposition. A limited amount of stock for sale today. (Provision has been made for a sinking fund to be created by setting aside a definite sum from the sale of every Camelford for the purpose of retiring the Preferred Stock at $105 per share.) Come in and let us tell you about it, or write us. 1110 Otis Bldg., 10 South La Salle St. Telephone Franklin 4625.

Notice: The paper in which you read this advertisement was probably delivered by one of the five Chicago Tribune delivery trucks equipped with the Camelford device.

THIS IS MORE ABOUT

Midlothian Gardens.

Things have been happening there. Lots have been purchased and houses are being built. The community plan is now a reality. The co-operative store is open and doing business. One of the men who answered our ad was a careful man, who trusted in his own good judgment. He answered other ads. He visited our property and other property. We told him our land was perfectly drained by an underground tile system. He took a spade and dug down and saw the tile. He went to the catch basin, raised the cover, and saw that the drainage system was working. We told him that for three years our soil had been managed to secure high fertility. He took samples of it and of other property and sent them to the State Department of Agriculture to determine which was best. The answer was in our favor. He saw shade trees growing, rolled crushed stone sidewalks made, and streets laid out, saw the park of 5 acres and the clubhouse for the use of the community. He saw the co-operative store, where he can buy his supplies at wholesale prices and market his surplus products. He concluded that Midlothian Gardens offered good location, good transportation, good soil, refined environment, ready markets, and future values. He made the same searching investigation of other properties, and then purchased 8 of our lots, each and is now building his home, where he can live in the country and during spare hours produce fruits, flowers, vegetables, eggs, and poultry, and have them marketed. Five other men are also building. Trust your own good judgment. Investigate and satisfy yourself that the value you get cannot be duplicated elsewhere. The prices and terms are reasonable. MIDLOTHIAN GARDENS is on the Rock Island R. R., only 40 min. to the loop. The fare on a monthly ticket is 10 cents.

Saving the Public $37,500 a Day

In his 98 Pure Food Restaurants

Thompson is feeding 150,000 people every day, and saving them anywhere from 20c to $1.50 on every meal, as compared with what the same quality of food would cost in the average restaurant, hotel or cafe. Figure the average saving at only 25c and you have a total of $37,500 a day, or $11,700,000 A YEAR.

He saves the American public enough every year to pay for 234,000 tailor made suits of clothes at $50 each. He saves them enough to pay for nearly two million pairs of shoes at $6.00 each. He saves them enough to pay for 11,700 automobiles at $1,000 each.

If Thompson made this tremendous saving for the public by serving cheap food, it wouldn't count. If he made it by serving butterine, adulterated foods or substitutes, it wouldn't count. If he made it by sacrificing cleanliness or sanitation or your comfort or your *time, IT WOULDN'T COUNT.

But instead of doing any of those things Thompson gives you the best and purest food that money can buy on the surface of the globe at the same time that he saves you this $11,700,000 a year.

He gives you as choice meats and vegetables and fruits and pastries as you can find in any of the gilded grills. And he serves them to you in spotless, sanitary, Pure Food palaces of white tile and glistening marble that represent the highest type of restaurant design and construction.

In spite of all the advance in prices on almost every commodity that is bought and sold—in spite of all the high cost of living you read so much about—in spite of the increased cost of groceries and foodstuffs that every housewife knows only too well—Thompson is still serving the choicest food in the world at five and ten cents an order, and serving it in the most sanitary and attractive restaurants that have ever been built.
